(From BUP and AP Dispatches)

A skillful pilot and alert rescue crews teamed up today to save 31 persons aboard an airliner who faced death for more than four hours.

TUNNEL UNION PULLS PICKETS AT LADORE

Rock and Tunnel Workers' Union today withdrew its pickets from Upper Campbell Lake and Ladore Falls projects of the B.C. Power Commission, and several hundred other tradesmen returned to work.

Union officials said, however, that union members were not at work, and that the strike started a month ago is still on.

A meeting will be held in Vancouver Wednesday to try to effect a settlement of the inter-union squabble.

If B.C. Power Commission can persuade the rock and tunnel men to complete a small amount of grouting in the Ladore tunnel, the Ladore generating plant can start operating at 35,000 horsepower capacity by Nov. 30. Eventually the plant will produce 70,000 horsepower.

Contributing factors in the union decision to remove the picket line likely were court decisions handed down in Vancouver Monday, and a union rally in Campbell River Monday night when the workers were advised to return to the International Hod Carriers' Union.

Red China Boss Reported Split With Krushchev

PARIS (AP)—A correspondent for France-Soir quotes a "good source" today as saying Chinese Communist boss Mao Tse-tung has split with Nikita Khrushchev on the desirability of Soviet leadership of world communism.

Coming out against Moscow control of satellite nations, Mao "gave formal encouragement to Polish Communists to obtain greater independence vis-a-vis the Kremlin," the newspaper says in a dispatch from Warsaw.

"This sensational move by Mao Tse-tung," it says, "took place in the course of a long conversation which he had at Peiping with Edward Ochab, first secretary of the Polish Workers' Communist Party, who had come to China to attend the last congress of the Chinese Communist Party."

This talk with Ochab provoked such surprise at Peiping, the story says, that A. I. Mikoyan, Soviet "fraternal delegate" to the congress, hurried home with the news.

"The Mao-Ochab dialogue took place at the same time Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia was conferring in the Crimea with Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders on the course of international communism."

"It is said that Mao told Ochab he disapproved the recent effort of Moscow to impose again its sole and dominant influence on the other Communist parties," the story continues. "Mao is thought to have declared to Ochab that the Poles should follow absolutely the search for an autonomous internal policy and develop their own social system as Yugoslavia had done."

Trials Court Thursday
CAIRO (UP)—Four Britons arrested for spying more than a month ago will make their first appearance in court Thursday, Egyptian authorities announced today.

The tense drama was played out in the Pacific Ocean when a Pan-American Airways strato-clipper developed engine trouble at a point of no return.

The plane was mid-way between San Francisco and Honolulu when it radioed that two of its four engines were failing. The message said there was no other choice but to ditch in the Pacific, so the plane circled until daylight and started to dump fuel.

The plane's pilot, Captain Richard Ogg, spotted the U.S. Coast Guard weather cutter Ponchartrain and circled it for about four hours. When the weather grew more favorable, Ogg eased the big plane down and ditched it.

TWO ENGINES OUT

By that time one engine had given out completely and another was whirling wildly out of control.

The plane hit three-foot waves tail first and broke in half. But all aboard were rescued and are in good condition.

They were taken aboard the Ponchartrain from life rafts within 21 minutes after the Boeing-built airliner hit the water.

The cutter is stationed permanently in the area. The plane ditched alongside. The cutter's crew had four boats over the side by the time the plane hit.

The aircraft remained afloat long enough for the plane crew of seven to launch two lifeboats and to transfer the 24 passengers (15 men, six women and three children) to the lifeboats.

PILOT PRAISED

Col. Clarence M. Young, vice-president of Pan American World Airways, praised Ogg for staying over the Coast Guard weather ship when his engines failed.

"The captain had the decision to make as to whether to continue toward San Francisco on two engines, with the possibility of having to land in the water before arrival," Young said in a statement.

"His decision to remain in the vicinity of the Coast Guard ship was obviously a wise one."

LONDON (AP)—More than 100 planes, an aircraft carrier and dozens of other ships fanned out over the Atlantic today in a "last chance" search for a U.S. military transport that vanished six days ago. But hope was practically abandoned of finding any survivors among the 59 servicemen aboard.

The U.S. Air Force said the search force will be reduced to a token group by tonight. A communiqué said:

"Third Air Force authorities and the 9th Air Rescue Group, which has been in immediate control of the search, believe that a large-scale general search is no longer practicable."

PRINCESS SMILES FOR TOWNSEND— NO, NOT PETER!

ARUSHA, Tanganyika (Reuters)—Princess Margaret today flashed a brilliant smile at her first meeting with a British district commissioner named Francis Townsend.

Francis Townsend, brother of her rejected suitor, Group Capt. Peter Townsend, met Margaret at a Baraza tribal meeting of 40,000 fierce Masai warriors.

As Townsend stepped to the dais to shake her hand, Margaret looked him full in the eyes and smiled warmly. And when the Baraza was over, the princess looked back from her car in Townsend's direction.

Two Sites Now Studied For New Joint City Hall

Orphanage Site, Topaz Favored

By PETE LOUDON, City Hall Reporter

Two north-central Victoria sites are being considered for erection of the proposed $2,000,000 Victoria-Saanich joint municipal hall—the site of the Protestant Orphanage and Topaz Park.

Both suggestions will receive further study by a joint committee of the two municipal councils which met today at City Hall.

Capital Region Planning Board officials are co-operating in the site studies.

The committee, headed by Alderman W. F. Pinfold, today ruled out several other suggested sites which were located in the downtown area.

The committee, headed by Alderman W. F. Pinfold, today ruled out several other suggested sites which were located in the downtown area.

Chief among these was the old Christ Church Cathedral site, roughly bounded by Quadra, Burdett, Blanshard and Broughton. Several years ago, during the term of office of former mayor, Percy George, the provincial government was holding its lands in this area for the city, and would transfer them for City Hall purposes for a nominal fee.

Capital Region Planning Board had suggested the Topaz Park site and the old Cathedral site, leaning slightly toward the latter. Final decision and recommendation was to have come from a special CRPB meeting Wednesday.

'Most Central'

The Orphanage site was suggested by Ald. Robert Macmillan. He said it was most central of all possible sites in Greater Victoria, "and in time this will be an integrated area."

"At the top of Hillside and Cook, it is in a direct line to Oak Bay and Esquimalt, close to Saanich and in the geographical centre on very high ground. The Orphanage property is almost ideal. It is no longer an orphanage but a paid proposition for children of broken homes rather than for orphans."

The committee was informed that whereas the suggested hall would require at least four acres to build on and landscape, there are 11 acres in the orphanage site. Value is about $9,000 an acre.

Five-Storey

It was not determined whether acquisition of the Orphanage site would require demolishing the present buildings. That will be studied by the CRPB to determine if the rocky nature of the hilltop would permit room enough for the proposed hall and a parking area sufficient to hold one car for each employee.

An earlier report by the planning group suggested the new hall should be a five-storey building. One wing has been envisioned for each municipality.

While apparently favoring the Orphanage site, the committee stressed it will give further study to the Topaz Park site.

Eden Flies To Paris New Talks On Suez

(From Reuters and UP Wires)

PARIS (AP)—The British prime minister and foreign minister, Sir Anthony Eden and Selwyn Lloyd, arrived here by air from London tonight for talks with French leaders on the next step in the Suez Canal crisis.

Announcing the unexpected visit, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau told the National Assembly: "These Anglo-French talks will be of capital importance."

"We have not yet finished playing our hand. We shall see who wins this game when the rubber is over."

OTHER PROBLEMS

Pineau said the talks would also examine other Middle East problems, "which are of course related to the Suez Canal situation, including the situation in Israel, Jordan and Iraq."

Pineau added: "We intend that the rights of Israel shall be maintained as much as the rights of anybody else."

Eden told reporters at the airport: "The object of our journey is to discuss the common policy of our two countries in the question of the Suez Canal following on the meeting of the Security Council."

It was learned that the statesmen will consider the advisability of sending a test convoy, including an Israeli ship, through the canal in the near future.

SHEPILOV THERE

Earlier Pineau and Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov opened a new series of talks on the Suez dispute here today.

The atmosphere was cleared somewhat by a statement in Moscow by Soviet Vice-Premier Anastas Mikoyan upholding Israel's position on the Suez and by an optimistic editorial in Pravda, the official Soviet Communist party newspaper.

The Pineau-Shepilov talks coincided with the opening of debate on the Suez crisis today by the French National Assembly.

Mikoyan told newsmen in Moscow Monday night that all nations, including blockaded Israel, must have equal rights to passage through Egypt's nationalized Suez Canal.

Orphanage built in 1893 is being considered for new joint municipal hall site.

Bonner Says PGE Extension Ready in '57

EDMONTON (CP)—Northern extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Prince George to the Fort St. John area should be completed by the end of 1957, depending on suitable weather and other factors, Attorney-General R. W. Bonner of British Columbia said in an interview today.

Mr. Bonner is here attending the sessions of the national executive of the Social Credit Association of Canada. With him are Noel Murphy of Vancouver, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, and W. J. Smith, of Kamloops, a member of the provincial executive.

"Work on the entire right of way from Prince George to Dawson Creek and Fort St. John is in progress," Mr. Bonner said. "If the weather is as good next year for railway work as it has been this year, the northern extension should be finished by the end of 1957."

Officer Shot By His Own Nightstick

WASHINGTON (AP)—A policeman shot himself in the leg Monday with his night stick.

"A very peculiar accident," said Deputy Chief George R. Wallrodt.

Constable James J. Cassidy said he had five .38-calibre pistol bullets in his pocket.

He had a "claw"—a steel device for holding prisoners—in the pocket.

He twirled his night stick. The stick hit the claw.

Ike Given Edge Over Adlai In U.S. 'Bellwether' Poll

(See Also Page 7)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Political soundings from five of six "bellwether" counties indicate a re-election victory for President Eisenhower.

These six are among eight counties, scattered across the U.S., which have voted for the winner in every presidential election for more than 50 years, most of them since William McKinley was elected president in 1896.

In one county a close vote was predicted, and three out of five newspaper editors and political leaders interviewed there forecast that Democrat Adlai Stevenson would carry it. No pulse-taking was done in the other two counties.

A close vote was predicted on one of the other counties and a smaller margin of victory for Eisenhower was forecast in the other two counties.

This was the consensus of estimates made by newspaper editors and correspondents in response to an Associated Press inquiry. A similar survey in 1952 resulted in a misfire in one county. Then the "bellwethers" numbered 11. Three fell by the wayside when they went for Stevenson against the national trend. In the 1952 survey, they had been tabbed as likely to go for Stevenson.

No sampling was undertaken this year in the two Iowa counties, where voters were reported reluctant to speak out.

NEW YORK TIMES PLUMPS FOR IKE AS PRESIDENT

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times today announced its support of President Eisenhower for re-election. The Times, which supported him originally in 1952, lists itself politically as independent.

In a three-column editorial The Times finds much in common between Eisenhower and Democratic candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, and has criticism for both.

"In the area of many fundamental matters... the approach of both these men is to conciliate rather than coerce, to clarify rather than confuse, to unify rather than disrupt," The Times says.

On the subject of Vice-President Nixon, The Times says: "Mr. Nixon's career has certainly not revealed much evidence of deeply-rooted and consistently-held principles. Party strategy, rather than party policy, has been Mr. Nixon's chief concern."

OL' VIC SAYS:

They'd certainly be a new twist, puttin' th' city fathers in an orphanage.

Eden's must be thinkin' the Suez Canal is Dulles ditch-water.

Stoppin' th' H-bomb tests will be quite a test of intelligence, too.

Jordan Receiving Arms From Syria

GJE (AP)—A report that Iraq troops will not move into Jordan yet tended today to relax tension on both sides of the Israeli-Jordan border.

But Syria announced she is sending in a gift of heavy weapons to help in the defence of Jordan's frontier with Israel.

Syria's military attaché in Amman, the Jordanian capital, told a press conference that a military mission from his country accompanied the weapons to train the Jordanians to use them. He said more arms consignment from Syria will reach Jordan later this month and early in November.

Syrian ambassador Fouad Kadamani said the arms shipment began moving into Jordan after midnight and was still coming this morning. He called the weapons an unconditional gift from the Syrian people to help defend Jordan's borders, which he termed the first Arab line of defence against Israeli attacks.

The decision to hold off on the planned reinforcement of Jordan's army by 3,000 Iraqi troops was reported by the Amman newspaper Al Jihad. It helped clear the atmosphere in Amman, where war fears mounted after Israeli premier David Ben-Gurion warned his government reserved its right of freedom of action if the Iraqis crossed into the neighboring Arab kingdom.

A Jordan government spokesman said King Hussein and Iraqi Crown Prince Abdul Illah, in talks in Amman which ended today, agreed the Iraqi troops would be stationed just outside Jordan's borders, ready to move in immediately if Jordan asked for help in an emergency.

Oak Bay Calls Vote on Milk

Group Favoring Raw Milk Sale Wins Promise at Council Meeting

A referendum will be held in Oak Bay at the December municipal elections on whether sale of raw milk should be allowed in the municipality.

Decision to go to the electorate for an opinion on the question was made by Oak Bay Council after a lively meeting with a group of about 100 ratepayers Monday night.

Many of the group objected strongly to the council's stand against raw milk sale.

They were led by T. W. L. Mutch, 2044 Beach, who hotly objected to Reeve Fred Norris' ruling on council policy permitting only one spokesman—Mr. Mutch—to address council.

Council then voted to adjourn, turning the hearing into a public meeting. Except by special consent, no member of the public is allowed to speak at a council meeting.

In his brief, Mr. Mutch said it was with "dismay, consternation and amazement" that he read of council's refusal to pass a by-law which would have made raw milk sale in Oak Bay legal.

He contended council had agreed to pass such a by-law, then reversed its decision after a submission made by Mr. Mutch earlier in the summer and after hearing advice of the medical health officer Dr. Neil Stewart.

Objecting to this, the reeve said council had introduced the by-law, but it had been defeated during the normal course of readings.

Mr. Mutch referred to the Clyde report on milk and the noted high standard of Vancouver Island dairies. Other municipalities on the Island did not "panic," he said.

Only V.I. Council to Take Freedom Away

"Oak Bay is the only council on Vancouver Island which has taken this freedom away"—the freedom of choice to buy either raw or pasteurized milk as municipal legislation would allow.

He said in 42 years of raw milk sales in Oak Bay, there had never been a case of disease attributed to milk.

The spokesman hoped users of raw milk will "fight to the last drop for it."

There had arisen "an intolerable situation which should not be allowed to exist in any civilized municipality," Mr. Mutch said.

Fitz-Roy George, 1589 Wilmut, addressed councillors, "If it entails changing someone's mind, then change it. I'm not pleading for a favor, I'm contending for a right."

Public Health Safeguard, Says Doctor

Dr. Stewart explained his "main reason in asking council to go along with a provincial statute banning raw milk sale was in the interests of public health. The point is, in this district disease can arise. Even pasteurization cannot eliminate all chance of disease."

He said in the past few weeks Oak Bay had had one case of typhoid fever, not due to milk, but for three weeks it went unrecognized, during which time it could have been spread by a dairy worker.

"This thing has not been passed over lightly," Coun. Charles H. G. Mann said. "Perhaps we made a mistake." But he added, "council believed it did the right thing."

He quoted the Clyde report as saying pasteurization throughout the province is necessary to wiping out diseases which thrive in milk. It also stated, he said, that anyone who wants to take the risk of drinking raw milk should not be deprived of it.

Majority of council, after considering all points, decided to accept the provincial legislation in the interests of public safety. He added council regretted the inconvenience to those residents who wish to purchase raw milk in Oak Bay, "but the welfare of the majority had to be our first consideration."

"Most of the council are of the opinion that if the question was referred to the electors... that they would favor the sale of pasteurized milk by a very substantial majority," the councillor said.

Mr. George challenged council to call a vote to determine just what the majority does want.

Coun. F. W. Hawes agreed a

SCHOOL SECRET

Le Chat Dehors Le Sac

By PETE LOUDON

A certain French language teacher who has been passing himself off to some Victoria grade five as a newly-arrived Parisian who couldn't speak English, may as well come clean.

Le chat dehors de sac.

A student assures us that means the cat is out of the bag.

This teacher launched an experimental French class with the junior graders (French used to be a high school course) with gestures and nasal noises. He made it clear if the kids were going to get credits they'd better learn to understand him because he couldn't dig them.

Turns out to be so much French mayonnaise. Douglas V. Parker, who is conducting 10 French classes for some 275 grade five pupils made a glowing report to Greater Victoria School Board Monday night.

"I am following two basic methods," he wrote the board. "In three of the four top classes I am conducting the class entirely in French, no English being used at all."

"I extended this method to other bright classes after it seemed to work very well at one class in Willows School."

"At the moment, the French-taught classes are making greater progress than the English-taught classes of an equivalent calibre."

"I have already carried out complete 20-minute periods entirely in French with everyone of the 10 classes to prove to myself it can be done, even with the slower groups."

Mr. Parker's report impressed the board and brought a report from municipal inspector John Gough regarding teaching of English to immigrant children here.

A special class at North Ward School cannot accept a number of newcomer children who should be enrolled, he stated. He says another class should be started.

Meantime, a 17-year-old French girl has been sent to Victoria High School to pick up what she can despite the fact she has no English.

Four youngsters from Holland have been placed in various elementary schools.

It was explained this is not a hardship because the teacher at the special North Ward class speaks only English and even there the youngsters must learn mostly on their own initiative.

One boy who in recent years attended the special language class was last year a scholarship winner at Victoria High School.

MUNICIPAL POOLING OF GRANTS ASKED

Centennial Committee Receives Suggestions to Mark Birthday

Greater Victoria Centennial Committee Monday withheld opinion on suggestions the 1958 provincial grants for capital works be spent either on a new Royal Jubilee Hospital wing or conversion of the Memorial Arena to a civic auditorium.

It was pointed out the committee at present has authority to expend money for celebrations.

The group will ask district councils to pass money by-laws transferring to the committee the 40-cent-per-capita Centennial grants when they are made early next year.

It will ask councils for authority to make recommendations on how the 60-cent-per-capita Centennial grant should be employed.

TWO GRANTS

The B.C. government has promised the two grants, the first for municipal pocket money for 1958 celebration; the second for a memorial project of lasting value and significance. Councils must match the second grant dollar for dollar in order to obtain it.

The 40-cent grant, according to City Manager C. C. Wyatt, is to be made to all municipalities, "whether or not a celebration is planned."

The Centennial Committee for this area, chaired by city alderman Geoffrey Edgelow, is awaiting the 40-cent grant before hiring an executive secretary.

It was estimated the administration costs would amount to $15,000 for the two-year period—about one-third of the estimated size of the celebrations grant.

Ald. Edgelow and Saanich councillor Ronald Grant were authorized to meet with the provincial Centennial Committee to determine what co-operation there could be on celebrations here by the government. It is hoped extra aid will be given the local committee.

Ald. Edgelow suggested the conversion of Memorial Arena to a combined arena-auditorium and the addition of a children's rink would be a worthy Centennial project for this area.

He was opposed by Coun. G. K. Sammon of Esquimalt, who felt the 60-cent grant should be diverted by all municipalities to construction of the long-awaited 118-bed wing.

It would cost $1,400,000, but federal and provincial grants and hospital board contributions would account for all but $325,000 of the cost.

If the Centennial grant were used for this purpose it would reduce the cost to municipalities by only $70,000.

"Which is the greater need?" asked Coun. Sammon. "... an auditorium or a hospital. There is no question in my mind; it is the hospital."

SHE WAS JOY OF 6,740 AT ARENA

Scotswoman, 78, Mystery Guest At Drama-Packed Kinsmen Bingo

By TONY DICKASON
"I did na hoo I stoo' up there," said a still surprised great-grandmother today.
The 78-year-old Scotswoman, Mrs. Jane Parks, was brought from Scotland, by air, to be the "mystery guest" at the huge Kinsmen Memorial Arena bingo Monday night.
She was the joy of 6,740 pairs of eyes.
Grey, rotund, and from "Glasgie," she was reunited with her daughter, Mrs. Jean M. Petrie, Happy Valley, before the crowd. Later, she met her son, William Murray, of Saseenos.
They hadn't seen each other for 31 years.

FREE HAIR-DO
"I'm ha'ing the time a' my life," she said, guest of the Kinsmen in the Empress. Today she'll have clothes purchased for her by the club, have her hair done, and see Victoria.

"We ha' na seagulls in Glasgie, but we ha' plenty o' pigeons," she accented, looking out the window at a fat, perched gull.
Not only did the Scots lady see her daughter and son, she also met seven grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren. They met on the arena's stage.

She read, clearly and enunciating delightfully, a news clipping concerning herself—without glasses.

Accents in Scotland, said the happy great-grandmother, all have "a wee tang o' their ain," depending on where one comes from.

ESCORTED BY PIPES
She was brought before the audience by emcee Jack Phillips, to the skirl of the Victoria Pipe Band.

Daughter, Mrs. Petrie, had not been let in on the secret. Hubby had known for a few hours, and the rest of the family knew Mrs. Parks was the mystery guest, but only for a couple of hours before. The secret was well kept.

Mrs. Petrie, who came to Canada in 1925, still has a pronounced Scots accent. Of last night's monumental event she said:

"The bingo counters, I dropped them! Then some stuck to my hands, I was so excited. Then my legs started to shake."

STILL DAZED
The happy pair today were still somewhat dazed by the whole affair.

Mrs. Parks missed her plane in Montreal.

"I didn't know where I should go, so I sat." She caught the next flight.

The lovely woman who has "been to Lunon in the plane afore" has lived all her life in Glasgow, and is "verra" much looking forward to seeing this area.
"They're awful busy on Clyde-side richt noo," she said.
Hubby, a "casual" worker, stayed home. "He's 77 and will retire any time noo."
She had a week's notice before boarding the plane for here. Mrs. Parks was chosen by a Kinsmen committee from among 3,500 applicants, who in "25 words or less" from ticket purchasers in the bingo told who they's best like to see in Victoria.

Last night Mrs. Parks was presented with a silver tea set.

Our Stake in Britain

BRITAIN'S PLAN TO CONSIDER and perhaps join a European free-trade area may appear to be remote from Canada. In fact, this huge project can have massive effects, good or bad, upon the whole Canadian economy—especially on the economy of British Columbia which sells largely in the British market.

Ever since the last war European statesmen have been working for a truly continental economy, an area of trade without tariffs in which goods would move freely from one country to another, each area could concentrate on its most efficient industries and, through the currents of commerce, the continent would be increasingly united.

Britain, which must be a key factor in any such scheme, has firmly refused to enter it. Successive British governments, while urging Europe to unite, have feared to commit Britain's commerce, its prosperity, its currency and its political freedom of action to any continental union.

Now the Eden Government announces that it is seriously considering a reversal of this policy. That announcement would not have been made if the Government had not already explored fully all the implications of the proposed European trade area and found them highly attractive. We are confronted in Canada, therefore, by the possibility of a drastic change in the currents of world trade and our own.

It is too early, however, to foresee the ultimate results of this bold scheme. They could be beneficial to Canada and the world at large if they resulted, as they should, in a more prosperous, more united and stronger Europe. It would not only be better able to resist the threat of Russian expansion but, with increased income, could increase its total imports from the world and from such leading exporters as Canada.

On the other hand, if the European nations, including Britain, are to remove the tariffs between themselves and then lock their markets behind high tariff walls against the world, their imports from abroad will decline. The British Government emphasizes that on no account will it place new tariffs or other restrictions on foodstuffs, like Canadian wheat, but Canada has other interests in the British and European market—British Columbia timber products, for example.

The first reaction among Canadians is to say that the European trading project cuts straight across the historic British preference system. Of course it does. But actually the British preference has become a pretty small and dwindling asset to Canada. We have certain tariff advantages in Britain, as Britain has in Canada, but they do not affect any large part of our export and import trade, which is largely concentrated within North America.

Some rather hysterical Canadian thinkers, like the editors of The Toronto Globe and Mail, have concluded that Canada must decide to join or not to join the new European trade zone, with incalculable results, economic and political. Of course there is no need for such a decision since we are not invited to join. We could not join, indeed, without disrupting our whole economy, largely excluding American imports, abandoning our huge American market and, in the process, wrecking our prosperity.

Canada cannot prevent and should not try to prevent any policy which will strengthen Britain and Europe. On the contrary, we should welcome it, even if, in the beginning, it cost us some loss of exports to the European markets. Few things are more important to Canada than prosperity and hence the stability of the old world.

But Canada, which has large influence in these matters as one of the world's chief traders, should do everything possible to dissuade its British and European friends from any scheme calculated to reduce the total current of world trade, to splinter the world market and further divide it between the dollar, the sterling and the ruble zones.

One thing is certain, by history, geography and necessity—Canada belongs to the dollar zone and cannot escape it.

A Glimpse of the Light

OF EVEN MORE SIGNIFICANCE than the light sentences given to the first batch of Poznan rioters on trial was the unprecedented freedom given to the defence lawyers and to reporters for both press and radio.

There were undefined but real limits, of course, as to how far the lawyers could go in attacking the Government. But for the Poles who crowd the courtroom each day the trials have been a revelation. It was known that the Government had been under some pressure to stage the usual form of communist trial, with Western saboteurs being blamed for the June 28 riots and prisoners confessing volubly to their guilt.

But it was decided, as part of the liberalization of the post-Stalin era, to follow orthodox methods. The results have been spectacular, to the point where the Warsaw Government is said to have been sharply ticked off by Moscow for letting the proceedings get out of hand.

In court, the defence lawyers have seemed at times to be speaking over the heads of the judges to the public of Poland. The accused men have turned on the administration, accused the police of brutality and made the charges stick with the result that a number of police have been punished for using Gestapo methods.

Since the first insinuations, there have been no further references to foreign incitement. The riots have been recognized as a domestically inspired protest—against taxes and prices in the first instance, and indirectly against the whole system of Russian-directed state domination.

The extent of this protest is not yet completely known. Western observers on the spot report that in Warsaw and some other centres there has been keen interest in the trials, and that the public generally has been pleased and impressed by the trend of the court developments.

There is also an evident disinclination to let the Government make "examples" of the accused men. It is recognized that the riots were wide in scope, and the question is frequently heard: Why pick on these particular defendants when so many thousands were involved?

One fear haunts the Poles. It is that when the Western press and diplomatic representatives have gone home at the conclusion of the trials, the Government will clamp down on the current freedom of discussion and things will return to their previous state. On that point much will hinge. If the present proceedings are merely a window display of liberalism, without a stock of goods to back it up, it seems clear that the Polish people sooner or later will be moved to protest again.

There is a great opportunity for the West in this situation if means can be found to exploit it.

Crusade With Music

THE BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA has scored outstanding successes behind the Iron Curtain and because of them the prestige of the United States and the Western world should be considerably enhanced.

All too frequently we hear reports from Russia and other countries decrying the lack of appreciation in the New World for anything but material comforts. The phrase "mechanical barbarians" has often been applied to the North American society—occasionally with an overtone of envy on the part of critics who lack our standard of living.

Tidy Up the Parking Fines

MAYOR SCURRAH SAYS THAT it's up to the council to decide what should be done on variations in parking fines.

It is to be hoped the council will act without delay to remove a discriminatory practice which should never have been established.

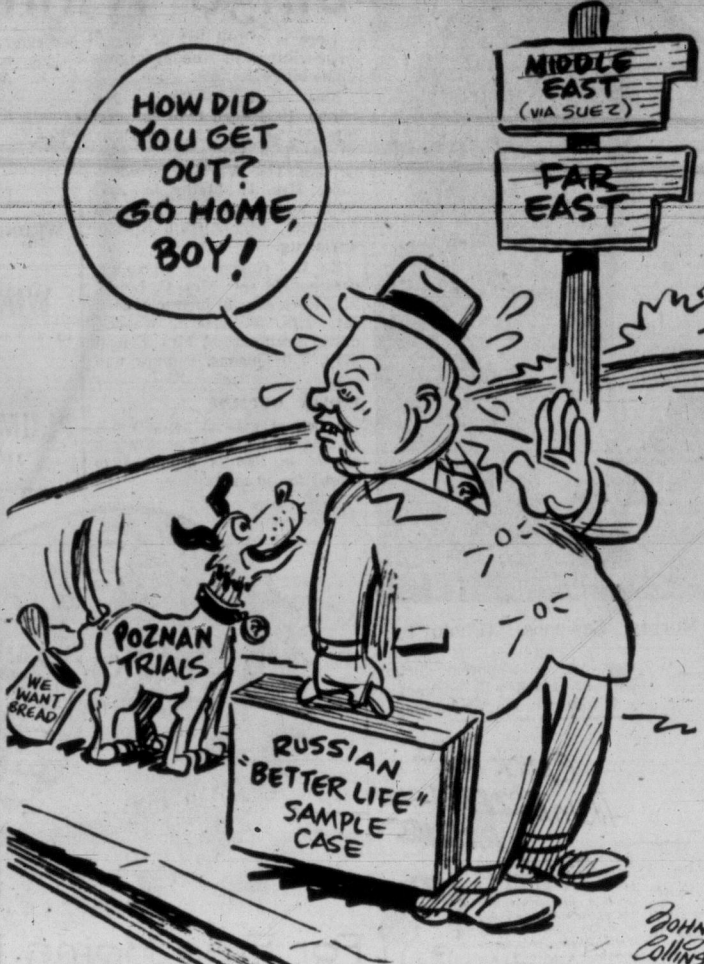

The musical excellence of the Boston organization should do much to offset the idea that culture in this hemisphere is represented only by long shiny cars and neon lights. The people behind the Iron Curtain have heard the symphony—an organization which can exist only with broad popular support, supplemented by special patrons.

Ears that have listened to its music should not be quite so receptive to the attacks of special advocates who seek to minimize western society's appreciation for the finer things of life.

The fine for overparking in a metered space is $1. For parking overtime in an unmetered area, it is $2.50. Why?

Surely the principle is the same in each instance, and the public will fail to understand how the infraction becomes a more serious offense in one area than another.

Tale of the Beefsteak

A BEEFSTEAK is a much more complicated thing than you might suspect when you eat it. This great thought occurred to me the other day in the foothills of Alberta where I was engaged in chasing some steers and pretending to be a cowboy. For those steers were not only complicated in their anatomy and chemistry but in their economics. Though they hardly appreciate it, they are an economic problem, just like you and me.

The great Canadian revolution has enriched Alberta but it has deranged the beef industry and, of course, raised the price of your beefsteak, if you can afford to eat such fare. You are paying high for beef because the cost of producing it has drastically increased and the method of producing it has drastically changed.

An old cattle man like Billy Henry, of High River, can remember when hundreds of thousands of beef animals ranged southern Alberta as they pleased, when no fence contained them and the big ranchers, like Pat Burns, combined with all their cowboys twice a year in a general roundup. Those were the days of the true Wild West from which sprang America's more durable myth, the cowboy.

THE cowboy has almost disappeared. He is a legend only, an almost extinct species, a memory. To be sure, men still herd cattle but any old-time rancher will tell you that they are no longer cowboys, that their art is dead along with the romance and glamour which survives only on the screen.

Worse than that, it is almost impossible to hire a ranch hand at about a hundred and fifty dollars a month when urban industries will pay fifteen dollars a day and upwards to anybody of average intelligence.

The result of the industrial revolution is a revolution in the ranch industry. The big ranches are becoming uneconomic, their ranges are being cut up into small holdings which a man can manage alone or with the help of his son, though most sons are going to the city.

IN THE case of the cattle industry the general trend toward concentration, mass production and bigness is reversed. Your beefsteak probably originated on some little ranch from among a herd of two or three hundred head owned by a single man doing all his own cowpunching.

A white-faced steer, scowling at you from the roadside is not an impressive sight, he is no more intelligent than the average citizen and his life is short. But in economic terms he is not to be sneered at. He is worth perhaps $200 and a man who owns say, three hundred of these creatures is worth $60,000, apart from his other assets.

Thus the price of beef is the great fact of life in the ranch country, as important to the people there as the price of timber is to us on the coast. And while most British Columbians are supported by timber without ever noting its price, the cattlemen know their prices to the last fraction of a cent, day by day.

THE price which you will pay for your beefsteak is established in the first place at such a town as Pincher Creek where, on the day fixed for an auction, hundreds of ranchers come to town (not on horseback but in shiny new automobiles) and enjoy a kind of civic festival. In batches of ten or so the cattle are herded into a narrow ring like an abbreviated hockey rink. An auctioneer in broad-brimmed hat and high-heeled cowboy boots begins an interminable chant in a language unintelligible to any layman who speaks only English. A hard-looking man on the other side of the ring silently raises a finger and the price of prime beef advances a tenth of a cent a pound.

AS I watched this curious proceeding the top price went to 21.3 cents for the best steers while some poor old cow, who had faithfully performed her duty of reproduction for a whole lifetime, sold for only 10 cents. (This always amuses the ranchers who know, of course, that an old cow, quickly fattened in the spring, makes by far the best beef, though the city consumer insists on steers for reasons of fashion only.)

The steer, jostled and whipped in the muddy ring, doesn't know what is happening to him, being in this respect like the humans who will soon eat him. After his value has been fixed by the staccato singing of the auctioneer, he is hurried out into a freight car and begins his last journey.

No one loves him, as men love dogs or horses. He is just a hunk of mobile, self-propelled beef worth twenty cents a pound so long as he remains alive. But when he is dead and carved up and shipped to your butcher store he will be far more valuable, as every housewife knows. Like most men, he is valued, appreciated and glorified only in death.

FULL of these melancholy reflections, we left Pincher Creek and retired to the Highwood Valley, which I consider the most beautiful spot in Canada (may the Victoria Chamber of Commerce forgive me).

There we stumbled upon the amazing Stampede dude ranch of Dick Machin and his sister Ruby, who has a passion for cooking, hospitality and antiques, and has converted a huge log house into something like an ancient English mansion. We were the only dudes present at the moment, we gorged on five or six full meals a day, we rounded up horses, helped to feed the pigs (with their weekly ration of coal which is good for pigs) and rode about a countryside flowing with the gold of autumn poplar, the white and blue spires of the Rockies within reach of our hands.

AND there another phenomenon of the revolution greeted us suddenly one night. Two prosperous products of the great Calgary boom appeared for a weekend of outdoor life and, seating themselves among the antiques of the vast parlor, began to play gin rummy at 4 o'clock one afternoon and continued their game, without a moment's interruption, until ten the next morning, when they retired to bed and, after their glimpse of the old west, returned to town.

Can You Do Less Than Help?

Perhaps many of us have been guilty of thinking the request for $220,000 for the valuable work carried on by the Community Chest is an exorbitant sum. I have been a bedridden patient for over five years and were it not for the social assistance department supported entirely by the Community Chest I would have starved.

Their work is wonderful and we should all support it; let us put Victoria over the top this time.

Our friends were wonderful. I had 17 operations in one year and no improvement. I had wonderful doctors, men with hearts and first-class knowledge. I felt very badly at having to seek help at first.

I am a nurse with 31 years' experience but there are not words to say how grateful I was and am for their help. I was glad that I had always supported the call for funds by the Community Chest.

Just stop and think of all those operations, some minor. Who paid for them all? You did by your contributions to the Community Chest last year.

Their cry is give us the tools and we will do the job. Can you do less than help humanity in sincere need? An illness of this type can and does take everything you have.

Youth at Church

Some of your correspondents seem to assume that young people are no longer interested in religion or attend church.

In the interests of truth may I draw attention to the fact that on a recent Sunday afternoon 1,100 teenagers gathered in a local church to hear Tom Rees. After an address in which "no punches were pulled" the opportunity was given to all those who wished to leave so to do. Comparatively few left.

Later two aisles were filled with young people going to the front to sign decision cards dedicating their life to Christ. This is no speculative theory, but sober fact. Most of these teenagers are regular attendants at some church in this city.

Is there any other organization in Victoria which, on a purely voluntary basis, with no appeal to entertainment, can attract such a group for the purpose of deep thought, and evoke such a response? Nor will it do to cast reflection on their intelligence because they do.

Seagram's Case

I would appreciate an opportunity to express certain important facts concerning The House of Seagram in order to correct the misunderstanding and false impressions created by recent newspaper publicity.

This publicity did not clearly indicate the reasons why the increase is necessary.

Since 1939, our Canadian cost of bottles has risen 54 per cent, grain 191 per cent, barrels 430 per cent, labor 400 per cent, warehouse 533 per cent—and other materials and services in similar proportions. Since 1939, our wholesale selling prices to Canadian Liquor Boards have increased on the average by close to 10 per cent. In all Canadian manufacturing industries, in this period, the wholesale index has gone up 125 per cent.

Obviously, it is the increased volume of sales to export markets, which today account for over 50 per cent of the output of our Canadian plants, that has enabled us to delay until now the price increase that was surely inevitable under the prevailing inflationary conditions.

Of the 125 million gallons of whiskies of all types sold throughout the world last year, over 100 million (about 85 per cent) were consumed in the United States. Entering that vast market in 1934, Seagram has won a commanding lead in sales and has an investment in that country running into hundreds of millions—in sixteen plants and the greatest inventory of whiskies in the world.

We rank among the leaders in the rum industry with plantations and distilleries in the West Indies and England. We also own and operate plants in Scotland.

It is not generally recognized that no other Canadian company in any industry has attained a record of foreign expansion and investment to equal this. The fact that this company is owned by Canadians, with close to 75 per cent of the shareholders living in this country, is a matter of great pride to those of us who share in its management.

The transfer to Canada of our profits from these huge foreign enterprises in postwar years, together with the proceeds of export sales to hard currency countries, played an important part in maintaining Canada's dollar position.

In contrast, many large manufacturing companies in Canada today are foreign-owned. It is obvious that these plants, whether they produce automobiles, TV sets, or tomato ketchup, must operate at a profit if they are to be kept running. For exactly the same obvious reasons, the Canadian operation of Distillers Corporation-Seagrams Ltd. must stand on its own feet. In this respect, it will be apparent, from the above record of our Canadian costs and Canadian selling prices, that we have barely filled our obligations to our shareholders.

JAMES M. McAVITY
President
The House of Seagram Ltd.

Too Many Restrictions

As one who has kept half a dozen hens (no roosters) for a good many years in my back garden, may I say that with proper care, there is no danger that these attract rats, or cause any nuisance whatever in the neighbourhood.

On the other hand, a few hens are a great asset, providing not only a supply of eggs, but also valuable fertilizer for the garden; and ensuring that there is no waste of food scraps, potato peelings etc., which ordinarily fill up and, in hot, weather, pollute the garbage cans.

It would be an unnecessary and unwarranted curtailment of freedom were any steps taken towards prohibiting the keeping of small numbers of hens—for that matter, too, of rabbits, within the city, providing they are properly cared for.

It seems equally futile to suggest the prohibition of taily-hoes, because of the droppings of the horses. Horse manure is of great value to any gardener, and is certainly far more beneficial than the carbon-monoxide produced by automobiles.

Prohibitions can be carried to ridiculous extremes if we are not careful. Let us not make life any more difficult than it is already.

Identification Question

I beg to take exception to your manner of reporting a rather sordid crime which took place in Victoria lately.

A person named Maggs was charged and convicted of attempting an abortion. At one time, apparently, he had been an inspector of the SPCA. I knew nothing about the man or what he may have been before or after his connection with the SPCA, nor for that matter, how he behaved when connected with that organization.

I do consider it in the very poorest taste to emphasize in your news stories and particularly in your headline "SPCA Ex-Inspector," etc., in large black type. The SPCA had nothing to do with the crime at all. The man might equally well have been a—use your method—"United Church Ex-Parson"; "Liberal Ex-MLA," or even—if such a thing might remotely be considered possible—"Victoria Times Ex-Editor Charged With..." etc.

However, I must not go on and on. I feel you have done a disservice to an organization which tries, with somewhat meagre support from the community, to do something for the dumb animals who are our friends and helpers.

CECIL WEST.
Vice-President, Cowichan Branch SPCA.

It Could Be Worse

In Victoria where, it is hoped, the majority of people are of the Christian faith I wonder that the letters of "Rationalist" which appear from time to time, are not challenged by some militant believer.

Perhaps they think them not worth while noticing. Be that as it may I should like to point out to foresaid that if they would go further in their research they would discover that many eminent scientists of outstanding achievements, including Sir William Crookes, have been believers.

Without the "credulous" faith in Zoroaster, Buddha, and Jesus Christ in by-gone eras of darkness the world probably be a lot worse than it is today.

VOX POPULI.

Voltaire's Forecast

The recent letter from Mr. H. V. O'Reilly, in which he predicts—"Given only 50 years more of this 'Age of Enlightenment' and spread of scientific knowledge, most church properties will be 'for sale' and there will be no audience anywhere for evangelists"—reminds me of the statement made in the 18th century by the French agnostic Voltaire,—"In one hundred years from now the Bible will be an extinct book."

How ridiculously mistaken such a prediction was is revealed by the fact that a few years ago a complete set of Voltaire's writings, bound in calf skin, was sold by auction in London for 8 shillings, and in that same year the British Government paid Russia $400,000 for the Codex Sinaiticus, an ancient manuscript of the Bible.

History has a queer way of judging the arrogant pronouncements of men! Last year the world sale of the Bible exceeded twenty-seven million copies, and more Christian churches were built and dedicated in Canada than ever before in a single year in the history of this nation.

The flood of cynical and often abusive letters, mostly anonymous, which have been directed to local Christian leaders is but one intimation of the success of the Rees Mission. The crowds which gathered to hear this gifted preacher—including the eleven hundred teenagers who attended the Youth Rally in First United Church, must pose a problem for the little group of local free thinkers and rationalists who have been so stirred by the demonstration of spiritual interest on the part of the thousands who were helped during the recent Mission.

The Word of God still speaks to the needy souls of men and in the person of our crucified and risen Lord we find our only hope amid the confusion of this troubled age.

Would that all men should turn to Him in humble confession and faith to receive the benediction of His Love and power!

Can't Win 'Em All, But...

I have been reading the stories of Don Newcombe a great pitcher who lost two big games in the World Series. They leave me sad.

Very melancholy is the by-line piece by the reporter who drove home with Newcombe and his father in the pitcher's station wagon after the deciding game.

"This was his longest voyage home," wrote the newsmen, "and he wept all the way."

Maybe Mr. Newcombe is what the psychologists call "emotionally unstable." Certainly he suffered in defeat additionally because he is a Negro and some white people have a peculiarly unrestrained way of abusing colored players.

Since he is a public personage—the arm on which Brooklyn hopes rested—his activities on and off the diamond are matters of public interest, I guess. Still, it seems to me that he might be allowed his own private grief and self-criticism.

REASONS FOR TEARS

There are a lot of reasons why Don Newcombe might have wept. I don't think for a minute that he was crying over the loss of the bigger share of the World Series purse awarded the winner. Or even about the way his showing might cut his price tag down next season.

He could have wept because he had set his heart on winning and had failed. Failure was more bitter to him than to most athletes because his critics, even after he had worked prodigies during the season, argued that he couldn't win the big games. He didn't win the two that counted most.

You make allowance for the importance attached to the final and deciding game in the World Series. You recognize the strain imposed on the man so set on victory. You understand how he might show his emotions. Then you mentally step back a pace and say to yourself, "Sure. But other pitchers have lost big ones and they didn't weep."

If you're a parent whose youngsters were keen competitors, you'll recognize a similarity between a great pitcher and every kid who plays to win with all his heart.

You're familiar with the way a youngster, beaten in the race he wanted to win or in the game in which victory seemed the most important thing in the world, will seek his quiet corner and shed his tears.

PART OF THE GAME

You'll probably remember telling him that it's part of the game, learning how to take the tough ones. But, you'll remember, too, explaining that no matter how much it hurt, the defeated had to put up a good front, congratulate the winner and get ready for the next one.

It's one of the gentle hypocrisies of sport to hide the disappointments and go out again to win, never letting anyone know what the lickin cost you. If you don't feel the beatings, chances are you're never going to be a big winner. You can get into the habit of saying it's just a game, and believing it yourself.

When that happens, you lose that keen edge of competition which makes champions. When lickings no longer hurt, victories don't count much either. You're blunted and it's time for somebody new to take over.

But if you do suffer your private anguish, you still have to learn to hide it. That's what makes the world think you're a great sportsman—not just an also-ran who doesn't care.

That's one of the things athletes should learn in their early years. It isn't so much a matter of learning to meet triumph or disaster and treating the two imposters just the same. It's learning to look as if you treated the two imposters just the same.

If you have to weep, you should do it very privately. And you ought to be granted privacy, too.

Rocket May Aid In Controlling Future Weather

Churchill Tests Could Open Field

By RICHARD ANCO

Canadian Press Staff Writer

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)

Scientists hope eventually to have some control of the weather, to bring rain where it is needed for farmers and to break up storms which threaten to rip a path of destruction in populated districts.

The weather man is not yet too sure how this will be done, but like the doctor who searches for the cause of a disease before he sets out a cure, meteorologists want to find the causes of storms in order to modify them.

"There is no reason in the world why the weather can't be controlled once we know the why, how, where and pattern of its behavior," one American scientist said.

SOME WORK DONE

Some work on this has already been done. Silver iodide cloud seeding has been used to "make" rain by chemically quickening condensation in moisture-laden clouds. Disturbances threatening hail storms have, by the same principle, been weakened to slush or light rainfalls.

But scientists are recognizing that a more accurate understanding of the upper atmosphere is needed to tighten the control on weather. Several storms gather in the air at heights beyond which weather balloons can rise.

In line with this, scientific rocket explorations of the air from 50 to 200 miles above the earth are being carried out at a rocket-launching site 12 miles east of this U.S.-Canadian military base on the west coast of Hudson Bay in the Canadian sub-Arctic.

An American-built rocket, its head packed with tiny recording instruments, is scheduled to be fired from a 120-foot steel tower at the site on Wednesday. It will be the first scientific rocket ever launched in Canada.

PRELIMINARY TESTS

The experiments in rocket meteorology are preliminary tests for the International Geophysical Year which starts in July next year and runs to December, 1958. Fifty-four countries will participate in IGY and exchange their data.

Much work has been done in the field of weather modification. Dr. Jack Meek of the defense research board of Canada said Monday. Tornadoes, "organized weather disturbances," have been dispersed by explosives which upset the organizations and create a run-away super-disturbance.

But, he added, the IGY rocket program, which will be directed by Americans at this $6,000,000 American-constructed site 610 miles north of Winnipeg, will not result in a complete answer to weather control. It will, however, make the weather man's forecasts a little more accurate.

Mendes-France Regains Control Of Radical Party

LYON, France (Reuters)

Dynamic former French Premier Pierre Mendes-France has climaxed a two-year campaign to gain complete control of the Radical party as minority right-wing leaders announced their resignation.

The walkout left energetic new-dealer Mendes-France in undisputed control of a political machine to which his powerful personality has attracted thousands of French youths during the last two years.

The right-wing members decided to leave after inability to get their more conservative views on policy for Algeria adopted at the four-day party congress which ended Sunday. Speculation was that 22 of 75 Radical senators and 15 or 55 National Assembly deputies would leave the party.

The party congress called for a quick new political deal for Algeria.

Skipper Jailed For 81-Death Ship Collision

Teachers, Parents To Hold Night Talks

Fathers may get opportunity to meet teachers this year for discussions on abilities and deportment of their youngsters.

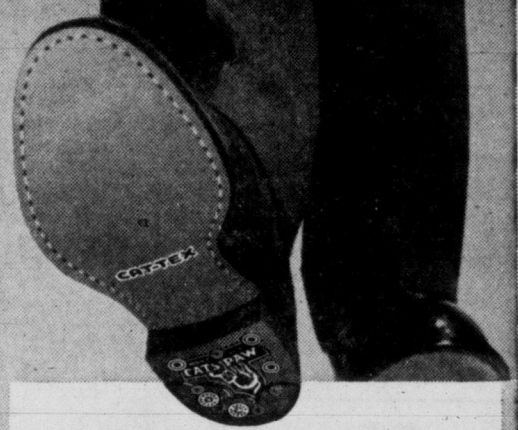

Teacher-parent conferences, usually held in school hours while only mothers can attend, may be held in the evening this year.

Greater Victoria School Board was told Monday that due to new training methods at Victoria College, student teachers won't be available as often to take over classes and release regular teachers for the talks with parents. The board indicated a preference for the night conference and teachers have volunteered to assist. The plan was left to the school inspectors for decision.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A Brain Clock

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

According to that genius—that expert on electrical calculating machines—Norbert Wiener, these machines can give us many hints as to how our brains work, and the researches of brain physiologists will often give ideas as to how an electrical calculator could be designed. Because of this fact, Professor Wiener and several professors of brain physiology keep in constant touch with each other.

Now, Professor Wiener writes that he and his colleagues have identified a sort of clock that keeps the brain ticking away normally. This ticking, of course, is not loud enough to be heard by a person's ears—it can be detected only with that extremely sensitive recorder of minute electric currents—the electroencephalograph. Dr. Wiener says it is conceivable that some mental disorders are due to this "clock's" running irregularly or too fast or too slow, hence research workers must now study this mechanism in the brains of thousands of normal and mentally disturbed persons.

Day after day now I will keep welcoming in this column the new scientific researches which are taking the place of the old pseudo-scientific mumbo-jumbo of some psychoanalysts.

DRUG TO DISCOURAGE DRINKERS

A drug—trichlorethylene—has now been found that can discourage men from drinking. If a person who has taken a dose of the drug drinks even two beers his face will get so red that he will be uncomfortable. This phenomenon was discovered accidentally by some workers in a factory where they inhaled a lot of trichlorethylene—a commercial solvent.

EXPERIMENT ON RATS

Now that psychiatrists are breaking away from the sterile routine of spinning Freudian theories about the behavior of the brain, some are going into the laboratory to learn what happens to an animal when a certain part of its brain is stimulated or injured or destroyed. I was just reading that Dr. Alan E. Fisher, of the University of Wisconsin, has found that if he injected a fraction of a droplet of male hormone into a certain spot in the brain of a male rat, the animal would start showing strong maternal tendencies. It would build a nest and then, after borrowing some baby rats, it would groom them carefully as a mother rat would.

This type of experiment shows that peculiar behavior in man may sometimes be due not to cussedness, or an Oedipus complex or infantile sexual injury but to the action of the secretion of some gland on the brain.

A THROW-AWAY ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY

Every so often now, when someone's kidneys fail and quit working the person may perhaps be tied over and saved with the help of an artificial kidney. The person's blood goes through the "kidney"—usually a big piece of apparatus set up near his bed—and then back into his veins. The kidney takes out of his blood bad waste products which, if left in his body, would soon kill him.

Now come Drs. W. L. Kolff, Bruno Watschinger and Victor Vertes, of the Cleveland Clinic Foundation, who have designed a small but efficient "kidney" that goes in a sealed and sterile fruit can. The kidney can be bought all ready to use, and when the patient is tied over, the can is thrown away.

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

Drs. H. W. Case, Ismar Reiter, E. A. Febelowitz, and R. G. Stewart, of Los Angeles, have just reported a study of 300 habitual traffic violators which satisfied them that these persons for the most part are "normal" except for the fact that one in three resented the police, 22 per cent were perhaps too aggressive and 2 per cent were hostile. This still leaves us without much knowledge of why these particular persons were frequently violating traffic regulations.

I fear that more research will have to be done. Perhaps some of these persons have poor reflexes or poor control of their muscles. I remember once watching a woman in a car run over and kill a dog. She could easily have stopped or driven to one side but as she became horrified I could see her "freeze" to the wheel. She could not do a thing to avoid the accident. Several times in my car I have nearly lost my life because a driver bearing down on me seemed to become paralyzed and unable to move to avoid hitting me.

Student Achievements To Be Measured
On 'More Competitive Basis' Says Board

School report cards will measure achievement on more of a competitive basis this year, particularly from grade 4 level upward.

Municipal Inspector John Gough told Greater Victoria school trustees—Friday that minor changes have been effected in reports for elementary, junior and senior high schools.

In the lower grades progress will now be shown in five classifications instead of four as last year.
Formerly reports showed "O" outstanding, "N" normal, "S" slow, and "U" unsatisfactory. This year the letter "G" for good, will be used to denote a class less than outstanding and better than normal.

BORDERLINE CASES

In grades four to six there will be the letter grades "A", "B" and "C". "S" and "U" are applied for borderline and doubtful cases.

Grades seven to nine have had their letter grades increased from a five-point to a seven-point scale by adding "C plus" and "C minus".
Now a junior high school student will find his proficiency in various subjects measured with "A", "B", "C plus", "C", "C minus",
"D" and "E".

There are only minor changes in the report cards for grades 11 to 12. Grade 10 was not mentioned.
"I feel parents' reaction is reasonably favorable (to reports now in use) by reason of teachers' conferences," said Mr. Gough.

Two additional quotes on a general discussion of reports, cards:
"There are two types of parents that bother us, those who don't

ED KEEPING WALTER OFF CBS NETWORK?

Sullivan, Winchell Feuding

NEW YORK (AP)—Columnist Walter Winchell claims that Ed Sullivan, also a columnist, tried to keep him from getting a television job.

Winchell now has a Friday night variety show on the NBC-TV network. Sullivan's own variety show, long one of the most successful of its kind, is on CBS-TV Sunday night.

Winchell writes a column for the New York Daily Mirror; Sullivan has a column in the New York Daily News.

Winchell, writing in Look magazine, said Sullivan "threw a tantrum" when he heard

Winchell was dickering with Frank Stanton, CBS president, for a spot on that network.

"I guess Frank decided to leave well enough alone," Winchell added.

In reply Sullivan said Winchell's charge is "berserk."
"For many nauseous years," Sullivan said, "this character (Winchell) has characterized himself as the most important guy in the country outside of the White House. Now I've become so important that I can keep him off TV."

"Actually, I never heard of any suggestion that CBS was trying to negotiate with Winchell—it was the other way around."

Winchell was off television for a year and a half, after his news program of the ABC radio and television network ended in a tiff over legal matters.

Which Way The Farmer?

This is the fourth of a series of election campaign summaries by AP political reporters who are surveying sentiment in key states in the U.S. The AP writers plan to visit 21 states in all. States already reviewed in this series are California, Texas, New Jersey, Washington, Kentucky and Missouri.

OHIO

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Between the Democratic political strongholds of industrial Cleveland and Toledo are the flat, fertile Republican farm areas of Northern Ohio. In these rural districts may lie Ohio's verdict on the presidential race between President Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson as well as the outcome of a close Senate contest.

For the Democrats depend primarily on what they contend is unrest among the farmers and distress among small businessmen in their campaign to reverse the 500,000-vote defeat Eisenhower handed Stevenson in the state four years ago.

Another factor is the popularity among Republican voters in past years, at least, of Democratic Governor Frank J. Lausche. Lausche is battling Republican Senator George Bender for a Senate seat which could be decisive in the two-party struggle for control of that body.

Ray Bliss, Republican state chairman, concedes there is some farm dissatisfaction. He leans heavily on Eisenhower's popularity to carry the state's 25 electoral votes.

You find some support for both sides as you roll through the countryside. The grain crop was good this year. Potatoes and beans did well. The farms house expensive farm machinery. But there are complaints that high expenses leave little operating profit.

A phrase often heard in support of the Republicans in this state which in the past has often sided with the isolationists is: "Ike kept us out of war."

ILLINOIS

CHICAGO (AP)—Bumper crops of corn, soybeans and other grains and relatively stable prices have done much to minimize farm prices as an issue in the presidential campaign in Illinois.

This bountiful harvest figures to help President Eisenhower in his race for re-election against Adlai Stevenson, a former governor of the state. Travelling over the state, AP reporters found farmers fairly well pleased with the agricultural situation.

Democrats are not conceding the state to the Republicans, however. They hope a Democratic victory can be fashioned from a combination of dissatisfied farmers, Republicans "disgusted" with a scandal at the Republican-controlled statehouse, regular Democrats, and "almost solid" Negro and labor votes.

The scandal—which is the Democrats' chief issue in the state—involves a shortage of $1,500,000 in the accounts of former state auditor Orville E. Hodge. Republican Governor William G. Stratton forced Hodge to resign and helped send him to prison.

FLORIDA

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The presidential race in Florida appears so close that a strong political wind the week before election could blow it either way. More voters than usual seem to be on the fence at this late date.

INDEPENDENT TO RUN FOR U.S. PRESIDENT

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The former head of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, T. Coleman Andrews accepted Monday night the presidential nomination of an Independent Conservative coalition.

He offered the third party as a place of refuge from disenchanted Democrats and Republicans and said the election of either President Eisenhower or Adlai Stevenson would mean a continuation of socialistic government.

WHAT'S THE SCORE?

BY

Denny Boyd

Say, things look different over on this side of the page...

When you launch a boat, you can put it around the bay all you want.

But until you take it out in the deep, rough water and have a proper shakedown cruise, you can't know if the rivets will hold, the bulkheads take the strain and the engine purr amiably.

And so it is this week, as the Victoria Cougars leave the comforting rain and leaden skies of Victoria for the beastly rain and leaden skies of the Prairies, skipper Colin Kilburn at the helm.

It's rough, shipping out for the Prairies with the season little more than a week old, almost like sending a crew of green hands around Cape Horn.

But it comes to every team eventually and this time the Cougars had to take their first Prairie jaunt with the season just at the early-morning yawning stage.

But, rough or not, it's a good thing for the club and a good thing for Kilburn. Starting tonight, it will be four games in five nights on the badlands. It will be off the train, into the rink, out of the rink, onto the train and off into the night for the next stop.

You don't get tougher competition than that and it is a time when the tads are separated from the toughies.

Under Visual Examination

Kilburn will see his club as he hasn't seen them before. He will see which of his players are able to stand up to the strain of a back-ache schedule and come out full of poise and vinegar the next night.

Colin has watched with an appraising eye as his players inched their way around the tiny Nanaimo Civic Arena, where it is two steps from centre to the blue line; he has watched them cavort before a home audience at Memorial Arena, and he was there Saturday night when they blew the duke and dropped the chips to Seattle Americans.

But tonight, it's the first real game away from home and it is before those partisan Prairie fans who can scald the hide off a hippo with their leather-lined lungs. There is no place for rookie stage fright now.

Wednesday night there will be another game, and Friday night, when those little hooks of pain are grabbing at the leg muscles, there will be another, to be followed by more of the same the following night.

But then the Cougars get Sunday off and they will also have all day Monday to rest up for Monday night's game.

And there are people who say that professional athletes have it made. Ha!

But, somehow or other, a feeling of comfort-bobs up in the knowledge that it is Kilburn who will be handling the wheel on this shake-down cruise.

With his Irish face and that stubborn cowl hanging over his forehead, Colin doesn't look like the classic picture of a coach.

But the guy has a fierce fire burning in him and the wine of victory is the only thing that can put that fire out. Colin is a dedicated coach. He is a clear-thinker, he demands perfection and he is forthright and honest with his players. Each member of the team knows what is expected of him and knows better than to undercut production.

He Passes Comparison Test

Personally, in the long line of Cougar coaches that goes from Eddie Wares, through Roger Leger, Billy Reay and Eddie Dorohoy down to last year's Eddie Olson, I think Colin possesses the best combination of attributes possible.

Wares couldn't fire up his team; Leger, though a tremendous leader on the ice couldn't reach the players because of his language barrier; Reay couldn't please the local fans; Dorohoy couldn't mould the team and Olson failed to produce as a player.

But Kilburn has good material—a strong nucleus of hold-overs and talented rookies. He has the respect and the friendship of all his players but it will be a friendship that will not be exploited.

An excellent citizen, who takes active interest in the affairs of the community, Kilburn is extremely popular with Victorians, many of whom have sent their youngsters to him for coaching in hockey and baseball.

Can he produce as a player? Just remember, he is a player of enough talent that, if he had wanted to, he could be playing in Boston this year and letting someone else take care of the headaches on the coaching level.

Yeah, I think Colin will do as a coach. Sports editors are supposed to be impartial and non-partisan. But I've only been a sports editor for two days. I'm rooting for Kilburn. Starting with this Prairie trip.

Invitation to Laurel Delights Sir Winston

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The Laurel International race, which has been graced with horses of a queen and president, had promise Monday of one from a knight.

Sir Winston Churchill said in a trans-Atlantic exchange he'd "be delighted" to send his three-year-old Le Pretendant to the $100,000 race Nov. 12.

Queen Elizabeth sent Landau to the race in 1954 and Panalipper ran last year in the colors of Sen. T. O'Kelly, president of Ireland.

Landau finished seventh and last while Panalipper was fourth among 13 starters.

Le Pretendant's invitation was cabled Saturday by John Schapiro, president of Laurel, shortly after the bay son of 1944 English Derby winner Ocean Swell, won the Cumberland and Lodge stakes.

The race, in which Queen Elizabeth's High Veldt was second, was the same 1 1/4-mile distance as the International.

It was the third victory this year for Le Pretendant, which didn't race last year. One of its former triumphs was named for its owner, the Churchill stakes, at Ascot in June.

CALGARY HORSE ENTERED

Le Pretendant's invitation includes Sir Winston, of course, but Schapiro said he hasn't heard yet whether the 82-year-old owner, who is vacationing in southern France, will make the trip.

This year Schapiro has increased from $65,000 to $100,000 the prize money for the first four finishers. In addition, he pays all expenses of the entries and their helpers.

Lined up so far besides Le Pretendant are Kurt Laurin's Chantier, a son of 1944 English Derby winner Ocean Swell, won the Cumberland and Lodge stakes.

The race, in which Queen Elizabeth's High Veldt was second, was the same 1 1/4-mile distance as the International.

Small Increase in Pheasants For First-Weekend Hunters

By DOUG PEDEN, Outdoor Editor.

Pheasant hunters in the Cobble Hill-Duncan area are off to one of their best seasons in several years if results of the first three days of shooting are any indication.

Supply of pheasants in most sections of lower Vancouver Island appeared to be up slightly from last year when sportsmen opened their annual barrage on the quagga ringnecks last Saturday. However, an increase in the number of hunters made competition a bit tougher and average bags were probably about the same as on opening day last year.

Good opening weekend successes with ducks were reported from Cowichan and Chemainus while only scattered flocks of ducks were observed in most other water-fowl spots.

California quail, which are in season on the portion of Vancouver Island lying south of the Shawinigan Lake Cut-off Road and on Salt Spring Island, provided some flurries of good shooting and several nimrods came back with one or two willow grouse.

No reports of Canada geese were received and most hunters apparently declined to turn their attentions to Wilson's snipe or coots, which also came in season Saturday.

North Saanich was host to the heaviest concentration of hunters on opening day and a large percentage of the sportsmen checked by game wardens had downed one pheasant in the first hour of shooting but none of those checked had yet collected their daily limit of two.

Things were about the same in Central Saanich but although the birds were tougher to find after the first hour, several hunters there and in North Saanich had filled their quota before quitting for the day.

In the Cobble Hill-Duncan section, a fair number failed to down a bird but several were on their way home with limits by noon.

Best results on quail were probably in section of Metchosin and Sooke where gunners, setting out solely in search of the little feathered speedsters, at times found some lively action among the broom patches.

If Vamps Beat Tars, Playoffs in Jackpot

Mayo Vampires can still toss a monkey wrench into the playoff plans of the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League by upsetting Navy at Royal Athletic Park Friday night.

Navy, on the other hand, can make things easier for league officials by handing Vampires their fourth successive defeat to mathematically eliminate the Vamps from playoff contention.

Whatever the outcome of Friday's struggle, the league brass will meet again Saturday morning to try to finalize playoff dates.

That was decided during a meeting Monday night when league officials attempted to iron out some of their playoff problems.

Faced with the necessity of completing a two-game, total-point playoff between the league's two top clubs in order to name a champion in time to host the Western Canada final Nov. 10, league officials had attempted to condense their schedule.

OPPOSITION VOICED

The revised schedule, which would have Vampires playing three games in eight days, met with opposition and officials reverted to the original schedule, which would run into the Oct. 26 and Nov. 2 dates planned for the local playoff series.

At Tuesday's meeting, Vampires agreed to withdraw from one or both of their remaining games if they lose to Navy Friday.

But if the Vamps can come up with their first win of the season and retain their slim playoff hopes, the playoff picture will be fogged up again.

The only thing to do is wait and see what happens Friday night.

ALAS, POOR NEWCOMBE—SEMI-PROS BELT HIM

HONOLULU (AP)—Brooklyn's Don Newcombe had no better luck Monday night against Hawaii Red Sox than he had against New York Yankees in the world series.

The semi-pro Red Sox collected three runs against him on a double, a single and a homer in the second inning of a game they lost to the Dodgers, 7-3, in 10 innings.

Newcombe left the game trailing after four innings. Roger Craig and Ed Roebuck finished, allowing no hits. Brooklyn won with four unearned runs in the 10th.

STUKE HAS LION ANSWER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Annis Stukus who returned to sports writing after being fired as coach of the British Columbia Lions when they missed the Western Interprovincial Football Union playoffs in 1955, noted Monday that the 1956 club has done no better.

Citing a record of five wins and nine losses—expanded Monday night to six wins, with the same nine losses, on a 22-21 victory over Calgary—Stukus suggested in his column in the Sun that:

"There's one more solution: 'Has anyone ever tried the idea of a new directorate?'"

SEATTLE (CP)—Guyle Fielder of the Seattle Americans jumped into the lead among Western Hockey League scorers in the first week of the 1956-57 schedule, league headquarters reported Monday.

Figures for games up to and including games of Oct. 13 showed Fielder with three goals and nine assists for a total of 12 points in four games.

Esks Grind Slowly But Grind Surely

Whip Bombers, Pad Lead; Lions Edge Stampede

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Edmonton Eskimos, showing determination in every tackle and block, are moving slowly but surely to another first-place finish in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Displaying the same tremendous power and ball-control ability that has won them two consecutive Grey Cup championships, the mighty Edmonton Monday night ran, Winnipeg Blue Bombers into the turf 21-11 to open a four-point margin at the top.

It's not enough to guarantee the Green and Gold the first place they had clinched by this time a year ago, but it goes a long way toward that end.

The story is in reverse at Calgary, where Stampede Monday night lost a 22-21 squeaker to British Columbia Lions to again assure the cowboys of a last-place finish. Lions are fourth, four points behind Saskatchewan Roughriders and Bombers, and with just two games left—against Edmonton and Winnipeg—they're not conceded a chance of catching a playoff berth.

Saskatchewan, beaten 37-17 by Eskimos Saturday at Regina, have three games remaining and with a double Edmonton loss could take over first place. Bombers and Eskimos each have two games left, Stampede have three, two against Saskatchewan, and could have a lot to say about Riders' finish.

In Edmonton Monday night, Eskimos left little doubt in the minds of the nearly 20,000 fans at Clarke Stadium that they were Bombers' superiors.

Behind the power plunging of Normie "China Clipper" Kwong, who surpassed by nearly 100 yards his 1955 rushing record of 1,250 during the game, and the now-healthy Johnny Bright and Earl Lindley, and the dippydoodle running of Rolie Miles, the Eskimos rolled up 350 yards on the ground.

Great Display of Ball Control

It was the greatest display of ball control Frank Ivy's club has come up with in Edmonton all season.

Kwong plunged off tackle for six yards to a touchdown in the second quarter to cap a 100-yard drive by Eskimos, who in their first real display of power in the game marched from their one-yard line to the Bomber goal line in 12 plays.

Bright scored two touchdowns, one on a four-yard plunge that followed two plays after a Winnipeg fumble on their eighty-yard line, and the other on a 28-yard pass play with Canadian quarterback Don Getty. End Joe Mobra kicked two converts and Parker punted 45 yards for a single.

For Bombers, the major part of the show was staged by Oklahoma graduate Buddy Leake, a quarter and halfback who scored the Winnipeg touchdown and converted it. End Tom Miner got a field goal from 43 yards out and picked up a single on a placement attempt, but it was Leake's deceptive running and his passing that gave Bombers the spark they had.

Eskimos fumbled four times and two of the bobbles were directly responsible for giving Bombers a 30 first-quarter lead on Miner's field goal and a 10-7 margin at the half on Leake's seven-yard plunge after a fumble recovery and two passes to Bud Grant from the Edmonton 36.

Ronnie Gets Two Touchdowns

At Calgary, Ronnie Knox, the UCLA quarterback who created a storm of publicity by leaving Hamilton Tiger-Cats in mid-season and joining Stampede, turned in a sparkling display before 10,000 fans, but all for a losing cause.

Knox scored two touchdowns on one-yard plunges and kicked a single when a placement went wide besides completing 13 of 26 forward attempts for 156 yards as Calgary got 22 first downs to Lions 11.

Quarterbacks Jerry Gustafson and Primo Villanueva of Lions, however, made long forward passes count for two touchdowns and Vic Chapman reached in to recover his own punt to set up another.

Peg Warriors Sign Two Former Amateurs

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Warriors of the Western Hockey League announced Monday night the signing of winger Richard Van Impe of Saskatoon to a professional contract.

Van Impe, last year with Humboldt Indians of the Saskatchewan Junior League, has played all three Warrior games to date and would not have been able to play another without turning pro.

Another amateur with the club, goaltender Ed Johnson, last year with Montreal Junior Canadiens, will be playing his third game with Warriors tonight against Victoria Cougars at Winnipeg.

M & B Secret Safety Dictum Rapped by IWA

'Want Workmen To Take Blame'

PORT ALBERNI—MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. is issuing instructions to foremen "that cannot in any way be construed as being in the interests of safety, or aiding the safety program," Jack Moore, financial secretary of IWA Local 1-85, said here in a weekend broadcast.

Mr. Moore's attack against the company came in a criticism of a confidential document headed "Safety Interviews," issued to all foremen working in MacMillan and Bloedel industries.

"It is easy to see from this leaflet that the company is interested in getting employees to admit that all accidents are caused by human failure," Mr. Moore said. "One section of the pamphlet reads: 'Here the foreman tries to get employees own thinking on whether the accident was mechanical or not, or whether it was through human cause, and should get agreement of both on the cause. The emphasis during this period should be on helping the employee to realize that all accidents are fundamentally due to human cause, and any suggestions that the accident was caused by poor guards, or rough decking, should be discussed fully until the employee agrees that it was human cause. If the foreman is not able to get agreement that 99.9 per cent of accidents are human errors there is an indication that additional foreman training is necessary.'"

DON'T KNOW REASON

Mr. Moore said that he and fellow members of the IWA could not at the present time ascertain what the company's idea was in its accident report instructions.

"Officials say they are only interested in cause and remedy yet they instruct that written reports be written in the first person, for example, 'I must take a firm grip,' rather than the third person, 'would recommend more care be taken,'" he said.

It is easy to see after reading these instructions that the company is trying to establish that workers are primarily responsible for accidents, that treacherous machinery, unguarded machinery, rough decking, extreme climatic conditions, or any other outside causes should not be admitted as contributing to accidents, Mr. Moore said.

'Outrageous' Driving Brings Fine

ALBERNI (CP)—Frank Cyr, whose driving was described by RCMP as "outrageous," was convicted Monday of driving without due care and attention and was fined $50 and costs. His licence was also suspended for six months.

Cyr had pleaded not guilty. His car left tire burns for 61 feet on the pavement on a highway here Saturday, skidded 80 feet in gravel, struck a guard rail and a rockpile, and collided with another car before landing in a ditch. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Cpl. T. C. Fraser, prosecuting RCMP officer, said it "was a most outrageous example of driving."

NANAIMO—Michael Joseph Dujardin, Alberni truck driver, was sentenced in police court here Monday to 30 days in Oakalla, and lost his driver's licence for nine months, when found guilty of impaired driving.

It was his second conviction for the same offence.

Langford Fire Group Protests Water Rate

LANGFORD—A brief protesting a proposed water rate increase, effective Nov. 1, has been lodged with the Public Utilities Commission by Langford fire protection district.

The brief, submitted by the fire district board of trustees, claims that money paid by the district to Greater Victoria Water Board more than covers the water board's outlay in the district.

R. B. H. Sewell, secretary of the fire district, said the brief claims the Langford district is, in effect, being charged twice for carrying charges on the transmission system, and for the water board's outlay in the district.

It is easy to see after reading these instructions that the company is trying to establish that workers are primarily responsible for accidents, that treacherous machinery, unguarded machinery, rough decking, extreme climatic conditions, or any other outside causes should not be admitted as contributing to accidents, Mr. Moore said.

Early Start Set On Coast Roads

Highways to Tofino, Port Renfrew Finished Next Year, Says Gagliardi

Work on the government sections of the Tofino-Alberni and Jordan River-Port Renfrew roads on Vancouver Island will start soon, Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said today.

"We are setting the machinery together for work on these roads," Mr. Gagliardi said, "and it is hoped that both roads will be completed some time next year."

"If the logging companies complete their sections, the road from Tofino may be through to Alberni by next March."

Mr. Gagliardi said the highways department plans to build from Tofino to Kennedy Lake, about eight miles, while MacMillan and Bloedel and B.C. Forest Products will construct the remaining 28 miles to the Alberni.

To the south, the department is to build three miles in the middle of the 12-mile road from Jordan River to Port Renfrew, with Alaska Pine and B.C. Forest Products building the rest.

TOO COSTLY

"The contractors wanted too high prices," said Mr. Gagliardi. "We can do it with departmental forces at about half the cost."

An 11-man survey party will begin work next month on the proposed northern extension of the Island Highway from Kelsey Bay to Port Hardy.

"I think the survey can be completed this winter," Mr. Gagliardi said. "We will proceed with the road work as soon as negotiations with the various logging companies are completed."

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Burned-Out Malahat Chalet Site May Become Park

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said today he will give consideration to a suggestion that the site of the burned-out Buller chalet on the Malahat Highway be established as a picnic site.

The suggestion was contained in a letter addressed to the minister by publicity commissioner George I. Warren.

"There is no finer view anywhere in the province than this, with the sweep of the Saanich Arm and Finlayson, and the approaches to Brentwood," Mr. Warren said.

Mr. Warren congratulated the provincial government on its policy of creating picnic parks at scenic spots throughout the province.

"It is just what is needed," he said.

Sylvester Captures Hill Climb

PORT ALBERNI—Gerry Sylvester of Victoria won two cups and set a new record Sunday at a hill climb on the twisting Dog Creek course, sponsored by Alberni Valley Rod and Custom Association.

He drove his 1934 Ford up the course in 38 seconds to win the stocker run, and won the eliminator run later in the day with the same car in 37 seconds. Old record on the hill was 41.9 seconds.

Bob Moul of Port Alberni won the modified class contest with a run of 42 seconds, and Dave Miller, Victoria, drove a 1950 Meteor to victory in the stock passenger event with a run of 45 seconds.

A total of 27 cars competed in the climb, six of them from Victoria.

Missing Airman Walks to Safety

TOFINO—LAC. P. Gould, missing from the RCAF station here since Saturday when he went on a fishing trip, walked out of dense forest Monday to reach the road between here and Ucluelet.

Gould was suffering from exposure, but was in good condition otherwise. He had been lost in the Indian River area.

a new dimension in sight... ROGERS MAJESTIC MICROTUNER

"Microtuner"—magic eye indicates when the Fine Tuning Control is perfectly adjusted. As shown by the dotted lines in the illustration, when your set is tuned to the exact point of best reception, "Microtuner" narrows to a slim vertical line of light. There's no guesswork—you get perfect tuning for top performance on all channels.

the world's easiest TV tuning!

"Microtuner" is another great first from Rogers Majestic, who made electronic history with the development of the world's first batteryless radio.

"Vu-matic", automatic picture control, is standard equipment on all Rogers Majestic TV receivers. "Vu-matic" equalizes weak and strong channels and automatically adjusts the brightness and contrast as you switch channels. As well, this exclusive feature holds the picture steady and eliminates streaks, flutters and fog-over due to electrical interference.

Agreement Reached On 3 Major Issues

Inter-Municipal Committee Backs
Industrial Commissioner, Beach Aid

Agreement was reached on three major issues discussed by Greater Victoria Intermunicipal Committee Monday.

Members representing Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich, Central Saanich and Esquimalt will propose to their various councils that:

1. They should share costs in setting up the office of an industrial commissioner here.
2. They should follow Victoria's lead and obtain provincial authority to make grants to Victoria Symphony.
3. Esquimalt and Victoria be asked to speed development of Gorge beaches.

Cabinet Order Made Grant Possible

The matter of grants to the symphony has been discussed inter-municipally for several years. This year the B.C. government, by order-in-council, gave Victoria authority to make a $2,500 grant to the cultural group.

Oak Bay made a similar request of the government but was unable to take the step because the grant was not included in the 1956 budget.

The committee has recommended the various councils place the grant in 1957 budgets, then ask government authority.

An Oak Bay proposal at the recent Union of B.C. Municipalities' convention that the Municipal Act be altered to permit grants without recourse to the government was defeated. It was felt by the majority this would open the door to numerous more requests for assistance by other groups.

Esquimalt and Victoria councils were asked to discuss with service clubs what steps could be taken soon to complete restoration of Gorge beaches and erection of bath houses.

Beaches in question are at the site of the old Japanese tea garden on the Esquimalt side of the Gorge, and at the old public bathing area just below the Tillicum Bridge.

U.S. MUDDLES POLICE RADIOS IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Family squabbles in Phoenix, Arizona, and traffic accidents in Boston are cluttering up the radio waves for police departments in the Vancouver district.

Police said calls were coming in from every state in the Union. There were calls from Hartford, Conn., Boston, North Syracuse, N.Y., and Phoenix.

"It's all very confusing," said one RCMP officer. "Some of the car numbers in the U.S. cities are the same as ours."

A police radio transmission expert said the freak transmissions will last 11 days. They were due to atmospheric conditions.

Pity This Bootlegger —No Sugar, No Liquor

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The biggest bootlegger in Tennessee — 412 pounds — was placed on probation Monday, but Judge William E. Miller made sugar rationing a condition.

The judge, however, didn't have a reducing diet in mind for J. Alex Goins. The judge's rationing program applies to operation of Goins's grocery store near Lyles, Tenn. Goins may not sell more than 100 pounds of sugar to any one family in a three-month period, and he must keep an accurate record of any sugar sold in excess of 10-pound bags.

STOCK PRICES FIDDLE BUT SOME GAINS SHOW

The stock market was lower near the close of trading today at Toronto, but a few more gains were showing in all sections.

Industrials were improved compared to their earlier showing but still had more losses than gains, and the section's index was about a point lower than the previous close. Western oils and base metals were also down on the day, although up from their lowest points. The New York market was lower on average late this afternoon, but leading steels and selected issues made advances.

AT TORONTO the market opened mixed but turned to the downside as index stocks began to slip. The losses ranged to two points among industrials and gains were generally limited to a point.

AT NEW YORK most Canadian issues were lower. International Nickel was off 15¢. Aluminum Ltd. slipped 1/4¢. Hudson Bay Mining and Granby Mining advanced 1/4¢. McIntyre advanced 1/4¢. Walker-Gooderham was ahead 1/4¢.

AT MONTREAL Hudson Bay dropped 1/4¢ and International Nickel faded 1/4¢ in an easier base metal section. Steelco dipped 1/4¢ in a generally firm steel section while BA and Imperial lost minor fractions among refining oils. Trans Mountain was off 1/4¢ in the pipe lines.

AT LONDON the exchange was quiet, but the market maintained its firm undertone despite the lack of incentives. The General Electric new loan stock reached a peak of 1 1/2¢ premium. International Nickel was two points lower on the copper price reduction.

AT VANCOUVER the market was dull with prices slightly lower. Mid West Copper moved 8,500 at 77¢, and Vantor dropped 7 cents on a sale of 6,200 shares.

City School Band May Tour Europe

Plan Being Studied to Send Students To Publicize B.C. Centennial Year

A Greater Victoria schools band, drawn from bands of district secondary schools, may tour Europe in 1958 to publicize B.C.'s Centennial year celebrations.

Greater Victoria school board has asked a further report on a proposal by musical authorities in local schools, Harry J. Bigsby, Howard Denike and Grant Paterson.

The same three were responsible for much of the success of the S. J. Willis School Band tour through Canada last summer.

The suggestion is that a European tour be planned for July and August, 1958. The students chosen would have to be musically capable, financially able and scholastically sound as well as regular attenders in their own bands.

Board members were enthusiastic about the possibility of a 12,000-mile tour but felt more information should be obtained as to how funds would be raised. A further report is expected at the next board meeting.

The board approved distribution in the schools of drawing of 1956 Tuberculosis Christmas seals as a coloring exercise for primary grades. It is part of a plan to make children "health-conscious."

The board will meet with city council finance committee to study the question of city-owned property reserved for school purposes. No date was set.

Vancouver Island teachers' convention is set for Oct. 25 and 26 at Nanaimo. Schools will close on the Friday, but there will be no holiday on the Thursday. Teachers will be advised by the board they have time to travel to Nanaimo for the first sessions, which are to be held in the evening, if they leave the city right after school.

The school board agreed in principle to a Victoria and District PTA council suggestion that the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation hold its annual convention in Victoria in 1958, centennial year.

Evening classes at eight schools and one private studio have an enrolment of 2,100 adults, according to preliminary figures.

A group of about 40 Grade Nine students at Oak Bay Junior High School will be permitted to make a trip soon to visit a Mercer Island school (near Seattle).

The supervised journey will be a return visit to one which took place last year when the

Toronto Critic Raves Over Danish Ballet

TORONTO (BUP) — The Royal Danish Ballet made its Canadian debut here Monday night and was hailed today as "amazing."

The Toronto audience, accustomed to formal classical selections, burst into frequent applause during the performance which was heavily sprinkled with humor and folk dancing. The 83 Danish dancers scheduled another performance here tonight before going to the Eastern United States and then home.

Herbert Whittaker, Toronto Globe and Mail critic, said the visiting troupe which includes seven male leads and seven prima ballerinas lived up to its advance billing as being equal to Britain's Sadler's Wells Ballet and the Bolshoi Ballet from the Soviet Union.

VIBRATIONLESS VOYAGE BY GAS TURBINE SHIP

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (AP) — A gas-turbine United States ship completed Sunday what one expert described as a vibrationless journey across the Atlantic.

She was the 7-201-ton John Sergeant, said to be the first big merchant vessel in the world propelled solely by a gas turbine and to use a controllable-pitch propeller.

The 3-170-mile voyage from New York City to Southampton was completed in seven days, 20 hours, 32 minutes at an average speed of 16.81 knots, maintained despite three days of rough weather.

Scott Paper Chiefs Visit Victoria Mill

Twelve members of the board of directors of Scott Paper Company, Chester, Pa., visited B.C. Forest Products' sawmill and plywood mill here today.

The informal visit followed a directors' meeting at Everett, Wash., and also included a tour of the site of BCFP's pulp mill under construction at Crofton. By 1958 Scott Paper Company will own 29 per cent of the outstanding shares of B.C. Forest Products.

Publicity Campaign Starts Soon On Big Schools Vote in December

Greater Victoria School Board plans to launch a full-scale publicity campaign shortly on the proposed $3,000,000 school building program which goes before the voters in December.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, chairman of the board publicity committee, said Monday night that within two weeks arrangements will be made for printing and distributing posters and leaflets, and radio and newspaper advertising will be planned.

Mrs. D. P. W. Maunsell reported for the education committee that the 1,382 increase in pupils this year over 1955-56 (total enrolment 17,767), has made it necessary to hold classes in improper classrooms.

"Although the shift system has been avoided, there is no reason to be complacent," she stated.

At the elementary level five classes are taught in auditoriums, 68 classes are over-size, several are in sub-standard rooms. Junior high schools are crowded despite opening of Colquitz Junior High this fall.

Four additional classrooms are needed now at each of four junior highs. In some cases classes are using lunchrooms and libraries as teaching areas.

Teaching staff numbers 646 compared with 588 last year.

Dr. A. H. O'Neill said here Friday in a farewell address to the British and Foreign Bible Society.

He will resign his position as general secretary of the society to become Anglican bishop of Fredericton, N.B.

Speaking at a dinner meeting of more than 150 persons at Christ Church Cathedral's Memorial Hall, the bishop-elect said that many who profess a belief in God "practically leave Him out of the picture" when making decisions.

"Many people looking at the world situation today are inclined to be fearful," he said.

"The world is filled with paganism and the Christians are not many, but the power of God is greater than the spirit of paganism."

He cautioned his audience to remember the words of Elijah to his servant—"Fear not: for they that be with us are more than they that be with them."

"Christianity is so relevant and so necessary to leading a good life," he said.

"We can blow ourselves up, but we can't live without God's goodwill."

Since 1804 the British and Foreign Bible Society has translated portions of the Bible into 1,092 languages, he said.

Complete Bibles have been translated into 207 languages and another 233 versions will be translated within the next

In Canada alone, 20,000 volumes have been distributed in 111 languages, including Indian and Eskimo, since the society's founding.

Recipients include A. W. Williams of Vancouver, who will study at the University of British Columbia.

CIVIL DEFENCE VIEWPOINT

Missile Stockpiling Too Costly—Pinfold

Stockpiling of inter-continental ballistics missiles for defence would bankrupt any nation, Victoria civil defence workers were told Monday.

Ald. W. F. Pinfold, who recently attended a CD course at Arnprior, Ont., was asked to outline what he had learned at the top level with regard to evacuation or alternative means of defence.

Evacuation is the sole practical means, he said.

"It's not a preposterous plan, but it takes a tremendous amount of organization and planning," he said.

"I am convinced evacuation not only is workable, but that it is absolutely essential."

When the subject of guided missiles was broached at Arnprior, an expert told delegates the estimated cost of a stockpile would be about $100,000,000,000, a sum which would be prohibitive for any nation.

Ald. Pinfold was told Canada would have a form of inter-continental missile by 1960. It would require 2,000,000 horsepower to drive it at 18,000-mph at stratospheric altitudes and would cost between $1½ and $2 billion to construct.

"We must be prepared to evacuate or there can be no survival" against weapons such as this, the alderman said.

Even against atomic and hydrogen bombs, he had learned, there is but one sure defence—evacuation.

Former Times Printer

Marks 88th Birthday

Historian of Barrie, Ont., and veteran member of the Times composing room staff until a few years ago, Fred W. Grant has just marked his 88th birthday in his home town.

Despite travels which took him across the continent in his job, he always had a strong feeling for Barrie, and while away compiled clippings on events there.

The Barrie Examiner terms his records "priceless." He has 85 volumes in all.

New Sub-Killer To Be Based Here

Reports Say Margaree Coming To Esquimalt Base Next Year

The ultra-modern $23,000,000 anti-submarine destroyer escort Margaree is expected to join ships of the RCN Pacific Command based at Esquimalt after her commissioning next year.

If work proceeds on schedule, she will leave for this coast after trials out of Halifax about next May.

Naval officials here had no comment on the report that Margaree would be based on this coast, but some NCOs and officers now at Esquimalt have already been posted for special courses prior to joining the ship.

She will be the first of the new electronic sub-killers to be based here.

Two of this class of ship are now in commission, HMCS St. Laurent and HMCS Assiniboine, both on the east coast.

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

I have a note to hand from my secretary, approximately as follows:

Dear Boss:

One of your constituents phoned to say you might look like a rabbit but you can't multiply.

Last Friday your column complained about 4,243 missing persons in Victoria—missing from the 1956 census, that is.

And the column went on to lament the lost revenue to the city. At $6.50 per head, the column said, the city was losing $27,579.50.

The constituent pointed out that 4,243 times $6.50 is $27,579.50.

Not being able to count beyond ten with my shoes on, I do not know who is right, but I rather suspect the constituent is.

Also, I tried to explain to the constituent that you make mistakes in the column so you will get a topic for another column, but the constituent just said "hah."

I do not like to be said "hah" to, so will you please get things right in the future?

Respectfully,

Your secretary.

I apologize to the constituent; to my secretary; and especially to the city of Victoria, for which I have apparently lost an additional $15,000.

If my subtraction is better than my multiplication.

Speaking of my secretary, I have been asked on several occasions how it is I can afford the luxury of a secretary.

In the first place, I do not regard a secretary as a luxury.

For a man in my position, a secretary is essential, if only as a matter of prestige.

In the second place, I am quite able to afford a secretary, as I have worked out an excellent system for so doing.

My secretary is Mr. Peter (city hall) Loudon.

In return for his services as secretary (which he performs very ably) he asks no payment whatsoever.

All I am required to do is act as HIS secretary.

This works out well for both of us, as each is equipped with a secretary to perform such onerous duties as answering the telephone and bringing in the morning coffee.

Under our system, no business man need be without a secretary. All he needs is another business man and a little co-operation.

But I sometimes wish Mr. Loudon were just a LITTLE prettier.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Greater Victoria Teachers' Association and Greater Victoria board of school trustees will meet soon to reopen wage contract negotiations.

The board agreed to a request submitted by the GVCA Monday night.

Chairman of the teachers' salary committee, T. N. Curteis said the decision to reopen the current wage contract was reached at a general meeting of the GVCA Sept. 26.

No date was set for the wage discussion.

Theft of $150 worth of screws and metal window fittings from the site of George Jay School, where contractors are making alterations, was reported to police Monday.

Material was contained in two sacks, left outside a tool shed over the weekend. Each weighed about 100 pounds.

Sailors Thomas Fay and Robertson Acheson, both of HMCS New Glasgow, each were fined $100 in city court today for taking a car without the owner's consent early one day last week.

They had pleaded not guilty earlier, but changed pleas to guilty. Police picked them up at 4:20 a.m. Saturday at Quadra and Hillside with a stalled car, earlier reported missing from where it had been parked on Caledonia.

Audio-visual workshop for church workers will be held at First United Church Sunday at 3 p.m.

The class will be conducted by Miss Helen Currie, Toronto, film librarian and assistant secretary of the audio-visual aid department of information and stewardship for the United Church of Canada.

Miss Currie has been associated with Rev. Anson Moorhouse, whose religious films have received national acclaim.

Former Victoria MLA Mrs. Lydia Arsenault will speak at a meeting of the Vita-Flex Club in the YWCA Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Her subject will be "Health Through Nutrition." Vita-Flex practice will follow.

WEDNESDAY MEETINGS

Air Force Officers' Association: Officers' Mess, 865 Yates Street, 8:15 p.m. Guest speaker will be RCAF Wing Commander J. I. Davies, of the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

Starbrite Drill Club, LOBA: Orange Hall, 7:30 p.m.

Victoria Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants: Pacific Club, dinner at 7 p.m.

Raymond Budynski, 17, Central Saanich, was sentenced to six months definite and one year indeterminate when convicted in city police court today of theft of $134.65 from his employer.

He will serve his sentence in the young offenders' unit at Oakalla.

Offences took place between Aug. 24 and Sept. 28 while Budynski was employed as a collector for Victoria Box and Paper Co. and the money was not turned in on account when due.

William Forssey, Lagoon Road, Glen Lake, was in good condition today after a night in the bush.

Hunting near Beecher Bay Monday, he became lost and sat the night out in the near-wilderness.

At 7:30 a.m. today he made his way to the beach and built a fire, spotted by Mrs. Joan Yates, a nearby resident. Mrs. Yates got out her small boat and picked up the lost hunter.

A nine-man search party headed by the RCMP searched for Forssey from 9 p.m. to 3 a.m., without success.

Welsh Society will hold a silver tea with musical program and door prize at 904 Government Street Friday at 8 p.m.

Funeral Rites Wednesday For Pioneer Railwayman

Funeral services will be held in Vancouver Wednesday for James Meston Stewart, 74, former deputy minister of railways in B.C. who died in Vancouver Sunday.

Mr. Stewart was born in Dundee, Scotland, spent seven years with the engineering department of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and four years as assistant to the chief engineer of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

In 1916 he enlisted in the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders of Vancouver and went overseas as a captain in the 239 Overseas Railway Battalion. He went to France in 1917 in the Third Battalion Railway Troops, and returned to Canada a major.

He was appointed inspector of railways in 1938, and deputy minister and chief engineer in 1941. He was superannuated as deputy minister in August, 1948, but went to the PGE as consultant engineer, where he worked until his ultimate retirement in October, 1952.

Mr. Stewart was given credit for "masterminding" the PGE extension from Quesnel to Prince George, and stayed with the project beyond his original retirement date to see it completed.

Surviving are his widow, a son and three daughters.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. at the funeral home of Mr. Stewart, 74, former deputy minister of railways in B.C. who died in Vancouver Sunday.

Magnetic Block Lifts Lids From Newly-Opened Tin Cans

By PENNY SAVER

The operation of opening a can of vegetables sounds relatively simple, doesn't it? But how many times have you discovered that just as the lid is completely severed from the sides of the tin, it neatly falls inside. The removal of the lid from the centre of the container usually means spilled vegetables and some extra work. Always one to use the easiest methods when preparing meals, I've unearthed, in my roamings, a wonderful new well can opener that has a magnetic lid lifter. As soon as the lid is cut all the way around, the magnet attached just above the cutting section, draws the lid up and out. This opener is hinged so that it can be folded against the wall and out of the way. The price is $2.29.

A whipper for batters, eggs and such works very much like a child's toy top. Press the handle quickly up and down, and a rounded-coil whipper turns round and round. This is a one-handed whipper so that you can hold onto the bowl with one hand, and work the whipper with the other. The price, 49 cents, isn't much to pay for such a handy kitchen utensil.

Italian hand-woven style baskets for rolls, bread, fruit or candy are made of popular flexible plastic. They're easily washed with soap and water, so can be used for any number of things. A fine wicker-work plastic weave gives these roomy oblong baskets a delicate look. Actually, they're as strong as can be. You can buy them in white, yellow or pink for 69 cents each.

You Noel Coward fans will love the inexpensive long-playing record I found in town. A tribute to the great man, it features a number of songs that everyone enjoys. "I'll See You Again," "Mad Dogs and Englishmen," "The Statly Homes of England," are some of the favorites. The price is wonderful—99 cents. At the same price are many other records featuring well-known stars. If you're a George Shearing addict, you'll find some of those there, too. Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find the items mentioned here in the column.

Crepes Francoise Now Made Easy With a Pancake Mix

As the French language is to the diplomat, French cuisine is to the gourmet. No collection of recipes is complete without a sample of French cuisine, especially when it's a French dessert. Crepes Francoise make an interesting party dessert and provide an international finale to a perfect meal.

To call a crepe a pancake is an unforgivable insult to a French chef, but the modern day pancake mix still makes easy mixins for both of them. Just pour the batter into a hot skillet and roll the pan until the bottom is evenly coated. Then when the bottom is well browned and the edges crisp, over it goes, until the second side turns golden.

Crepes Francoise
Crepes: 3 eggs, beaten, 1/4 cup milk, 1/4 cup pancake mix.
Orange Sauce: 1/2 cup sugar, 2 teaspoon corn starch, 1 cup orange juice, 1/4 cup lemon juice.

Combine beaten eggs and milk. Add pancake mix, stirring until smooth. Place about a teaspoon of batter in a small frying pan and heat until the butter bubbles. Pour in barely

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Each Cream Serves A Different Purpose

Q—"Would you please tell me in your question box the difference between cold cream, vanishing cream and cleansing cream?"

A—"Cleansing cream is just as it sounds. It is for cleansing the face and neck. Many women who have dry skin find this more satisfactory than soap and water.

Cold cream is for softening and lubricating the skin. Vanishing cream disappears into the skin and is used as a make-up base.

Q—"Please tell me if you feel it is possible to dress attractively and be attractive although I am five feet nine inches tall. Isn't it unusual for one to grow taller in the mid twenties?"

A—"Most people have their full height by the age of 25. Forget your height. Most of the models and many famous beauties in the entertainment world are as tall as you are and taller. The most important thing is to develop lovely posture. There are stores which specialize in clothes designed especially for the taller-than-average woman.

Q—"I am in my late twenties and for the past several years my teeth have developed many cavities. Every time I go to the dentist (I go regularly) he puts more gold in my teeth. I feel embarrassed even to smile with a mouthful of gold. Should Hubbard Squash comes in many colors ranging from dark green to bright orange and it is nearly always large and heavy. It can be cooked in many different ways but have you tried it in a casserole combination of diced squash, sliced celery, diced green pepper and condensed cream of chicken soup, topped with buttered crumbs? Bake and serve with sausage rolls and a side salad for supper some cool evening.

Women in Employment Topic of Panel Series

"Training Women for Employment" was topic of a panel discussion, first in a series of three dealing with women in employment, sponsored by the Local Council of Women, at Monday's meeting.

The panel was made up of Dr. Henrietta Anderson, former vice-principal of the Provincial Normal School; Miss Ethel Bruce, who was for 15 years convener of the committee on trades and professions; M. E. McDonald, apprenticeship councillor for the department of labor; Miss Beatrice Sutton, and Charles Trotter, Victoria High School teachers.

A question and answer period within the panel brought up a discussion of the needs in industry and business for women help, especially qualified help.

With lack of training courses, training on the job would seem to be the partial remedy, the panel decided, for space at the vocational schools that are available is limited and all trades and skills are not covered. The need for a vocational school in Victoria was expressed.

Comments and questions from the floor brought up the subject of aptitude tests in the schools. Tests are given but results are not disclosed to either student or parent. Councillors, aware of the students' aptitudes, according to the tests, advise

About in-law relationship:

My sister's husband is my brother-in-law. My husband says my sister is his sister-in-law but he can't see how he can say that her husband (my brother-in-law) is also his brother-in-law. He says there is no relationship at all. I say that my brother-in-law is also his brother-in-law. Which is correct?

Louise Davis answers: To be technical your husband is right, but I'm in your camp. However, it is generally considered that the husbands of sisters are brothers-in-law. It is obvious that the relationship between the two men is a little more remote but not completely outside the family.

Each man may have nephews and nieces of the other couple, so why shouldn't they accept each other as brothers-in-law? If you take a poll as I did, you probably will find that about eight of 10 persons will say, and with conviction, that the sisters' husbands are brothers-in-law.

Green pepper cheese soufflé is a good supper dish. To make this, remove the cores and seeds of green peppers, one for each serving, and fill the pepper cases with cheese soufflé mixture. Bake about 40 minutes in a moderate oven, or until the soufflé pops up over the edge of the cases.

Welcoming Guests

In ancient Egypt it was a custom to anoint with oil the heads of guests as they entered a dwelling.

Flavor B.C. cabbage with lemon juice. It adds real zest to the flavor.

Dressings for vegetables should be used with imagination. The great favorite is melted butter. To this you may add a little lemon juice, grated onion or orange rind, paprika, chives, parsley or other herbs, spices, Worcestershire sauce, grated cheese or horseradish.

Intrepid YWCA Worker Again Signs Up for Gold Coast

TORONTO (CP)—Despite 30 years' continuous overseas service, Estelle Amaron, 57, has signed on for another three-year tour of foreign duty with the YWCA.

She is looking forward with enthusiasm to her new post as national organizing secretary in the Gold Coast.

A vigorous former physical training instructor, with sparkling brown eyes and a zest for life, Miss Amaron will fly to the British West African colony in January after completing a cross-Canada speaking tour and visiting relatives.

Trained as a physical training teacher at McGill University and with a teaching diploma from Macdonald College, Estelle Amaron took her first job overseas with the YWCA in Burma and followed it with appointments in Ceylon and Sierra Leone.

HELPS NATIVES PROGRESS

As an ambassador for Canada and the YWCA world council, she has helped women, who until recently had no rights or privileges, to take a useful place in their country and the world. She explains that in the countries where she has worked the YWCA groups have few of the facilities that Canadian branches have. They are lucky if they

In Honor of the Bride

Miss Lilian Curtis, whose marriage to Mr. Robert Elches takes place early in November, was honored at a shower party given by her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. E. Curtis, 1771 Veda Place. Wilma Wright, Lionel Tashdjian Wed in Early Evening Ceremony

While the organ sounded a traditional wedding hymn, Miss Wilma Grace Wright, on the arm of her father, entered Centennial United Church to become the bride of Lionel V. Tashdjian in an early evening ceremony performed by Rev. Douglas B. Carr.

Tall white baskets of chrysanthemums in tones of gold, bronze and burgundy formed the setting for the ceremony in which were united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Wright, 1345 Haultain Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Tashdjian, 395 West 23rd Avenue, Vancouver. Mrs. F. Wilmschurst was organist and soloist Arthur Courville, who sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

A traditional white satin gown styled with a scoop neckline, lily point sleeves and a low waistline styled into a V at the back was worn by the bride. The floor-length skirt was slightly en train. A white satin shirred headpiece held her misting fingertip veil of Chantilly lace and her only jewelry was the groom's gift, a single strand of Oriental culture pearls with matching earrings. Her bridal bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis was centered with a white orchid.

Four attendants in autumn-shaded taffeta gowns styled like the bride gown were in the entourage. Matron of honor, Mrs. C. Arkinstall, wore gold shot taffeta with matching headpiece and mits and carried a bouquet of bronze and gold chrysanthemums. Bridesmaid, Mrs. N. Webber, wore a green shot taffeta gown, and bridesmaid, Miss M. Wraften, red shot taffeta. Both wore matching head-dresses and mits and carried bouquets of cream and bronze chrysanthemums. Flower girl, Miss Diane Collard, wore a pale green taffeta frock with an overlay of pink nylon velvety. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

The groom had D. Green of Vancouver as best man, and William Johnson and C. Arkinstall as ushers.

Pink and white streamers and white bells combined with autumn flowers decorated the Century Room of the Monterey Restaurant for the reception party which followed the ceremony. Pink roses and a four-tier wedding cake centered the bride's table. Miss B. McCormick assisted at the reception, with the bride's guest book. J. McCormick, uncle of the groom, proposed the toast to the bride's future happiness.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to be spent motoring to the southern United States, the bride wore a pale blue suit trimmed with iridescent grey sequins with grey shoes and a fur jacket. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Tashdjian will make their home at 1102 Rock Street.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

All-White Dinner Party Theme

A formal dinner party was enjoyed by 50 guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hilton, 1715 Rockland Avenue, Saturday evening. An all-white decorative theme predominated in the dining room, the table being centered by an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and green fern interlaced among five slender white candles. A buffet table, decorated in pink and white, was placed in the bay of the dining room. Following dinner, games were played in the Chinese room, the drawing room and the morning room.

Reception at College

The principal, Dr. H. Hickman, and members of the faculty of Victoria College, will entertain at a reception in the Union Building, following the annual prize-giving in the college auditorium Friday evening. Award winners, their parents and guests, will attend.

Home From Oregon

Mrs. H. B. Olson returned to Victoria on Monday evening from Heppner, Ore., where she was present at the celebration that marked the 100th birthday of her great-grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Rieth. The centenarian was born in Missouri and crossed the plains to Oregon in a covered wagon in 1860. Her memory is still keen and she recalls vividly, among other events, the Indian massacre at Snake River. The town of Rieth, west of Pendleton, Ore., is named for her late husband, who came from France as a young man. Mrs. Rieth has lived the past 35 years in Heppner. She has eight great-grandchildren, four of them in Victoria. They are Kirk and Craig, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Olson, and Leslie and Tracy, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Olson.

Dinner Guests

Cocktail Party

Lounge of the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club was the setting for a cocktail party, Saturday evening, to honor new members of the club. Guests at the party included Mr. and Mrs. William Dunbar, Dr. and Mrs. Donald J. Elder, Mr. and Mrs. James Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Neville Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Casar, Mr. and Mrs. George McMinn, Misses Donna Kerr, Claire Collison, Dale Heal, Joyce Butler, Margaret Massey, Joyce Polbigg, Gill Watson.

PEARSON-LOWE WEDDING VOWS EXCHANGED IN KNOX CHURCH

Miss Doreen Beryl Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Lowe, Grant Road, Sooke, and John Edward Pearson, Milne's Landing, son of Mr. William E. Pearson and the late Mrs. Pearson of Rich Hill, County Armagh, North Ireland, were recently married in Knox Presbyterian Church. Rev. Robt. J. Wray performed the ceremony. White and bronze chrysanthemums decorated the church, and Mrs. Helen Yost, Sooke, played traditional organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length gown of white net over taffeta with a strapless bodice and lace jacket with lily-point sleeves. Her finger-tip length veil with scalloped edge misted from a double coronet of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Marlene Levi, and the bridesmatron, Mrs. Thomas Lowe, wore ballerina-length gowns of yellow and blue net respectively with lace boleros and yellow and pink and blue accessories. They carried cascade bouquets of pink chrysanthemums. Little Julie Banner was flower girl in a pink embossed nylon dress with bolero. She wore pink accessories and carried a basket of pink mums. The bride's mother had a dress of pale green with rhinestone and seed pearl trim. Yellow and black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations completed her ensemble.

Thomas Lowe, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were William Wilson and Frank Carosella.

A reception was held at Grouse Nest. A three-tier wedding cake, decorated with pink roses and silver maple leaves, flanked by white candles in silver candelabra, centered the table. The cake was made by the bride's mother and decorated by a cousin of the bride. A. C. Sullivan proposed the toast.

Out-of-town guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Beryl Lowe, Mrs. Violet Alcorn, Mrs. Kay Morton and Norma, Roy Lowe and David Lowe, all of Duncan.

For traveling the bride wore a winter beige coat with pink and avocado accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. On returning from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Pearson will live on Kaitasin Road, Sooke.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

Fairfield Group. A film night will be held Friday evening at 7.30 p.m. in the hall, Chester Street. Main film will be the eighth world jamboree with several shorts. Admission is 30 cents for adults and 15 cents for children. Proceeds will be used to install a new furnace in the Scout Hall.

Oaklands Group. An assistant Scoutmaster is needed. Anyone who is interested should call Scoutmaster Joe Murphy at 5-2745.

Dunsmuir Group. is putting on a "rag drive" in Victoria West on Saturday next, funds to go to help defray equipment cost.

Third Victoria Group. Scoutmaster George Bennett and Andy Sinclair took the Patrol Leaders and Seconds for a weekend camp at Ardmore, Sidney. Estimations, axmanship and cooking, as well as a court of honor, were among the projects. Scouts Own was held on Sunday morning. Peter Louden was promoted to be Patrol Leader.

At the regular meeting held Friday, Scoutmaster Harry Ward attended and gave instructions in first aid to the troop.

Rover Scout John Webb took Squires Joe Haegart and Neville Bouch on the overnight jaunt which is a part of the training that a Squire must pass before becoming an invested Rover Scout.

District Scouters are asked to submit ideas for revision of the annual "Camping for Canadian Scouts." Ideas should be sent to district headquarters by Nov. 15. All ideas will be sent to Canadian headquarters, Ottawa.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to John Hammel, age 12, of Indianapolis, Ind., for his question:

How wide is the continental shelf?

The tide creeps up so far and then retreats. This is the dividing line between land and ocean. Your favorite beach slopes deeper and deeper below the water out to sea. This is the continental shelf that surrounds the big land masses. In most places it gradually slopes to a depth of 75 fathoms. Hence, the continental shelves begin a few feet or inches below the water at tide line and sink to around 450 feet.

In Arctic and Antarctic regions, the continental shelves sink to an even greater depth. Perhaps the pressing weight of ice has something to do with this. The depth of the water here is hard to measure. Soundings from a few spots in the Arctic indicate that the shelf falls away to a depth of 100 to 200 fathoms. The shelf off the icy continent of Antarctica is deeper still, the deepest in the world.

All over the world, the continental shelves end in a sudden drop. The ocean floor suddenly plunges in sheer cliffs and escarpments anywhere from 12,000 to 30,000 feet deep. Below these rocky tors are the true ocean beds, the huge basins filled with calm, dark mystery.

As you would expect, the continental shelves also vary in width. They tend to narrow off the shores where young mountains are growing. The world's newest mountains are the coast-als along the Pacific Coast of North America. Here the continental shelf is no wider than 20 miles or less before it plunges into the deep abyss of the Pacific.

A strong ocean current also seems to go with a narrow shelf. The Gulf Stream presses hard against the shoreline along the southeastern states. The continental shelf begins to narrow south of Cape Hatteras. Off the south coast of Florida it is but a doorstep to the deep ocean basin of the Atlantic.

North of Cape Hatteras, the shelf widens to 150 miles. Widest of all is the shelf in the Arctic regions. Here the gentle slope runs off the sea for 750 miles before it plunges down the steep cliffs that hold the deep ocean.

Life in these continental shelf waters is vastly different from life in the ocean abysses. It more closely resembles life on the land. In fact, much of the area has been dry land. From time to time, through the long ages the sea has advanced and retreated. Large areas of the shelves were dry land in Ice Age days when so much water was held trapped in the massive glaciers.

Several times, places now under the sea have been clothed in trees and pastures that supported four-footed animals. Now the pastures are waving seaweeds, the animals gliding fish. Sunlight filters through the shallow waters over the shelves. There are hills and dales, tossing waves, storms and changing seasons. In the deep abyss there is no light, no plant life, no changing seasons and only a few fishes too weird to imagine.

Andy sends a Hammond International World Globe to Joseph Torres, age 10, of Lancaster, Penna., for his question:

Does any planet have the same gravity as the earth?

In order to have the same surface gravity as the earth, another planet would have to be exactly the same weight and size as the earth. The gravitation of any heavenly body depends upon weight, or mass. The surface gravity depends upon mass and size, or distance from the centre of gravity. Since no two planets are exactly alike in these respects, the surface gravity of each is different.

Gravity gives weight to the objects on a planet. Your weight on earth would be different on each of the other planets. Mars is both lighter and smaller than the earth. If your weight is 100 pounds on earth it would be only 36 pounds on Mars. On Venus you would weigh 85 pounds and on little Mercury only 25 pounds. But your muscles are trained to cope with earth's heavier gravity. Imagine the giant sized steps and aerial leaps you could take on these planets!

NEW ARRIVALS: Found on McNeil Avenue, small golden cocker, about six months old.

READY FOR ADOPTION:

Patsy is almost entirely spaniel, quite small, a spayed female, two years old, very friendly and anxious to please. Wouldn't mind a city home... doesn't need too much room to run.

Taffy carries his years lightly. He's all of nine, but doesn't look it—in excellent physical condition, mentally very alert. A real pity his former people could no longer provide a home for him. But some lucky household now has a chance to acquire a mature and lovable companion.

Spayed female, Skippy by name, an 18-month-old all-black collie type. Very gentle, very graceful, very fond of children. Ideal family dog.

Need Handymen To Make Toys For Handicapped
 Willing "do-it-yourself" handymen with a flair for toy-making are sought by the Greater Victoria Association for Retarded Children which needs a great number of educational toys for pupils in its two school classes.
 Interested persons can contact Mrs. C. A. Bramble, 3-3516, who will forward toy patterns.
 Large picture books with clear, bright illustrations, a 35-millimetre film strip projector, ready-made educational toys, and such project ornaments as 100 spools can be used now at the school, according to Mrs. Bramble.

USING TODD-AO SYSTEM 'South Pacific' To Become Movie
 NEW YORK (AP) — The Broadway musical comedy hit "South Pacific" would have an equal showing on the screen. The film production in the Todd-AO system, it was announced Monday by writer-producer Oscar Hammerstein II and George P. Skouras, president of the Magna Theatre Corporation.
 The movie of the Hammerstein-Rodgers production of "South Pacific" also was produced by the same corporation.
 Skouras said "South Pacific" has grossed more than $6,000,000 in the film showings and he thinks it will be a big success.

MOVIE WORLD
 By ERSKINE JOHNSON

DON "BUS STOP" MURRAY salad days haunting them on home screens. Hollywood skeletons in the closet have been rattled before but never in front of so many spectators—an average audience of 25,000 per night.
 Mario Lanza is taking his trainer, Terry Robinson, to Rome for the "Be Mine Tonight" remake. . . . Orson Welles isn't shaving his near-six-figure movie salary. He turned down an offer to do a film for $25,000 cash and $25,000 deferred.
 Not in the script: One Hollywood set laborer to another: "Don't worry about it. You have to go wrong to be right in the movie business."
DINAH SHORE and hubby George Montgomery as movie co-stars in box office bait film planners can't resist—but don't hold your breath waiting for it to happen.
 "Dinah needs it," says George, "like a hole in the head. Why, just one TV spectacular pays her twice as much as a movie."
 But busy is the word for George, currently starring in "Pawnee," with three other films waiting to be released. "And I guess," he laughs, "I've turned down films I should have done."
 Now there's a stripper calling herself Bridey Murphy. No connection, though, with Paramount's unveiling of "The Search for Bridey Murphy." Or maybe I'm just getting mellow about press agents.

(A) "THE MOUNTAIN" (Capitol)—Surely Paramount's "The Mountain" must be the finest mountain-climbing picture ever made.
 It also marks Spencer Tracy as one of the most dependable actors of his era.
 The only reason that "The Mountain" is not graded "Oscar Class" is because of the ending, which didn't match up to the beginning or the body of the story.
 It is a simple story, this—which makes it all the more powerful. It is essentially good versus evil, man against nature.
 Humble Swiss shepherd Tracy has reared his younger brother (Robert Wagner) ever since their mother died. But somewhere along the road he lost him. White-thatched, lined-face Tracy believes in the power of God. His brother believes in the power of gold.
 After a giant airliner has crashed on the top of the mountain and it is reported that all aboard are dead, Wagner approaches Tracy with the macabre plan that they should scale the peak and rob the bodies of money and jewels and whatever treasures the plane was carrying.
 Tracy is aghast. But when the younger brother starts out on his grim mission alone, such is his love for him that he goes along as guide. The play packs tremendous impact here because Tracy, the only man ever to scale the mountain, has not climbed for 10 years. Three times before he has fallen and the last time he dragged an English climber to his death.
PRODUCER-DIRECTOR Edward Dmytryk uses his cameras in magnificent fashion to cover the climb of the two men. Only those who are not touched by great heights will be able to watch the tortuous ascent with equanimity. Most, as this reviewer did, will be forced to turn their heads to catch their breaths.
 "The Mountain," while thrilling the audience, also teaches. It should answer many of the questions how alpinists manage to scale seemingly 90-degree walls of slippery, ice-coated rock.
 The summit finally won, Wagner strips the dead and plunders the plane, but Tracy discovers that one of the passengers, a Hindu girl, Anna Kashfi, is still alive and prepares to bring her down with them. Wagner is distracted. If they bring the girl down it will give his actions away. But Tracy is adamant and the descent begins.
 Unfortunately, the descent and denouement is anti-climatic after the tremendous climb in the first portion of the picture. Nonetheless, the overall effect is more than worthwhile even if it is just to watch the thrilling photography and Spencer Tracy acting.
 Young Wagner is also effective, as is Claire Trevor, a Swiss widow who would marry Tracy.

Movie Planned Of 'Nightmare' Raid on School

TERRAZZANO, Italy (UP)—The Carlo Ponti Film Company said today it plans to make a movie of the "nightmare" in which two mad brothers seized a school and held 97 children for ransom.
 The armed brothers seized the school last week and killed one man before they were taken by police. One-third of the children still are suffering from shock endured during the six-hour siege and doctors said that none would be permitted to take part in the filming.

RICH AND HAPPY
 Would you be happy with a lot of money? Rex Heslop, of Georgetown, near Toronto, who builds cities and towns is very happy with his money. His family have everything they need in the house including happiness. Photofeature in our Weekend Magazine with some photos in color shows this dream home of the Ontario millionaire contractor.

Look Forward to Excellent Reading in Saturday's Times

Featuring a wealth of colorful articles in Weekend Magazine, a few of which are highlighted here.

Diaper Derby

As a benefit to the March of Dimes an annual Diaper Derby takes place at Oyster Bay, Long Island, N.Y. This year's winner Michael Economopoulos outwiggled a field of 66 entries and set a new speed record. He covered the 40-foot course in 36 seconds, 12 seconds better than the previous record set in 1953. You'll enjoy this photofeature in our Weekend Magazine.

Indian Fighter

Canada's answer to Davy Crockett is Frenchman Pierre Radisson who this winter steps out of the 17th century and on to CBC television screens. Radisson's life is full of exciting events many of which took place among the Indians. Feature with photos in our Weekend Magazine is by Frank Lowe.

Halftime Beauty
 The first professional football team in Canada to have a drum-major corps were the Montreal Alouettes. Full color photos by Louis Jaques in our Weekend Magazine show the trim majorettes who bring an interlude of beauty between the beefcake.

B.C.'s Hot Potato
 British Columbia's Pacific Great Eastern Railway, jokingly known as the "Please-Go-Easy," is getting a face lift. Long a political hot potato it has now been extended and revitalized to serve a vast area of the interior. Article by Stephen Franklin. Photos, some in color, accompany the feature in our Weekend Magazine.

Hollywood vs. TV
 Hollywood's answer to the TV screen has been to make bigger, better and longer movies. An epic among epic films is War and Peace. It cost $5,780,000, took six years to plan, 26 weeks to shoot, involves 30,000 people and runs 3½ hours. Feature with photos appears in our Weekend Magazine.

Tempting Dishes
 A collection of recipes offering macaroni in many guises is presented this week by Helen Gougeon. She says you may look upon it as a budget food but making pasta is an art. Don't miss these tempting dishes in our Weekend Magazine.

Be sure to have Weekend Magazine delivered to your home regularly. Arrange by calling 2-3131, Circulation Department.

 STARRING ELIZABETH TAYLOR
 DANA ANDREWS
 From the novel by Robert Standish comes this dramatic story of tea plantation life in Ceylon where this film was made. It deals with the domestic life of the planter, played by Peter Finch and his wife (Elizabeth Taylor). Their problems are solved in a great extent by a stampeding herd of elephants, one of the most amazing scenes ever filmed. In Technicolor.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 17, 1936

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—A.M. requires, you act especially considerate, courteous toward shut-ins and co-workers or you lose their love, respect. P.M. finds sudden invitation, romance, happy circumstances arise to please you. Save time for this surprise.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—A.M. has change of perspective with your dealings with friends and attachments. Go along with them salvaging what devotion remains. P.M. then brings you realization that home and family are place you enjoy the most. Be happy there.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Morning finds conflict between conditions at home and in outside world. Keep tactful to prevent annoyance from these sources. P.M. brings some satisfactory relation between friends and other associates. Operate cheerfully with them.

CANCER (June 22 to July 22)—Get out of that rut, and profit early by the experience of others who have been a success but whose background is different from yours. P.M. brings inspiration of worldly or financial nature that adds to your prestige, property.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21)—A.M. requires you focus attention upon money, property, possessions, material dealings with others. Afternoon through evening fine for getting together and going places with congenial companions. Go after what you want.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Coming to working understanding with fiery, demanding partner quite possible this a.m. though it's a real feat. Afternoon you find chance to busy yourself thinking out way to advance your joint assets to much greater sum, value.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23)—Stir yourself early and all morning winding up chores, office, home, car, etc. facing you. Then p.m. fine for getting off with close companions and colleagues and really producing results. Be very co-operative.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21)—Fine day to put your big, creative ideas in operation during a.m. as well as getting your "charm" more apparent. P.M. brings chance to work along with others so you both have added popularity, good will, better reputation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Avoid tiff between member of your family and influential outside contact by keeping them apart during a.m. Later you find that you can get off to amusing place with interesting persons and have a good time while discussing future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Reduce those ambitious aims to a workable expression during a.m. when you get co-operation of all kinds from unusual associates and from communications. P.M. finds you able to have some fun at home, and to work out changes for the better then.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—This morning you'd better look into your bank account, stocking, safe deposit box, pocket and see just where you stand financially. Then you will find that unexpected communication, call, visit, opportunity in afternoon is just what you want.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Be just as personal and as dynamic as you like about going after what you personally want this morning. The afternoon and evening are fine for pioneering in new avenues of expression in work, property, efficiencies. Be up and doing.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN WEDNESDAY . . .

Wednesday's child is one of those youngsters who will busy himself or herself during adolescence trying to gain all the information possible. Be sure you do give as fine an education as is economically feasible and add to that spiritual studies, which are a must if this tot is to obtain fullest expression of his or her innermost urges. The later life is very active, alive and alert to all new courses of action and modern interests too, in which the early training gives depth and understanding.

WHAT PRICE PHONE BOOK IN LITERARY EMPORIUM?

NEW YORK (AP)—Hugh Van Dusen, 22, likes books.

After work he sauntered down to the Aberdeen Book Company's cavernous literary emporium.

In the bargain basement Van Dusen became absorbed in his hunt for a paperback Agatha Christie mystery.

When he came upstairs, Van Dusen found the place locked and deserted.

Surrounded by 100,000 books, Van Dusen couldn't find a telephone book. He wanted to call the proprietor, H. Patrick Gold.

Van Dusen then called the police. Gold, interrupted at a steak dinner, was pretty testy about it, but came and released Van Dusen.

As the young man was leaving, he remarked that he hadn't found the book he was looking for.

"Come back tomorrow," growled Gold, "during business hours."

HOW TANTALIZING SAYS MARGARET

Royal Eyes Glitter At Glittering Gems

MWADUI, Tanganyika (Reuters)—Princess Margaret stared fascinated Monday at more than $1,000,000 worth of diamonds glittering in an "Aladdin's Cave" diamond-sorting centre here.

"How tantalizing," she said as she examined the gems, laid out for the occasion on a velvet-covered billiard table.

Dr. John Thorburn Williamson, 49-year-old Canadian-born bachelor who owns the mines in the area, was to have shown Margaret the display himself and to have presented her with a $12,000 diamond brooch with 250 stones. But he is ill in Montreal and is expected instead to present the gift to Margaret later this year in London.

Margaret also inspected a moving belt bearing diamonds and looked on proudly as one was plucked off and pinned to her pearl-buttoned beige glove.

Later in the day she officially opened a new sorting house, the nerve centre of a $20,000,000 diamond-recovery plant, and watched while a working model of an electrostatic device sorted out tiny diamonds from small pieces of gravel.

She also looked at the day's "take" in diamonds, worth $2,500, and then signed her name on a special page of a guest book decorated with giraffe, elephants, and the Williamson crest, a diamond tree surmounted by diamonds. It was under a banyan tree that Williamson discovered his first diamond 16 years ago after years of search.

For lunch she went to Williamson's guest house and dined on smoked salmon and cold meats prepared by a Goanese chef—one of Williamson's few formal concessions to luxury living.

Margaret watched a number of native dances at a baranza (tribal gathering) in Mwanza before she went to visit the diamond mines.

More than 40,000 Africans, painted warriors, and snake dancers performed for Margaret to throbbing drums and shrilling whistles.

After warriors in red cloaks with lion-mane and ostrich-feather headresses, seven snake dancers followed, waltzing ecstatically with a huge python riding on their shoulders, their leader spinning coiled green mambas on his head.

Among gifts the natives presented to Margaret were a toy hunting spear for Prince Charles, a wildebeeste tail and two smoking pipes.

Ike Okays Continued Aid for Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower Monday decided to continue delivery of economic and some military aid to Communist Yugoslavia despite Marshal Tito's new friendly attitude.

At the same time, however, he ruled against delivery of some 200 jet planes and other heavy military equipment previously scheduled for delivery to Yugoslavia.

The ban on the delivery of the planes and other equipment will be maintained until the Yugoslav relationship with the Soviet Union "can be more accurately appraised during the days to come."

Ground force materials, some spare parts and airplanes, automotive equipment and other goods will continue to be shipped to the Communist nation.

Mr. Eisenhower said he decided to continue to furnish "at least limited assistance" to Yugoslavia because otherwise "there is a danger that Yugoslavia will be unable to maintain its independence" from the Soviet Union.

When congress passed the foreign aid bill it ordered that aid to Yugoslavia be cut off 90 days after passage of the law unless the president decided to continue such aid. The 90-day deadline is today.

First Aid Course For Schools To Get B.C. Study

Education Minister Leslie Peterson said today his department will consider the desirability of adding first aid and resuscitation courses to the compulsory school curriculum.

"I am impressed by the importance of first aid where young people are concerned," the minister said, "and we shall investigate the matter thoroughly to decide if it would be practical to introduce it into the regular school curriculum."

The B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association recently went on record favoring the introduction of first aid in schools in view of the rising toll of deaths in the province.

Stevenson Says He'll Try to Ban H-Bomb Tests—If He's Elected

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said Monday night his first act as president would be to "follow up on the opportunity presented now by the other atomic powers" to halt hydrogen-bomb tests.

"What are we waiting for?" the Democratic presidential nominee asked in a radio-TV address which he and his staff regarded as one of the most important of the campaign.

Taking direct issue with President Eisenhower and other top administration leaders on the question of calling off further H-bomb tests, Stevenson said that if elected he would "count it the first order of business" to consider the possibility.

"I would do this by conference or by consultation—at whatever level—in whatever place—the circumstances might suggest would be most fruitful."

Stevenson's proposal has been assailed by Eisenhower as "a theatrical gesture" which would be harmful to national security.

Rockworkers Ponder Jailing of Chiefs

VANCOUVER (UP)—A special closed meeting was called in Vancouver today by a union whose two top officers were given four-month jail terms Monday for indulging in what the court termed "criminal contempt."

The session was called among the 2,000-man membership of Tunnel and Rockworkers' Union, which has been on strike for more than a month against some 14 construction projects in the province. Included in the jobs affected by their walkout were a huge Ripple Rock removal program and multi-million-dollar hydro-electric developments at Cheakamus and Upper Campbell Lake.

Union spokesmen did not divulge the nature of today's special caucus, but presumably it was called to discuss the rockworkers' next step in the wake of Monday's punishment.

The four-month jail terms were imposed by Justice N. W. Whittaker on president Arthur Andrus and secretary William Hunchuk of the union, which has been described in top Vancouver labor circles as "Communist-dominated."

The two officials were found in contempt by Justice Whittaker for defying a court order to stop picketing the construction jobs against which the union was on strike.

Three members of the picket lines were also found guilty. Lawrence Gireau and Henry Schieve were given $100 fines and sentence was reserved on Mike Skora, who did not appear in court. Norman Monroe, a fourth picket, was acquitted.

In a nine-page judgment, Justice Whittaker said the rockworkers' strike "amounted to criminal contempt." The judge flayed what he termed "the public nature of defiance" by the union, which broke away from the International Hod Carriers' organization recently and went on strike in an effort to win separate recognition.

Three Former Big-Leaguers Join Mounties

VANCOUVER (UP)—The Vancouver Mounties announced today that they had closed three player-deals over the weekend as general manager Cedric Tallis continued re-stocking their roster for the 1957 Pacific Coast Baseball League campaign.

Three newcomers, all former major-leaguers, were purchased outright by the Mounties just before the deadline for such deals came into effect.

The three new Vancouver acquisitions were identified by Tallis as outfielder Joe Frazier and southpaw hurler Morris Martin, both from the Baltimore Orioles.

The new shortstop is Carl (Buddy) Peterson, the Vancouver general manager said. An all-star PCL shortstop in 1955 when he hit .307 for the San Diego Padres, Peterson was bought outright from the Chicago White Sox.

The two other new acquisitions were identified by Tallis as outfielder Joe Frazier and southpaw hurler Morris Martin, both from the Baltimore Orioles.

Welch, who had been out of the store for a time, was asked for a pay-off when he returned. Welch said he did not pay off on his machines, but since the constable had been playing so long and had won a number of free games, he offered to pay him $1.50 from his own pocket and play the games himself.

He said the constable told him he could not stay to finish playing the machine himself.

Magistrate Hall said, "It doesn't sound very plausible to me."

Vancouver Island Mariner Dies at 83

COURTENAY (CP)—Funeral services were held here Monday for Captain Edward Lloyd, a veteran mariner who died in Comox Friday. He was 83.

A native of Wales, he came to Canada in 1898 and reached British Columbia in 1900 after working in the Yukon. He had served on Canadian Pacific ships, operated a towing service and was a commercial fisherman before he retired 15 years ago.

SYMPHONY ATTENDANCE HIGHEST ON RECORD

Victoria Symphony Society's latest box office figures revealed this morning an optimistic picture of the 1956-57 season to date.

Season ticket holders number 1,325, which is a gain of 230 over and above any previous season.

Sunday concerts are moving ahead in popularity also with 100 more season subscribers than at the same time last year.

Soloists for next weekend's pair of concerts is Zara Nelsova, famed Canadian woman 'cellist, acknowledged one of the greatest 'cellists of all time. She will play with the orchestra, Dvorak's 'Cello Concerto in B Minor.

Parking Space No Problem To the Duchess—Bash! Bash!

LONDON (UP)—A magistrate yesterday fined the Duchess of Sutherland $14 for the "common American practice" of bashing up two cars taking up the parking space in front of her home.

"I have visited America several times and it is common practice to do this in America," said the Duchess, whose family motto is "without fear."

"I thought I was justified in taking that course in this country."

Witnesses testified that the Duchess tore a ventilator from one car and a windshield wiper from the other when she found them using the parking space in front of her home.

Then, according to a witness, she used her own car as a battering ram to knock the two cars apart and open up a space big enough to park her own car.

She paid damages of $160. "I draw the inference you lost your temper over this matter," the judge said in fining her.

CP Airline Cuts Emigrant Fares By 40 Per Cent

VANCOUVER—Canadian Pacific Airlines today announced new emigrant fares cutting the cost of one-way air travel for New Canadians from European points to Canada and the United States by up to 40 per cent.

Effective Nov. 1 to March 31, cost of a flight for emigrants traveling from Amsterdam, Holland, to Vancouver, will be $273. Regular CPA one-way tourist fare is $385.

The three new Vancouver acquisitions were identified by Tallis as outfielder Joe Frazier and southpaw hurler Morris Martin, both from the Baltimore Orioles.

Welch, who had been out of the store for a time, was asked for a pay-off when he returned. Royal Hair Falling Fast Duke's Barber Reveals LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh's barber reported today his royal customer is rapidly losing his hair.

The barber, 72-year-old Charles Topper, told a reporter:

INDIGESTION?

Don't suffer after eating! Get quick relief from sour stomach, flatulence and indigestion—by taking a Digestif Rennie Tablet to counteract acidity. Quick-acting RENNIES are individually wrapped—easy to carry in purse or pocket. Try RENNIES today. 35¢ at all drug stores. 5¢ each.

REACH FOR A RENNIE

"The rate of the duke's fall-out has accelerated tremendously in the last three months. But we're not doing anything about it."

"The duke is well aware that he is balding. But he feels that it's a matter of fate."

Topper, who has been barbering customers from Buckingham Palace for 35 years, charges the Queen's 35-year-old husband three shillings (42¢) for "a short-back and sides."

He wouldn't say what kind of tip he gets.

BOY, ALMOST GUMMED WORKS

WEST VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP)—While a mother was voting in a school referendum here Saturday, her small son tried to stuff a paste brush into the ballot box, returning officer Rupert Harrison reported. "If he'd succeeded, he would have gummed up the voting," observed Mr. Harrison.

Cassenti Players At Victoria High

The Cassenti Players, who will appear in concert tonight at the Empress Hotel under auspices of Victoria Musical Art Society, were scheduled to play a major portion of their program this afternoon at Victoria High School for benefit of the student assembly.

Numbers were introduced and commented upon by bassoonist George Zukerman, founder of the quintet, and the affair was arranged through the co-operation of the Musical Art Society and Harry J. Bigsby, schools musical director.

Only professional wind quintet in the Pacific Northwest, the Cassenti Players, take their name from two syllables of two words—divertimenti and cassations—both words meaning a kind of musical form associated with wind instrument compositions.

The quintet, consisting of Vancouver Symphony Orchestra's first desk flute, oboe, clarinet, French horn and bassoon, will play the following program:

Two-Sonata for oboe and bassoon	Nauman
Three-Divertimento for oboe, clarinet and bassoon	Mozart
Quartet—Oboe, clarinet, horn and bassoon	Stamitz
Quintet—Flute in 18th Century Style	Haydn
Quintet—Oboe, Flute, Clarinet, Bassoon and French Horn	Beethoven

Six Hurt, $6,000 Damage in Day —Police Blame Bad Drivers

CP and BUP Dispatches
VANCOUVER—Police blamed faulty driving habits today for a rash of accidents on Vancouver streets Monday which caused injury to six persons and property damage exceeding $6,000.

More than a dozen traffic mishaps were investigated by police in a five-hour period. The new run of accidents followed directly on the heels of a week-end in which the city chalked up its worst traffic record of the year.

One person was killed and 41 others were sent to hospital between Friday evening and Sunday midnight as authorities mopped up the damage wreaked by 67 serious mishaps.

Yesterday's series of crashes came as police and safety officials re-intensified their crackdown on city traffic.

TO SILENCE DOGS

TRAIL—City council approved a resolution Monday night to bring the city's canine population under wraps.

Referred to the city solicitor for phrasing and advice were recommendations that it be made unlawful for dogs to roam public or private property unless "under the control of a competent and responsible person" or to indulge in "excessive barking and howling."

BOYS WELL ARMED

KAMLOOPS—RCMP here say weapons ranging from a nailed club to an iron spike have been taken from youngsters 12 to 15 years of age in a crackdown on juvenile gangs.

The crackdown followed complaints about hoodlums gangs in North Kamloops.

Police said they believe there will be no more trouble from the juveniles.

They added court action or curfew restrictions will be imposed if necessary.

MOTORIST FINED $100

KAMLOOPS—A motorist who ignored an RCMP officer's signal to slow down pleaded guilty to impaired driving here Monday and was fined $100.

Police said they were investigating an accident and one constable was slowing traffic with a torch. The motorist did not slow down. The constable jumped aside but was brushed by the car and his torch broken.

The incident happened on Tranquille Road.

FIVE HURT IN CRASH

PRINCETON—Five men were injured, one of them seriously, Monday when the car they were in missed a turn and went over a steep bank near here. RCMP did not list their names.

Two of the men were released from hospital Monday.

STRIKE CALLED OFF

VANCOUVER—More than 500 inside electricians have decided not to implement at present their recent vote in favor of strike action to back up demands for wage increases.

A. M. Morrison, business agent for Local 213 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said Monday the union will continue to negotiate with contractors in Vancouver and on the lower mainland.

SPINE FRACTURED

VANCOUVER—A 59-year-old Port Kells man was in hospital here Monday night with a fractured spine and clavicle suffered earlier in an industrial accident at Canoe, B.C., near Salmon Arm. Mark C. Morley, a millwright with Stolberg Construction Co., Kamloops, was brought from Kamloops to Vancouver by air. Authorities said his condition is fair. Details of the accident were not available.

BLAST ROCKS TRAIL

TRAIL—A propane gas explosion on the roof of the new $438,000 Federal Building under construction here rocked the downtown area Monday but caused little damage and no injuries. Firemen doused a resulting blaze in a few minutes.

STRIKE VOTE TAKEN

KAMLOOPS—Kamloops electrical workers during the week-end voted 94 per cent in favor of strike action to back a demand for a wage increase of 45 cents an hour.

Members of Local 993 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers favored a strike after rejecting a conciliation board award of 15 cents an hour.

Rock and Tunnel Workers' Union today withdrew its pickets from Upper Campbell Lake and Ladore Falls projects of the B.C. Power Commission, and several hundred other tradesmen returned to work.

Union officials said, however, that union members were not at work, and that the strike started a month ago is still on.

A meeting will be held in Vancouver Wednesday to try to effect a settlement of the inter-union squabble.

If B.C. Power Commission can persuade the rock and tunnel men to complete a small amount of grouting in the Ladore tunnel, the Ladore generating plant can start operating at 35,000 horsepower capacity by Nov. 30. Eventually the plant will produce 70,000 horsepower.

Contributing factors in the union decision to remove the picket line likely were court decisions handed down in Vancouver Monday, and a union rally in Campbell River Monday night when the workers were advised to return to the International Hod Carriers' Union.

Red China Boss Reported Split With Nikita

PARIS (AP)—A correspondent for France-Soir quotes a "good source" today as saying Chinese Communist boss Mao Tse-tung has split with Nikita Khrushchev on the desirability of Soviet leadership of world communism.

Coming out against Moscow control of satellite nations, Mao "gave formal encouragement to Polish Communists to obtain greater independence vis-a-vis the Kremlin," the newspaper says in a dispatch from Warsaw.

"This sensational move by Mao Tse-tung," it says, "took place in the course of a long conversation which he had at Peiping with Edward Ochab, first secretary of the Polish Workers' Communist Party, who had come to China to attend the last congress of the Chinese Communist Party."

This talk with Ochab provoked such surprise at Peiping, the story says, that A. I. Mikoyan, Soviet "fraternal delegate" to the congress, hurried home with the news.

The Mao-Ochab dialogue took place at the same time Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia was conferring in the Crimea with Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders on the course of international communism.

"It is said that Mao told Ochab he disapproved the recent effort of Moscow to impose again its sole and dominant influence on the other Communist parties," the story continues. "Mao is thought to have declared to Ochab that the Poles should follow absolutely the search for an autonomous internal policy and develop their own social system as Yugoslavia had done."

Two Sites Now Studied For New Joint City Hall

Where orphanage, built in 1893, now stands is being considered as joint city hall site.

Orphanage Area, Topaz Favored

By PETE LOUDON, City Hall Reporter

Two north-central Victoria sites are being considered for erection of the proposed $2,000,000 Victoria-Saanich joint municipal hall—the site of the Protestant Orphanage and Topaz Park.

Both suggestions will receive further study by a joint committee of the two municipal councils which met today at City Hall.

Capital Region Planning Board officials are co-operating in the site studies.

The committee, headed by Alderman W. F. Pinfold, today ruled out several other suggested sites which were located in the downtown area.

Chief among these was the old Christ Church Cathedral site, roughly bounded by Quadra, Burdett, Blanshard and Broughton. Several years ago, during the term of office of former mayor, Percy George, the provincial government was said to be holding its lands in this area for the city, and would transfer them for City Hall purposes for a nominal fee.

Capital Region Planning Board had suggested the Topaz Park site and the old Cathedral site, leaning slightly toward the latter. Final decision and recommendation was to have come from a special CRPB meeting Wednesday.

'Most Central'

The Orphanage site was suggested by Ald. Robert Macmillan. He said it was most central of all possible sites in Greater Victoria, "and in time this will be an integrated area."

"At the top of Hillside and Cook, it is in a direct line to Oak Bay and Esquimalt, close to Saanich and in the geographical centre on very high ground."

"The Orphanage property is almost ideal. It is no longer an orphanage but a paid proposition for children of broken homes rather than for orphans."

The committee was informed that whereas the suggested hall would require at least four acres to build on and landscape, there are 11 acres in the orphanage site. Value is about $9,000 an acre.

Five-Storey

It was not determined whether acquisition of the Orphanage site would require demolishing the present buildings. That will be studied by the CRPB to determine if the rocky nature of the hilltop would permit room enough for the proposed hall and a parking area sufficient to hold one car for each employee.

An earlier report by the planning group suggested the new hall should be a five-storey building. One wing has been envisioned for each municipality.

While apparently favoring the Orphanage site, the committee stressed it will give further study to the Topaz Park site.

PGE Extension Ready in '57 Bonner Says

EDMONTON (CP)—Northern extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Prince George to the Fort St. John area should be completed by the end of 1957, depending on suitable weather and other factors, Attorney-General R. W. Bonner of British Columbia said in an interview today.

Mr. Bonner is here attending the sessions of the national executive of the Social Credit Association of Canada. With him are Noel Murphy of Vancouver, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, and W. J. Smith, of Kamloops, a member of the provincial executive.

"Work on the entire right-of-way from Prince George to Dawson Creek and Fort St. John is in progress," Mr. Bonner said.

If the weather is as good next year for railway work as it has been this year, the northern extension should be finished by the end of 1957, he said.

Ike Given Edge Over Adlai In U.S. 'Bellwether' Poll

(See Also Page 7)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Political soundings from five of six "bellwether" counties indicate a reelection victory for President Eisenhower.

These six are among eight counties, scattered across the U.S., which have voted for the winner in every presidential election for more than 50 years, most of them since William McKinley was elected president in 1896.

In one county a close vote was predicted, and three out of five newspaper editors and political leaders interviewed there forecast that Democrat Adlai Stevenson would carry it. No pulse-taking was done in the other two counties.

A close vote was predicted on one of the other counties and a smaller margin of victory for Eisenhower than in 1952 in three others.

This was the consensus of estimates made by newspaper editors and correspondents in response to an Associated Press inquiry.

A similar survey in 1952 resulted in a misfire in one county. Then the "bellwethers" numbered 11. Three fell by the wayside when they went for Stevenson against the national trend. In the 1952 survey, they had been tabbed as likely to go for Stevenson.

No sampling was undertaken this year in two Iowa counties, where voters were reported reluctant to speak out.

NEW YORK TIMES PLUMPS FOR IKE AS PRESIDENT

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times today announced its support of President Eisenhower for re-election. The Times, which supported him originally in 1952, lists itself politically as independent.

In a three-column editorial The Times finds much in common between Eisenhower and Democratic candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, and has criticism for both.

"In the area of many fundamental matters... the approach of both these men is to conciliate rather than coerce, to clarify rather than confuse, to unify rather than disrupt," The Times says.

On the subject of Vice-President Nixon, The Times says: "Mr. Nixon's career has certainly not revealed much evidence of deeply-rooted and consistently-held principles. Party strategy, rather than party policy, has been Mr. Nixon's chief concern."

That'd certainly be a new twist, puttin' th' city fathers in an orphanage.

Eden Flies To Paris

New Talks
On Suez

(From Reuters and UP)

PARIS — The British prime minister and foreign minister, Sir Anthony Eden and Selwyn Lloyd, arrived here by air from London tonight for talks with French leaders on the next step in the Suez Canal crisis.

Announcing the unexpected visit, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau told the National Assembly: "These Anglo-French talks will be of capital importance."

"We have not yet finished playing our hand. We shall see who wins this game when the rubber is over."

OTHER PROBLEMS

Pineau said the talks would also examine other Middle East problems, "which are of course related to the Suez Canal situation, including the situation in Israel, Jordan and Iraq."

Pineau added: "We intend that the rights of Israel shall be maintained as much as the rights of anybody else."

Eden told reporters at the airport: "The object of our journey is to discuss the common policy of our two countries in the question of the Suez Canal following on the meeting of the Security Council."

It was learned that the statesmen will consider the advisability of sending a test convoy, including an Israeli ship, through the canal in the near future.

SHEPILLOV THERE

Earlier Pineau and Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov opened a new series of talks on the Suez dispute here today.

The atmosphere was cleared somewhat by a statement in Moscow by Soviet Vice-Premier Anastas Mikoyan upholding Israel's position on the Suez and by an optimistic editorial in Pravda, the official Soviet Communist party newspaper.

The Pineau-Shepilov talks coincided with the opening of debate on the Suez crisis today by the French National Assembly.

Mikoyan told newsmen in Moscow Monday night that all nations, including blockaded Israel, must have equal rights to passage through Egypt's nationalized Suez Canal.

Jordan Receiving Arms From Syria

JOE (AP)—A report that Iraq troops will not move into Jordan yet tended today to relax tension on both sides of the Israeli-Jordan border.

But Syria announced she is sending in a gift of heavy weapons to help in the defence of Jordan's frontier with Israel.

Syria's military attaché in Amman, the Jordanian capital, told a press conference that a military mission from his country accompanied the weapons to train the Jordanians to use them. He said more arms consignment from Syria will reach Jordan later this month and early in November.

Syrian ambassador Fouad Kadamani said the arms shipment began moving into Jordan after midnight and was still coming this morning.

He called the weapons an unconditional gift from the Syrian people to help defend Jordan's borders, which he termed the first Arab line of defence against Israeli attacks.

The decision to hold off on the planned reinforcement of Jordan's army by 3,000 Iraqi troops was reported by the Amman newspaper Al Jihad. It helped clear the atmosphere in Amman, where war fears mounted after Israeli premier David Ben-Gurion warned his government reserved its right of freedom of action if the Iraqis crossed into the neighboring Arab kingdom.

A Jordan government spokesman said King Hussein and Iraqi Crown Prince Abdul Illah, in talks in Amman which ended today, agreed the Iraqi troops would be stationed just outside Jordan's borders, ready to move in immediately if Jordan asked for help in an emergency.

Oak Bay Calls Vote on Milk

Group Favoring Raw Milk Sale Wins Promise at Council Meeting

A referendum will be held in Oak Bay at the December municipal elections on whether sale of raw milk should be allowed in the municipality.

Decision to go to the electorate for an opinion on the question was made by Oak Bay Council after a lively meeting with a group of about 100 raw milkers Monday night.

Many of the group objected strongly to the council's stand against raw milk sale.

They were led by T. W. L. Mutch, 2044 Beach, who hotly objected to Reeve Fred Norris' ruling on council policy permitting only one spokesman—Mr. Mutch—to address council.

Council then voted to adjourn, turning the hearing into a public meeting. Except by special consent, no member of the public is allowed to speak at a council meeting.

In his brief, Mr. Mutch said it was with "dismay, consternation and amazement" that he

Only V.I. Council to Take Freedom Away

"Oak Bay is the only council on Vancouver Island which has taken this freedom away"—the freedom of choice to buy either raw or pasteurized milk as municipal legislation would allow.

He said in 42 years of raw milk sales in Oak Bay, there had never been a case of disease attributed to milk.

The spokesman hoped users of raw milk will "fight to the last drop for it."

There had arisen "an intolerable situation which should not be allowed to exist in any civilized municipality," Mr. Mutch said.

Fitz-Roy George, 1589 Wilmut, addressed councillors, "If it entails changing someone's mind, then change it. I'm not pleading for a favor, I'm contending for a right."

Public Health Safeguard, Says Doctor

Dr. Stewart explained his "main reason in asking council to go along with a provincial statute banning raw milk sale was in the interests of public health. The point is, in this district disease can arise. Even pasteurization cannot eliminate all chance of disease."

He said in the past few weeks Oak Bay had had one case of typhoid fever, not due to milk, but for three weeks it went unrecognized, during which time it could have been spread by a dairy worker.

"This thing has not been passed over lightly," Coun. Charles H. G. Mann said. "Perhaps we made a mistake." But he added, "council believed it did the right thing."

He quoted the Clyne report as saying pasteurization throughout the province is necessary to wiping out diseases which thrive in milk. It also stated, he said, that anyone who wants to take the risk of drinking raw milk should not be deprived of it.

Majority of council, after considering all points, decided to accept the provincial legislation in the interests of public safety. He added council regretted the inconvenience to those residents who wish to purchase raw milk in Oak Bay, "but the welfare of the majority had to be our first consideration."

"Most of the council are of the opinion that if the question was referred to the electors... that they would favor the sale of pasteurized milk by a very substantial majority," the councillor said.

Mr. George challenged council to call a vote to determine just what the majority does want.

Coun. F. W. Hawes agreed a

SCHOOL SECRET

Le Chat Dehors Le Sac

By PETE LOUDON

A certain French language teacher who has been passing himself off to some Victoria grade fivers as a newly-arrived Parisian who couldn't speak English, may as well come clean.

Le chat dehors de sac.

A student assures us that means the cat is out of the bag.

This teacher launched an experimental French class with the junior graders (French used to be a high school course) with gestures and nasal noises. He made it clear if the kids were going to get credits they'd better learn to understand him because he couldn't dig them.

Turns out to be so much French mayonnaise.

Douglas V. Parker, who is conducting 10 French classes for some 275 grade five pupils made a glowing report to Greater Victoria School Board Monday night.

"I am following two basic methods," he wrote the board.

"In three of the four top classes I am conducting the class entirely in French, no English being used at all."

"I extended this method to other bright classes after it seemed to work very well at one class in Willows School."

"At the moment, the French-taught classes are making greater progress than the English-taught classes of an equivalent calibre."

"I have already carried out complete 20-minute periods entirely in French with every one of the 10 classes to prove to myself it can be done, even with the slower groups."

Mr. Parker's report impressed the board and brought a report from municipal inspector John Gough regarding teaching of English to immigrant children here.

A special class at North Ward School cannot accept a number of newcomer children who should be enrolled, he stated. He says another class should be started.

Meantime, a 17-year-old French girl has been sent to Victoria High School to pick up what she can despite the fact she has no English.

Four youngsters from Holland have been placed in various elementary schools.

It was explained this is not a hardship because the teacher at the special North Ward class speaks only English and even there the youngsters must learn mostly on their own initiative.

One boy who in recent years attended the special language class was last year a scholarship winner at Victoria High School.

Centennial Committee Receives Suggestions to Mark Birthday

Greater Victoria Centennial Committee Monday withheld opinion on suggestions the 1958 provincial grants for capital works be spent either on a new Royal Jubilee Hospital wing or conversion of the Memorial Arena to a civic auditorium.

It was pointed out the committee at present has authority to expend money for celebrations.

The group will ask district councils to pass money-by-laws transferring to the committee the 40-cent-per-capita Centennial grants when they are made early next year.

It will ask councils for authority to make recommendations on how the 60-cent-per-capita Centennial grant should be employed.

TWO GRANTS

The B.C. government has promised the two grants, the first for municipal pocket money for 1958 celebration; the second for a memorial project of lasting value and significance. Councils must match the second grant dollar for dollar in order to obtain it.

The 40-cent grant, according to City Manager C. C. Wyatt, is to be made to all municipalities, "whether or not a celebration is planned."

The Centennial Committee for this area, chaired by city alderman Geoffrey Edgelow, is awaiting the 40-cent grant before hiring an executive secretary.

It was estimated the administration costs would amount to $16,000 for the two-year period—about one-third of the estimated size of the celebrations grant.

Ald. Edgelow and Saanich councillor Ronald Grant were authorized to meet with the provincial Centennial Committee to determine what co-operation there could be on celebrations by the government. It is hoped extra aid will be given the local committee.

Ald. Edgelow suggested the conversion of Memorial Arena to a combined arena-auditorium and the addition of a children's rink would be a worthy Centennial project for this area.

Doria Captain Admits Error

NEW YORK (UP)—Capt. Piero Calamai of the Andrea Doria admitted Monday that according to his official report of his ship's crash with the Stockholm he should have been aware of a "danger of collision" when the two liners were still more than three miles apart.

Instead, Calamai testified, he thought the two ships were approaching on a parallel course and did not realize a collision was imminent until the distance between had closed to about one mile.

Calamai admitted that the radar observations, if correct, should have convinced him there was a "danger of collision" because the lack of change in the Stockholm's readings meant the Swedish ship was not approaching on a parallel course.

'ALFALFA BILL' MURRAY DIES —STORMY POLITICAL FIGURE

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, former governor of Oklahoma, died quietly Monday, ending 86 years of a stormy and colorful life.

Murray, ninth governor of the state, died in a coma.

Gruff and frank, mustachioed Alfalfa Bill was a prominent figure in both state and national politics during his four-year term as governor.

It was pointed out the committee at present has authority to expend money for celebrations.

Inter-Municipal Committee Backs
Industrial Commissioner's Beach Aid

Agreement was reached on three major issues discussed by Greater Victoria Inter-municipal Committee Monday.

Members representing Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich, Central Saanich and Esquimalt will propose to their various councils that:

1. They should share costs in setting up the office of an industrial commissioner here.

2. They should follow Victoria's lead and obtain provincial authority to make grants to Victoria Symphony.

3. Esquimalt and Victoria be asked to speed development of Gorge beaches.

The committee left decision to Victoria Public Library Board on a proposal by Central Saanich that if that municipality re-enters the library union, it would have the right to discontinue the current bookmobile service, or curtail it, to cut costs based on circulation.

The suggestion that an industrial commissioner should be appointed was made in a letter from the Chamber of Commerce industrial group. The group proposed the appointment of an officer who would work to attract industry here.

Suggested budget for a part-time officer and staff was $50,000 annually; twice that on a full-time basis.

The committee is asking each Greater Victoria municipality to consider financing such an arrangement in the 1957 budgets, and asking industry already here to assist.

The matter of grants to the symphony has been discussed inter-municipally for several years. This year the B.C. government, by order-in-council, gave Victoria authority to make a $2,500 grant to the cultural group.

Oak Bay made a similar request of the government but was unable to take the step because the grant was not included in the 1956 budget.

The committee has recommended the various councils place the grant in 1957 budgets, then ask government authority.

An Oak Bay proposal at the recent Union of B.C. Municipalities' convention that the Municipal Act be altered to permit grants without recourse to the government was defeated. It was felt by the majority this would open the door to numerous more requests for assistance by other groups.

Esquimalt and Victoria councils were asked to discuss with service clubs what steps could be taken soon to complete restoration of Gorge beaches and erection of bath houses.

Beaches in question are at the site of the old Japanese tea garden on the Esquimalt side of the Gorge, and at the old public bathing area just below the Tillamook Bridge.

U.S. MUDDLES POLICE RADIOS IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Family squabbles in Phoenix, Arizona, and traffic accidents in Boston are cluttering up the radio waves for police departments in the Vancouver district.

Police said calls were coming in from every state in the Union. There were calls from Hartford, Conn., Boston, North Syracuse, N.Y., and Phoenix.

"It's all very confusing," said one RCMP officer. "Some of the car numbers in the U.S. cities are the same as ours."

A police radio transmission expert said the freak transmissions will last 11 days. They were due to atmospheric conditions.

Pity This Bootlegger —No Sugar, No Liquor

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The biggest bootlegger in Tennessee — 412 pounds — was placed on probation Monday, but Judge William E. Miller made sugar rationing a condition.

The judge, however, didn't have a reducing diet in mind for J. Alex Goins. The judge's rationing program applies to operation of Goins' grocery store near Lyles, Tenn.

Goins may not sell more than 100 pounds of sugar to any one family in a three-month period, and he must keep an accurate record of any sugar sold in excess of 10-pound bags.

Sugar is a major ingredient of corn liquor.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains scored moderate gains on the board of trade today, rallying in the last half of the session. The upturn appeared to be inspired mainly by short covering operations on the part of local traders.

Wheat made the best gains. It was bought on a return of dry weather to the southwest and news the U.S. government has approved continued economic aid to Yugoslavia.

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP) — Export interest in barley and flax highlighted trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Small quantities of barley were reported sold to the United Kingdom with modest amounts of flax to continental countries. Flax had a steady undertone.

U.S. interest in rye was indicated; prices moved narrowly. There was no information on overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all unchanged.

K. K. Calder Hal First in Field of Atomic Electricity for Homes

By ANTHONY GOODMAN

CALDER HALL, England (Reuters) — The atomic age will invade British homes Wednesday when the Queen pulls a lever at the world's first full-scale atomic power station, switching current into the nation-wide electrical power system.

The power station, which cost more than £16,500,000 and took 3 1/2 years to build, was built by Britain's atomic energy authority with the aim of investigating the use of nuclear energy for the production of electrical power and of providing plutonium for the defence program.

The plutonium will be produced as a by-product in the station's atomic pile.

The station, the first of two being built at Calder Hall, will be generating 10 megawatts (10,000,000 watts) of electricity into the national system — enough to light a fair-sized town.

H. G. Davey, a senior executive of the atomic energy authority, opened in 1951 for the manufacture of plutonium.

It is here that the spent uranium fuel from Calder Hall will be processed to make the valuable element used in the production of nuclear weapons.

In appearance, the Calder Hall site, which will cover 250 acres when complete, differs little from the conventional view of a power station.

At first sight only the absence of grit and coal dust appears remarkable, but what makes the station unique are two tall black chimneys, where the nuclear reactors are housed.

Here, instead of coal, fed furnaces, white-coated technicians watch panels of dials recording the behavior of the uranium "fuel" fed in long cylinders into the reactor core.

CALDER HALL, England (Reuters) — The atomic age will invade British homes Wednesday when the Queen pulls a lever at the world's first full-scale atomic power station, switching current into the nation-wide electrical power system.

The power station, which cost more than £16,500,000 and took 3 1/2 years to build, was built by Britain's atomic energy authority with the aim of investigating the use of nuclear energy for the production of electrical power and of providing plutonium for the defence program.

The plutonium will be produced as a by-product in the station's atomic pile.

The station, the first of two being built at Calder Hall, will be generating 10 megawatts (10,000,000 watts) of electricity into the national system — enough to light a fair-sized town.

H. G. Davey, a senior executive of the atomic energy authority, opened in 1951 for the manufacture of plutonium.

It is here that the spent uranium fuel from Calder Hall will be processed to make the valuable element used in the production of nuclear weapons.

In appearance, the Calder Hall site, which will cover 250 acres when complete, differs little from the conventional view of a power station.

At first sight only the absence of grit and coal dust appears remarkable, but what makes the station unique are two tall black chimneys, where the nuclear reactors are housed.

Here, instead of coal, fed furnaces, white-coated technicians watch panels of dials recording the behavior of the uranium "fuel" fed in long cylinders into the reactor core.

New Sub-Killer To Be Based Here

Reports Say Margaree Coming To Esquimalt Base Next Year

The ultra-modern $23,000,000 anti-submarine destroyer escort Margaree is expected to join ships of the RCN Pacific Command based at Esquimalt after her commissioning next year.

If work proceeds on schedule, she will leave for this coast after trials out of Halifax about next May.

Naval officials here had no comment on the report that Margaree would be based on this coast, but some NCOs and officers now at Esquimalt have already been posted for special courses prior to joining the ship.

She will be the first of the new electronic sub-killers to be based here.

Two of this class of ship are now in commission, HMCS St. Laurent and HMCS Assiniboine, both on the east coast.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

I have a note to hand from my secretary, approximately as follows:

Dear Boss:

One of your constituents phoned to say you might look like a rabbit but you can't multiply.

Last Friday your column complained about 4,243 missing persons in Victoria—missing from the 1956 census, that is.

And the column went on to lament the lost revenue to the city. At $6.50 per head, the column said, the city was losing $27,579.50.

The constituent pointed out that 4,243 times $6.50 is $27,579.50.

Not being able to count beyond ten with my shoes on, I do not know who is right, but I rather suspect the constituent is.

Also, I tried to explain to the constituent that you make mistakes in the column so you will get a topic for another column, but the constituent just said "hah."

I do not like to be said "hah" to, so will you please get things right in the future?

Respectfully,

Your secretary.

I apologize to the constituent; to my secretary; and especially to the city of Victoria, for which I have apparently lost an additional $15,000.

If my subtraction is better than my multiplication.

Speaking of my secretary, I have been asked on several occasions how it is I can afford the luxury of a secretary.

In the first place, I do not regard a secretary as a luxury.

For a man in my position, a secretary is essential, if only as a matter of prestige.

In the second place, I am quite able to afford a secretary, as I have worked out an excellent system for so doing.

My secretary is Mr. Peter (city hall) Loudon.

In return for his services as secretary (which he performs very ably) he asks no payment whatsoever.

All I am required to do is act as HIS secretary.

This works out well for both of us, as each is equipped with a secretary to perform such onerous duties as answering the telephone and bringing in the morning coffee.

Under our system, no business man need be without a secretary. All he needs is another business man and a little co-operation.

But I sometimes wish Mr. Loudon were just a LITTLE prettier.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Greater Victoria Teachers' Association and Greater Victoria board of school trustees will meet soon to reopen wage contract negotiations.

The board agreed to a request submitted by the GVCA Monday night.

Chairman of the teachers' salary committee, T. N. Curteis said the decision to reopen the current wage contract was reached at a general meeting of the GVCA Sept. 26.

No date was set for the wage discussion.

Theft of $150 worth of screws and metal window fittings from the site of George Jay School, where contractors are making alterations, was reported to police Monday.

Material was contained in two sacks, left outside a tool shed over the weekend. Each weighed about 100 pounds.

Sailors Thomas Fay and Robertson Acheson, both of HMCS New Glasgow, each were fined $100 in city court today for taking a car without the owner's consent early one day last week.

They had pleaded not guilty earlier, but changed pleas to guilty. Police picked them up at 4:20 a.m. Saturday at Quadra and Hillside with a stalled car, earlier reported missing from where it had been parked on Caledonia.

Audio-visual workshop for church workers will be held at First United Church Sunday at 3 p.m.

The class will be conducted by Miss Helen Currie, Toronto, film librarian and assistant secretary of the audio-visual aid department of information and stewardship for the United Church of Canada.

Miss Currie has been associated with Rev. Anson Moorhouse, whose religious films have received national acclaim.

Former Victoria MLA Mrs. Lydia Arsenault will speak at a meeting of the Vita-Flex Club in the YWCA Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Her subject will be "Health Through Nutrition." Vita-Flex practice will follow.

WEDNESDAY MEETINGS

Air Force Officers' Association: Officers' Mess, 865 Yates Street, 8:15 p.m. Guest speaker will be RCAF Wing Commander J. I. Davies, of the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

Starbrite Drill Club, LOBA: Orange Hall, 7:30 p.m.

Victoria Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants: Pacific Club, dinner at 7 p.m.

Raymond Budynski, 17, Central Saanich, was sentenced to six months definite and one year indeterminate when convicted in city police court today of theft of $134.65 from his employer.

He will serve his sentence in the young offenders' unit at Oakalla.

Offences took place between Aug. 24 and Sept. 28 while Budynski was employed as a collector for Victoria Box and Paper Co. and the money was not turned in on account when due.

William Forsey, Lagoon Road, Glen Lake, was in good condition today after a night in the bush.

Hunting near Becher Bay Monday, he became lost and sat the night out in the near-wilderness.

At 7:30 a.m. today he made his way to the beach and built a fire, spotted by Mrs. Joan Yates, a nearby resident. Mrs. Yates got out her small boat and picked up the lost hunter.

A nine-man search party headed by the RCMP searched for Forsey from 9 p.m. to 3 a.m., without success.

Welsh Society will hold a silver tea with musical program and door prize at 904 Government Street Friday at 8 p.m.

Funeral Rites Wednesday For Pioneer Railwayman

Funeral services will be held in Vancouver Wednesday for James Meston Stewart, 74, former deputy minister of railways in B.C. who died in Vancouver Sunday.

Mr. Stewart was born in Dundee, Scotland, spent seven years with the engineering department of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and four years as assistant to the chief engineer of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

In 1916 he enlisted in the 2nd Seaforth Highlanders of Vancouver and went overseas as a captain in the 23rd Overseas Railway Battalion. He went to France in 1917 in the Third Battalion Railway Troops, and returned to Canada a major.

He was appointed inspector of railways in 1938, and deputy minister and chief engineer in 1941. He was superannuated as deputy minister in August, 1948, but went to the PGE as consultant engineer, where he worked until his ultimate retirement in October, 1952.

Mr. Stewart was given credit for "masterminding" the PGE extension from Quesnel to Prince George, and stayed with the project beyond his original retirement date to see it completed.

Surviving are his widow, a son and three daughters.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the funeral home of W. J. Wason, 1000 Commercial St.

Interment will be in the Victoria Memorial Park cemetery.

Mr. Stewart was a member of the Victoria Golf and Country Club, the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, and the Victoria Yacht Club.

SOLARIUM MAY BECOME VACATION RESORT

Crippled children may be replaced by robust vacationers at present Queen Alexandra Solarium on shores of Mill Bay if plans of Solarium directors to sell it as tourist resort materialize. Way has been cleared to build new solarium, and revenue from sale of old would be used for this purpose. Value is estimated at $125,000, and directors feel location is ideal for holidaying. Imported Scotch Won't Increase

There is no prospect of any increase in the price of imported Scotch whisky, a spokesman for the B.C. Liquor Control Board said today.

This means that while all liquor manufactured in Canada will go up in price shortly, Canadians will be able to buy imported Scotch whisky at the old price.

The B.C. Cabinet is expected to approve increases in the retail price of Canadian liquor soon following a general increase of 15 or 16 per cent in the wholesale price.

There are, however, "moderate supplies" on hand and the increase may not become effective for several weeks, the Liquor Board spokesman said.

Jury Trial Opens On City Firm Break-In Charge

Trial of Ernest Dunstan of Victoria, charged with breaking and entering the premises of the Goodwill Bottling Co. Ltd. on Aug. 16, with intent to commit an indictable offence, opened in Criminal Assize Court today.

Crown counsel A. DeB. McPhillips, in opening the case, said he would bring evidence to show that a fire broke out in the company's premises on the night of the alleged break-in.

The fire damaged physical property and destroyed the firm's records, he said.

The trial is being held before Mr. Justice Wilson. Serving on the jury are: Charles Kenyon, R. S. Fisher, O. W. Jolly, H. C. Yetman, Fred Rushworth, H. W. Nielsen, Charlie Gaunt, Donald McNab, Francis C. Nelson, A. B. Cownden, W. J. Colven and R. J. Wray.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

A. McCormick, Victoria, $250 and licence suspension for impaired driving resulting in collision with two parked cars Oct. 15.

Merle D. Rimmer, 1221 Yukon, $40 for driving while under suspension and $25 for giving a false statement in regard to his licence.

Michael J. Horvath, 2725 Claude, $25 for failing to give the right-of-way to a pedestrian, which he struck but did not injure Sept. 29 Government and Johnson.

Tour in Fairfield With Community Chest Canvasser Shows More Being Given

BY DINAH KERR

Doors and pocketbooks were opened without hesitation on at least one street today as 1,000 Community Chest volunteers swung into their two-day canvass of Greater Victoria.

Chest officials have set a goal of $220,000. In two hours this morning Miss R. M. Simpson, vice-president of the Victorian Order of Nurses and a "team captain" in Fairfield, visited 25 homes and collected almost $70.

Donations ranged from $1 to $50 and the donors gave gladly. One lady, on a "special visits" list, contributed $200. There was only one refusal as Miss Simpson and I knocked on door after door on a short street in Fairfield.

Some couldn't afford to give very much, but all were willing with money and cheques to swell the coffers of the Community Chest.

A FEW EXTRA

Housewives whose husbands had contributed through payroll deduction squeezed an extra few dollars from the house-keeping money to make a donation of their own.

Our only refusal was from an elderly pensioner who promised he would contribute as soon as he found employment.

"When you haven't got it, you haven't got it," he said to Miss Simpson's gentle urging. "You have to look after yourself first."

A pin-curl teenager, peeking around the door, invited Miss Simpson to call back when her parents were home.

"See, I'm not working steady," she explained. "I don't have much money."

Miss Simpson "understood," but shot me a twinkling look as we left the house.

"I can understand the old-

New Trial Won On Hanging Day

Carey Murder Appeal Allowed by Court Here

The appeal of James Carey, 26, against a conviction of murdering Vancouver policeman Gordon Sinclair last December, today was upheld by the B.C. Court of Appeal. The court, by a majority of four to one, ordered a new trial for Carey.

The judgment coincided with the day Carey was originally scheduled to die on the gallows—before the date of execution was changed to November 20.

Mr. Justice Sidney Smith was the only dissenting judge. He favored dismissing the appeal and upholding the murder conviction.

Justices who upheld the appeal were C. H. O'Halloran, H. W. Davey, James Coady and F. A. Sheppard.

Mr. Justice H. W. Davey rendered the judgment of the court in the absence of Mr. Justice O'Halloran who suffered a stroke two weeks ago. Reasons for judgment will be handed down later, he said.

Crown counsel W. A. Schultz indicated there was a strong possibility that the Crown may appeal the court's decision to the Supreme Court of Canada in view of important points of law involved.

"The decision to appeal the court's decision will rest with the attorney-general's department," he said.

At the trial, Carey and his companion, Joseph Gordon, 34, were jointly found guilty of shooting Constable Sinclair, Nov. 20.

The policeman was shot through the head when he stepped out of the prowler car to investigate suspicious men outside a factory near Granville Street Bridge.

Gordon was found guilty of firing the shot which killed the policeman, but Carey was held equally responsible for the murder as he was a partner in a "criminal errand."

Gordon, like Carey, appealed the murder conviction, but the Appeal Court dismissed his appeal in a judgment handed down on Sept. 27.

He is scheduled to be hanged Nov. 20.

Norman D. Mullins, counsel for Carey, won the appeal on points of law.

The defence counsel chiefly attacked trial Justice A. M. Manson's charge to the jury, which he claimed was biased.

He contended the justice did not adequately present the case of the defence to the jury.

C. Saanich Nabs Young Escapees

Pair Found Asleep in Stolen Car; Other Youths Picked Up in U.S.

Two juvenile escapees from Brannan Lake Boys' Industrial School have been arrested.

They are being held by Saanich police for break-ins and car thefts here and in Nanaimo.

The boys admitted accompanying the third boy in a break-in at Parkdale Super Market, 3400 Douglas, early Friday, and later the two took jewelry from an Iris Street home.

Curran was fined a total of $260 in city court two weeks ago on charges of taking a car without the owner's consent, careless driving and driving without a licence, and was to pay the fines in weekly installments of $50.

Garth Clouston, 18, 2247 McCoy, was given a six-month suspended sentence on a charge of mischief resulting from the incident, and Brian Tension, 18, no fixed address, has pleaded guilty to the charge and another of theft of a portable radio from the house.

HOME ENTERED

Storekeeper E. D. Bullock captured the third boy when the trio awakened him as they broke into his store.

Later, a car reported stolen in Nanaimo was found on Iris and the home of H. H. Cook, 1098 Iris, was reported entered.

Second car, the one in which the two fugitives were found, was taken from a lot near B.C. Forest Products, Gorge Road.

Meanwhile, American authorities reported to Saanich police they have picked up a Victoria youth, two juvenile girls and a Camp Gordon desert, found in a car at Bishop, Calif.

The city youth, Ronald Curran, 19, 69 Menzies, is wanted for questioning by both Saanich and city police.

The girls, 15 and 16 years old, are wanted by Saanich on incorrigibility charges in juvenile court.

The army deserter and a fifth person found in the car in California, were not identified.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Magnetic Block Lifts Lids
From Newly-Opened Tin Cans

By PENNY SAVER

The operation of opening a can of vegetables sounds relatively simple, doesn't it? But how many times have you discovered that just as the lid is completely severed from the sides of the tin, it neatly falls inside. The removal of the lid from the centre of the container usually means spilled vegetables and some extra work. Always one to use the easiest methods when preparing meals, I've unearthed, in my roamings, a wonderful new well can opener that has a magnetic lid lifter. As soon as the lid is cut all the way around, the magnet attached just above the cutting section, draws the lid up and out. This opener is hinged so that it can be folded against the wall and out of the way. The price is $2.29.

A whisker for batters, eggs and such works very much like a child's toy top. Press the handle quickly up and down, and a rounded coil whisker turns round and round. This is a one-handed whisker so that you can hold onto the bowl with one hand, and work the whisker with the other. The price, 49 cents, isn't much to pay for such a handy kitchen utensil.

Italian hand-woven style baskets for rolls, bread, fruit or candy are made of popular flexible plastic. They're easily washed with soap and water, so can be used for any number of things. A fine wicker-work plastic weave gives these roomy oblong baskets a delicate look. Actually, they're as strong as can be. You can buy them in white, yellow or pink for 69 cents each.

You Noel Coward fans will love the inexpensive long-playing record I found in town. A tribute to the great man, it features a number of songs that everyone enjoys. "I'll See You Again," "Mad Dogs and Englishmen," "The Statly Homes of England," are some of the favorites. The price is wonderful—99 cents. At the same price are many other records featuring well-known stars. If you're a George Shearing addict, you'll find some of those there, too.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find the items mentioned here in the column.

Crepes Francoise Now Made
Easy With a Pancake Mix

As the French language is to the diplomat, French cuisine is to the gourmet. No collection of recipes is complete without a sample of French cuisine, especially when it's a French dessert. Crepes Francoise make an interesting party dessert and provide an international finale to a perfect meal.

To call a crepe a pancake is an unforgivable insult to a French chef, but the modern day pancake mix still makes easy mixins for both of them. Just pour the batter into a hot skillet and roll the pan until the bottom is evenly coated. Then when the bottom is well browned and the edges crisp, over it goes, until the second side turns golden.

Crepes Francoise
Crepes: 3 eggs, beaten, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup pancake mix.
Orange Sauce: 1/2 cup sugar, 2 teaspoon corn starch, 1 cup orange juice, 1/4 cup lemon juice.

Combine beaten eggs and milk. Add pancake mix, stirring until smooth. Place about a teaspoon of batter in a small frying pan and heat until the butter bubbles. Pour in barely enough batter to cover bottom of the pan with a thin layer. Tilt pan from side to side to spread batter over entire surface. Bake until delicately browned on under side; turn and bake on other side. Fold crepes in quarters and serve with orange sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Orange Sauce: Combine sugar and corn starch in saucepan. Add orange juice and lemon juice; bring to a boil. Simmer about 10 minutes. Serve hot.

Note: Sugar cubes may be dipped in lemon extract and set aflame when crepes are served.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Each Cream Serves
A Different Purpose

Q.—"Would you please tell me in your question box the difference between cold cream, vanishing cream and cleansing cream?"

A.—Cleansing cream is just as it sounds. It is for cleansing the face and neck. Many women who have dry skin find this more satisfactory than soap and water.

Cold cream is for softening and lubricating the skin. Vanishing cream disappears into the skin and is used as a make-up base.

Q.—"Please tell me if you feel it is possible to dress attractively and be attractive although I am five feet nine inches tall. Isn't it unusual for one to grow taller in the mid-twenties?"

A.—Most people have their full height by the age of 25. Forget your height. Most of the models and many famous beauties in the entertainment world are as tall as you are and taller. The most important thing is to develop lovely posture. There are stores which specialize in clothes designed especially for the taller-than-average woman.

Q.—"I am in my late twenties and for the past several years my teeth have developed many cavities. Every time I go to the dentist (I go regularly) he puts more gold in my teeth. I feel embarrassed even to smile with a mouthful of gold. Should

Women in Employment
Topic of Panel Series

Training Women for Employment was topic of a panel discussion, first in a series of three dealing with women in employment, sponsored by the Local Council of Women, at Monday's meeting.

The panel was made up of Dr. Henrietta Anderson, former vice-principal of the Provincial Normal School; Miss Ethel Bruce, who was for 15 years convener of the committee on trades and professions; M. E. McDonald, apprenticeship councillor for the department of labor; Miss Beatrice Sutton, and Charles Trotter, Victoria High School teachers.

A question and answer period within the panel brought up a discussion of the needs in industry and business for women help, especially qualified help.

With lack of training courses, training on the job would seem to be the partial remedy, the panel decided, for space at the vocational schools that are available is limited and all trades and skills are not covered. The need for a vocational school in Victoria was expressed.

Comments and questions from the floor brought up the subject of aptitude tests in the schools. Tests are given but results are not disclosed to either student or parent. Councillors, aware of the students' aptitudes, according to the tests, advise

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

About in-law relationship:

My sister's husband is my brother-in-law. My husband says my sister is his sister-in-law but he can't see how he can say that his husband (my brother-in-law) is also his brother-in-law. He says there is no relationship at all. I say that my brother-in-law is also his brother-in-law. Which is correct?

Louise Davis answers:

To be technical your husband is right, but I'm in your camp. However, it is generally considered that the husbands of sisters are brothers-in-law. It is obvious that the relationship between the two men is a little more remote but not completely outside the family.

Each man may have nephews and nieces of the other couple, so why shouldn't they accept each other as brothers-in-law? If you take a poll as I did, you probably will find that about eight of 10 persons will say, and with conviction, that the sisters' husbands are brothers-in-law.

Green pepper cheese soufflé is a good supper dish. To make this, remove the cores and seeds of green peppers, one for each serving, and fill the pepper cases with cheese soufflé mixture. Bake about 40 minutes in a moderate oven, or until the soufflé pops up over the edge of the cases.

Welcoming Guests

In ancient Egypt it was a custom to anoint with oil the heads of guests as they entered a dwelling.

Flavor B.C. cabbage with lemon juice. It adds real zest to the flavor.

Dressings for vegetables should be used with imagination. The great favorite is melted butter. To this you may add a little lemon juice, grated onion or orange rind, paprika, chives, parsley or other herbs, spices. Worcestershire sauce, grated cheese or horseradish.

Intrepid YWCA Worker Again Signs Up for Gold Coast

TORONTO (CP)—Despite 30 years' continuous overseas service, Estelle Amaron, 57, has signed on for another three-year tour of foreign duty with the YWCA.

She is looking forward with enthusiasm to her new post as national organizing secretary in the Gold Coast.

A vigorous former physical training instructor, with sparkling brown eyes and a zest for life, Miss Amaron will fly to the British West African colony in January after completing a cross-Canada speaking tour and visiting relatives.

Trained as a physical training teacher at McGill University and with a teaching diploma from Macdonald College, Estelle Amaron took her first job overseas with the YWCA in Burma and followed it with appointments in Ceylon and Sierra Leone.

HELPS NATIVES PROGRESS

As an ambassador for Canada and the YWCA world council, she has helped women, who until recently had no rights or privileges, to take a useful place in their country and the world. She explains that in the countries where she has worked the YWCA groups have few of the facilities that Canadian branches have. They are lucky if they have a building of their own and organization is mainly of a welfare nature, catering for girls from kindergarten up.

"I receive several offers to go into government work in these countries, but I've always felt that my job was with the YW," Miss Amaron said in an interview at her sister's home here.

"Perhaps the most tempting offer was to organize physical training for women for the Burmese government," she added.

WAR YEARS IN CEYLON
Miss Amaron was in Ceylon for six years during the Second World War and returned to Burma to reorganize the YWCA in 1946.

She is enthusiastic about progress made in the five years she spent in the small British colony of Sierra Leone. Earlier this year she handed over her job as national organizing secretary there to the first African woman ever appointed head of a YWCA group.

Now, Miss Amaron will go to a similar organizing job in the Gold Coast, six hours flying time from Sierra Leone.

Born the daughter of a Presbyterian minister in Montreal, she has always enjoyed good health in the hot countries in which she has worked.

"Apart from two motor accidents, I've been very lucky," she said with a smile. In one accident she suffered a cut leg but in the other a kneecap was shattered and she had to be flown to England for an operation.

She explained that she fully realized the wonderful spirit of the people of Sierra Leone when she got back and found the money for her plane fare had been collected.

"They also donated money to victims of Hurricane Hazel, here in Toronto, and to the east coast flood disaster in England. And collecting a few pounds or dollars is a gigantic task for them," she said.

Miss Amaron has no plans for retiring yet. She loves her work and is proud that each of her "charges" achieved a standard which allowed her to hand over to a native-born YWCA organizer and move on to another country which needed her help.

Wilma Wright, Lionel Tashdjian Wed in Early Evening Ceremony

While the organ sounded a traditional wedding hymn, Miss Wilma Grace Wright, on the arm of her father, entered Centennial United Church to become the bride of Lionel V. Tashdjian in an early evening ceremony performed by Rev. Douglas B. Carr.

Tall white baskets of chrysanthemums in tones of gold, bronze and burgundy formed the setting for the ceremony in which were united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Wright, 1345 Haultain Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Tashdjian, 395 West 23rd Avenue, Vancouver. Mrs. F. Wilmschurst was organist and soloist Arthur Courville, who sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

A traditional white satin gown styled with a scoop neckline, lily point sleeves and a low waistline styled into a v at the back was worn by the bride. The floor-length skirt was slightly on train. A white satin shirred headpiece held her misting fingertip veil of Chantilly lace and her only jewelry was the groom's gift, a single strand of Oriental culture pearls with matching earrings. Her bridal bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis was centered with a white orchid.

Four attendants in autumn-shaded taffeta gowns styled like the bride gown were in the entourage. Matron of honor, Mrs. C. Arkinstall, wore gold shot taffeta with matching headpiece and mits and carried a bouquet of bronze and gold chrysanthemums. Bridesmaid, Mrs. N. Webber, wore a green shot taffeta gown, and bridesmaid, Miss M. Wratlen, red shot taffeta. Both wore matching headpieces and carried bouquets of cream and bronze chrysanthemums. Flower girl, Miss Diane Collard, wore a pale green taffeta frock with an overlay of pink nylon velvety. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

The groom had D. Green of Vancouver as best man, and William Johnson and C. Arkinstall as ushers.

Pink and white streamers and white bells combined with autumn flowers decorated the Century Room of the Monterey Restaurant for the reception party which followed the ceremony. Pink roses and a four-tier wedding cake centered the bride's table. Miss B. McCormick assisted at the reception, with the bride's guest book. J. McCormick, uncle of the groom, proposed the toast to the bride's future happiness.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to be spent motoring to the southern United States, the bride wore a pale blue suit trimmed with iridescent grey sequins with grey shoes and a fur jacket. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Tashdjian will make their home at 1102 Rock Street.

Mrs. H. L. Smith Canadian Club Guest Speaker

Mrs. H. L. Smith will speak to the Women's Canadian Club Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. on the subject "Pilgrimage 1956." A past president of the club, Mrs. Smith was recently presented with an honorary membership for her constant interest in the progress of Canada, especially in Canadian Clubs throughout the province. She is now president of the Regional Council of Canadian Clubs.

Although born in England, Mrs. Smith graduated from Victoria High School and Victoria College before taking her B.A. from McGill University. Later, she taught at Strawberry Vale, Tolmie School and Victoria High School, where her subjects were English and mathematics.

Mrs. Smith's wide interests include the Citizenship Council, of which she is a past president, the YWCA and English-Speaking Union. She has recently returned from a trip to Europe.

FUN FAIR FEATURE

A feature of the annual Fun Fair at St. Margaret's School next Saturday, will be an antique lamp, which one of the general conveners of the fair, Mrs. O. J. Williams and her daughter, Barbara, a student at the school, admire. The lamp and oak in the lamp came from a Scottish sailing vessel, which was wrecked on the west coast of Vancouver Island in 1870, and is polished only by hand rubbing and natural oils in the wood. Other general conveners are Mrs. J. Barracough and Mrs. R. R. Wilde. The Fun Fair begins at 2 p.m., and features a fashion show, stalls and afternoon tea.

In Honor of the Bride

Miss Lillian Curtis, whose marriage to Mr. Robert Etches takes place early in November, was honored at a shower party given by her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. E. Curtis, 1771 Veda Place. A corsage of pink rosebuds was presented to the bride-elect, while her mother, Mrs. J. C. Curtis received pink carnations. A clothes basket decorated in pastels held the many miscellaneous gifts. A lace-covered refreshment table was centered with a bowl of pink chrysanthemums flanked by pink candles. In crystal holders. Guests were Mrs. W. F. Oakley, Mrs. K. Whittle, Mrs. H. Anderson, Mrs. R. Wharton, Mrs. G. Cooper, Mrs. S. Jackson, Mrs. F. Lister, Mrs. R. Ferneyough, Mrs. R. Jones, Mrs. A. Palmer, Mrs. W. Prior, Mrs. F. Spence, Mrs. J. Fair, Mrs. C. Arkinstall, Miss Joyce Maxwell and Miss Ruth Davies.

Miss Devona Simpson was guest of honor at a shower party recently when members of the Victoria Girls' Drill Team were guests at the home of Miss Eunice Kalk, 2537 Prior Street. A corsage of red roses was presented to the bride-elect. A large decorated basket held the gifts. Present were Mrs. Louella Denison, Mrs. Noni Clarke, Misses Marie Johnson, Irene Foot, Shirley Fulton, Ann Sprinkling, Amy Koller, Lucille McBurney, Florence Scrimshaw, Sheila Warren, Maureen Clarke, Elsie Fernslet, Betty Dolman, Val Speed, Eleanor Wickett, Marlene Matthews and Sylvia Crocker.

Hospital Alumnae Annual Fall Fair

Miss M. Richmond, Royal Jubilee Hospital director of nursing, will open the annual fall fair of the Hospital Alumnae, Wednesday at 2 p.m. Tea will be served in the "Pink Room" from 3 to 5 p.m., and there will be stalls featuring home cooking, candy and novelties.

General conveners are Mrs. N. McConnell and Mrs. R. Noel. Other conveners are Mrs. D. Pite, Mrs. G. E. Graham, home cooking; Mrs. J. Dixon, candy; Miss E. Webb, white elephant; Miss M. Atkin, books; Mrs. E. A. Mourant, Miss M. Phillips, handicrafts; Mrs. C. McLaren, plants; Mrs. P. Turgoose, children's clothing; Mrs. C. A. Flower, aprons. Mrs. N. McConnell is in charge of contest tickets.

All-White Dinner Party Theme

A formal dinner party was enjoyed by 50 guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hilton, 1715 Rockland Avenue, Saturday evening. An all-white decorative theme predominated in the dining room, the table being centred by an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and green fern interlaced among five slender white candles. A buffet table, decorated in pink and white, was placed in the bay of the dining room. Following dinner, games were played in the Chinese room, the drawing room and the morning room.

Reception at College

The principal, Dr. H. Hickman, and members of the faculty of Victoria College, will entertain at a reception in the Union Building, following the annual prize-giving in the college auditorium Friday evening. Award winners, their parents and guests, will attend.

Home From Oregon

Mrs. H. B. Olson returned to Victoria on Monday evening from Heppner, Ore., where she was present at the celebration that marked the 100th birthday of her great-grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Rieth. The centenarian was born in Missouri and crossed the plains to Oregon in a covered wagon in 1860. Her memory is still keen and she recalls vividly, among other events, the Indian massacre at Snake River. The town of Rieth, west of Pendleton, Ore., is named for her late husband, who came from France as a young man. Mrs. Rieth has lived the past 35 years in Heppner. She has eight great-great grandchildren, four of them in Victoria. They are Kirk and Craig, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Olson, and Leslie and Tracy, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Olson.

Dinner Guests

Cocktail Party

Lounge of the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club was the setting for a cocktail party, Saturday evening, to honor new members of the club. Guests at the party included Mr. and Mrs. William Dugbar, Dr. and Mrs. Donald J. Elder, Mr. and Mrs. James Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Neville Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Casar, Mr. and Mrs. George McMin, Misses Donna Kerr, Claire Collison, Dale Heal, Joyce Butler, Margaret Massey, Joyce Folbigg, Gill Watson.

Pearson-Lowe Wedding Vows Exchanged in Knox Church

Miss Doreen Beryl Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Lowe, Grant Road, Sooke, and John Edward Pearson, Milne's Landing, son of Mr. William E. Pearson and the late Mrs. Pearson of Rich Hill, County Armagh, North Ireland, were recently married in Knox Presbyterian Church. Rev. Robt. J. Wray performed the ceremony. White and bronze chrysanthemums decorated the church, and Mrs. Helen Yost, Sooke, played traditional organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length gown of white net over taffeta with a strapless bodice and lace jacket with lily-point sleeves. Her finger-tip length veil with scalloped edge missed from a double coronet of misted pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Marlene Levi, and the bridesmatron, Mrs. Thomas Lowe, wore ballerina-length gowns of yellow and blue net respectively with lace boleros and yellow and pink carried cascade bouquets of pink chrysanthemums.

Little Julie Banner was flower girl in a pink embossed nylon dress with bolero. She wore pink accessories and carried a basket of pink mums. The bride's mother had a dress of pale green with rhinestone and seed pearl trim. Yellow and black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations completed her ensemble.

Thomas Lowe, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were William Wilson and Frank Carosella.

A reception was held at Grouse Nest. A three-tier wedding cake, decorated with pink roses and silver maple leaves, flanked by white candles in silver candelabra, centred the table. The cake was made by the bride's mother and decorated by a cousin of the bride. A. C. Sullivan proposed the toast.

Out-of-town guests were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Beryl Lowe, Mrs. Violet Alcorn, Mrs. Kay Morton and Norma, Roy Lowe and David Lowe, all of Duncan.

For traveling the bride wore a winter beige coat with pink and avocado accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. On returning from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Pearson will live on Kaitasin Road, Sooke.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to John Hammel, age 12, of Indianapolis, Ind., for his question:

How wide is the continental shelf? The tide creeps up so far and then retreats. This is the dividing line between land and ocean. Your favorite beach slopes deeper and deeper below the water out to sea. This is the continental shelf that surrounds the big land masses. In most places it gradually slopes to a depth of 75 fathoms. Hence, the continental shelves begin a few feet or inches below the water at tide line and sink to around 450 feet.

In Arctic and Antarctic regions, the continental shelves sink to an even greater depth. Perhaps the pressing weight of ice has something to do with this. The depth of the water here is hard to measure. Soundings from a few spots in the Arctic indicate that the shelf falls away to a depth of 100 to 200 fathoms. The shelf off the icy continent of Antarctica is deeper still, the deepest in the world.

All over the world, the continental shelves end in a sudden drop. The ocean floor suddenly plunges in sheer cliffs and escarpments anywhere from 12,000 to 30,000 feet deep. Below these rocky tors are the true ocean beds, the huge basins filled with calm, dark mystery.

As you would expect, the continental shelves also vary in width. They tend to narrow off the shores where young mountains are growing. The world's newest mountains are the coast-als along the Pacific Coast of North America. Here the continental shelf is no wider than 20 miles or less before it plunges into the deep abyss of the Pacific.

A strong ocean current also seems to go with a narrow shelf. The Gulf Stream presses hard against the shoreline along the southeastern states. The continental shelf begins to narrow south of Cape Hatteras. Off the south coast of Florida it is but a doorway to the deep ocean basin of the Atlantic.

North of Cape Hatteras, the shelf widens to 150 miles. West of all is the shelf in the Arctic regions. Here the gentle slope runs under the sea for 750 miles before it plunges down the steep cliffs that hold the deep ocean.

Life in these continental shelf waters is vastly different from life in the ocean abysses. It more closely resembles life on the land. In fact, much of the area has been dry land. From time to time, through the long ages the sea has advanced and retreated. Large areas of the shelves were dry land in Ice Age days when so much water was held trapped in the massive glaciers.

Several times, places now under the sea have been clothed in trees and pastures that supported four-footed animals. Now the pastures are waving seaweeds, the animals gliding fish. Sunlight filters through the shallow waters over the shelves. There are hills and dales, tossing waves, storms and changing seasons. In the deep abyss there is no light, no plant life, no changing seasons and only a few fishes too weird to imagine.

Does any planet have the same gravity as the earth? In order to have the same surface gravity as the earth, another planet would have to be exactly the same weight and size as the earth. The gravitation of any heavenly body depends upon its weight, or mass. The surface gravity depends upon mass and size, or distance from the centre of gravity. Since no two planets are exactly alike in these respects, the surface gravity of each is different.

Gravity gives weight to the objects on a planet. Your weight on earth would be different on each of the other planets. Mars is both lighter and smaller than the earth. If your weight is 100 pounds on earth it would be only 36 pounds on Mars. On Venus you would weigh 83 pounds and on little Mercury only 25 pounds. But your muscles are trained to cope with earth's heavier gravity. Imagine the giant sized steps and aerial leaps you could take on these planets!

NOT YET, HERB. BUT I'LL LET YOU KNOW AS SOON AS I DO.

WHAT DID YOU FIND ON EXAMINING HER, FRED?

I'VE ORDERED A CO. SUGAR, AND B.U.N. ON HER BLOOD. IS THERE ANYTHING ELSE I SHOULD ORDER?

AS A MATTER OF FACT, I COULDN'T FIND ANYTHING ABNORMAL, EXCEPT FOR SOME DECREASED REFLEXES, DR. BENNETT.

LET'S GET A BROMIDE ON THAT BLOOD AND THEN DO A SPINAL TAP.

Hotelmen Favor Smaller Beer Glass

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A poll of British Columbia hotelmen conducted by The Vancouver Sun indicated today that most favored a reduction of half-an-ounce in the size of the present beer glass.

The hotelmen, assembled in Vancouver for their annual convention, said they favored the change because they aren't making a reasonable profit on the currently-familiar 7½-ounce glass beer.

Toe Blake Scouts Ottawa Juniors

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Toe Blake of Montreal Canadiens will go to Ottawa today to look over the Ottawa Canadian Juniors for a possible replacement for injured Henri "Pocket Rocket" Richard.

Maglie to Get 'Day' at Home Town

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The home folks are to give Sal Maglie a "day" on Oct. 27.

A motorcade around the city, a children's program in the state army and a civic dinner are to mark the celebration for the baseball star.

Rains Cause Floods in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Torrential rains triggered by a freak autumn storm caused serious flooding in several south Florida communities today, closed many roads; disrupted communications and dealt a heavy blow to truck farmers.

Shoe-Fitting X-Rays Dangerous

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Martin today warned Canadians of the "potential risk to health" from shoe-fitting X-ray machines and said their use should be discontinued except as required for medical reasons.

Adenauer Reshuffles Cabinet

BONN (Reuters)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today made a major reshuffle of his cabinet, giving the key post of defence minister to Atomic Minister Franz Josef Strauss.

Strauss, 42, who takes over the post from Theodor Blank, advocates an efficient, modern army for Western Germany.

A major surprise of the long-expected cabinet shakeup was that Adenauer retained Franz Bluecher as vice-chancellor.

Marciano May Referee Edmonton Bout

EDMONTON (CP)—Rocky Marciano, retired world heavyweight champion, may be a guest referee at the 10-round middleweight bout Saturday night between Arley Sifer of Pittsburgh and Wilf Greaves of Edmonton.

Duke of Edinburgh at Kenya

MOMBASA, Kenya (Reuters)—The Duke of Edinburgh arrived here today by air from Entebbe, Uganda, for the first stop of his extended world tour.

Several hundred invited guests greeted the smiling duke as he descended from his four-engine airliner.

Action Asked on Dutch Palace Rift

THE HAGUE (UP)—The Dutch press stepped up its demands today that something be done to solve the crisis threatening Holland's royal family. For the second day Dutch newspapers strongly criticized officials for their handling of the rift between Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard.

CAPTAIN HERO
AS AIRLINER
'DITCHED'31 Lives Saved
On Ocean Drama

(From BUP and AP Dispatches)

A skillful pilot and alert rescue crews teamed up today to save 31 persons aboard an airliner who faced death for more than four hours.

The tense drama was played out in the Pacific Ocean when a Pan-American Airways strato-clipper developed engine trouble at a point of no return.

The plane was mid-way between San Francisco and Honolulu when it radioed that two of its four engines were failing. The message said there was no other choice but to ditch in the Pacific, so the plane circled until daylight and started to dump fuel.

The plane's pilot, Captain Richard Ogg, spotted the U.S. Coast Guard weather cutter Ponchartrain and circled it for about four hours. When the weather grew more favorable, Ogg eased the big plane down and ditched it.

TWO ENGINES OUT

By that time one engine had given out completely and another was whirling wildly out of control.

The plane hit three-foot waves tail first and broke in half. But all aboard were rescued and are in good condition.

PULLS PICKETS
AT LADORE

Rock and Tunnel Workers' Union today withdrew its pickets from Upper Campbell Lake and Ladore Falls projects of the B.C. Power Commission, and several hundred other tradesmen returned to work.

Union officials said, however, that union members were not at work, and that the strike started a month ago is still on.

A meeting will be held in Vancouver Wednesday to try to effect a settlement of the inter-union squabble.

If B.C. Power Commission can persuade the rock and tunnel men to complete a small amount of grouting in the Ladore tunnel, the Ladore generating plant can start operating at 35,000 horsepower capacity by Nov. 30. Eventually the plant will produce 70,000 horsepower.

Contributing factors in the union decision to remove the picket line likely were court decisions handed down in Vancouver Monday, and a union rally in Campbell River Monday night when the workers were advised to return to the International Hod Carriers' Union.

EDEN, LLOYD
ON SUEZ TALK

(From Reuters and UP)

PARIS—The British prime minister and foreign minister, Sir Anthony Eden and Selwyn Lloyd, arrived here by air from London tonight for talks with French leaders on the next step in the Suez Canal crisis.

Announcing the unexpected visit, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau told the National Assembly: "These Anglo-French talks will be of capital importance."

"We have not yet finished playing our hand. We shall see who wins this game when the rubber is over."

OTHER PROBLEMS

Pineau said the talks would also examine other Middle East problems, "which are of course related to the Suez Canal situation, including the situation in Israel, Jordan and Iraq."

Pineau added: "We intend that the rights of Israel shall be maintained as much as the rights of anybody else."

Eden told reporters at the airport: "The object of our journey is to discuss the common policy of our two countries in the question of the Suez Canal following on the meeting of the Security Council."

It was learned that the statesmen will consider the advisability of sending a test convoy, including an Israeli ship, through the canal in the near future.

SHEPILLOV THERE

Earlier Pineau and Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov opened a new series of talks on the Suez dispute here today. The atmosphere was cleared somewhat by a statement in Moscow by Soviet Vice-Premier Anastas Mikoyan upholding Israel's position on the Suez and by an optimistic editorial in Pravda, the official Soviet Communist party newspaper. The Pineau-Shepilov talks coincided with the opening of debate on the Suez crisis today by the French National Assembly.

Saanich, Victoria
Would Share Project

By PETE LOUDON, City Hall Reporter

Two north-central Victoria sites are being considered for erection of the proposed $2,000,000 Victoria-Saanich joint municipal hall—the site of the Protestant Orphanage and Topaz Park.

Both suggestions will receive further study by a joint committee of the two municipal councils which met today at City Hall.

Capital Region Planning Board officials are co-operating in the site studies.

The committee, headed by Alderman W. F. Pinfold, today ruled out several other suggested sites which were located in the downtown area.

Chief among these was the old Christ Church Cathedral site, roughly bounded by Quadra, Burdett, Blanshard and City Hall. Broughton. Several years ago, during the term of office of former mayor, Percy George, the provincial government was said to be holding its lands in this area for the city, and would transfer them for City Hall purposes for a nominal fee.

Planners Suggest Topaz, Cathedral

Capital Region Planning Board had suggested the Topaz Park site and the old Cathedral site, leaning slightly toward the latter. Final decision and recommendation was to have come from a special CRPB meeting Wednesday.

The Orphanage site was suggested by Ald. Robert Macmillan. He said it was most central of all possible sites in Greater Victoria, "and in time this will be an integrated area." "At the top of Hillside and Cook, it is in a direct line to Oak Bay and Esquimalt, close to Saanich and in the geographical centre on very high ground."

"The Orphanage property is almost ideal. It is no longer an orphanage but a paid proposition for children of broken homes rather than for orphans."

The committee was informed that whereas the suggested hall would require at least four acres to build on and landscape, there are 11 acres in the orphanage site. Value is about $9,000 an acre.

It was not determined whether acquisition of the Orphanage site would require demolishing the present buildings. That will be studied by the CRPB to determine if the rocky nature of the hilltop would permit room enough for the proposed hall and a parking area sufficient to hold one car for each employee.

An earlier report by the planning group suggested the new hall should be a five-storey building. One wing has been envisioned for each municipal body.

While apparently favoring the Orphanage site, the committee stressed it will give further study to the suggested hall.

Jordan Receiving Arms From Syria

GJE (AP)—A report that Iraq troops will not move into Jordan yet tended today to relax tension on both sides of the Israeli-Jordan border. But Syria announced she is sending in a gift of heavy weapons to help in the defence of Jordan's frontier with Israel.

Syria's military attaché in Amman, the Jordanian capital, told a press conference that a military mission from his country accompanied the weapons to train the Jordanians to use them. He said more arms consignment from Syria will reach Jordan later this month and early in November.

Oak Bay Calls Vote on Milk

Group Favoring Raw Milk Sale Wins Promise at Council Meeting

A referendum will be held in Oak Bay at the December municipal elections on whether sale of raw milk should be allowed in the municipality.

Decision to go to the electorate for an opinion on the question was made by Oak Bay Council after a lively meeting with a group of about 100 rate-payers Monday night.

Many of the group objected strongly to the council's stand against raw milk sale.

They were led by T. W. L. Mutch, 2044 Beach, who hotly objected to Reeve Fred Norris' ruling on council policy permitting only one spokesman—Mr. Mutch—to address council.

Council then voted to adjourn, turning the hearing into a public meeting. Except by special consent, no member of the public is allowed to speak at a council meeting.

In his brief, Mr. Mutch said it was with "dismay, consternation and amazement" that he

Only V.I. Council to Take Freedom Away

"Oak Bay is the only council on Vancouver Island which has taken this freedom away"—the freedom of choice to buy either raw or pasteurized milk as municipal legislation would allow.

He said in 42 years of raw milk sales in Oak Bay, there had never been a case of disease attributed to milk.

The spokesman hoped users of raw milk will "fight to the last drop for it."

There had arisen "an intolerable situation which should not be allowed to exist in any civilized municipality," Mr. Mutch said.

Fitz-Roy George, 1589 Wilmut, addressed councillors. "If it entails changing someone's mind, then change it. I'm not pleading for a favor. I'm contending for a right."

Public Health Safeguard, Says Doctor

Dr. Stewart explained his "main reason in asking council to go along with a provincial statute banning raw milk sale was in the interests of public health. The point is, in this district disease can arise. Even pasteurization cannot eliminate all chance of disease."

He said in the past few weeks Oak Bay had had one case of typhoid fever, not due to milk, but for three weeks it went unrecognized, during which time it could have been spread by a dairy worker.

"This thing has not been passed over lightly," Coun. Charles H. G. Mann said. "Perhaps we made a mistake." But he added, "council believed it did the right thing."

He quoted the Clyne report as saying pasteurization throughout the province is necessary to wiping out diseases which thrive in milk. It also stated, he said, that anyone who wants to take the risk of drinking raw milk should not be deprived of it.

Majority of council, after considering all points, decided to accept the provincial legislation in the interests of public safety. He added council regretted the inconvenience to those residents who wish to purchase raw milk in Oak Bay, "but the welfare of the majority had to be our first consideration."

"Most of the council are of the opinion that if the question was referred to the electors... that they would favor the sale of pasteurized milk by a very substantial majority," the councillor said.

Mr. George challenged council to call a vote to determine just what the majority does want.

Coun. F. W. Hawes agreed a

SCHOOL SECRET

Le Chat Dehors Le Sac

By PETE LOUDON.

A certain French language teacher who has been passing himself off to some Victoria grade fivers as a newly-arrived Parisian who couldn't speak English, may as well come clean.

Le chat dehors de sac. A student assures us that means the cat is out of the bag.

This teacher launched an experimental French class with the junior graders (French used to be a high school course) with gestures and nasal noises. He made it clear if the kids were going to get credits they'd better learn to understand him because he couldn't dig them.

Turns out to be so much French mayonnaise. Douglas V. Parker, who is conducting 10 French classes for some 275 grade five pupils made a glowing report to Greater Victoria School Board Monday night.

"I am following two basic methods," he wrote the board. "In three of the four top classes I am conducting the class entirely in French, no English being used at all."

"I extended this method to other bright classes after it seemed to work very well at one class in Willows School."

"At the moment, the French-taught classes are making greater progress than the English-taught classes of an equivalent calibre."

"I have already carried out complete 20-minute periods entirely in French with everyone of the 10 classes to prove to myself it can be done, even with the slower groups."

Mr. Parker's report impressed the board and brought a report from municipal inspector John Gough regarding teaching of English to immigrant children here.

A special class at North Ward School cannot accept a number of newcomer children who should be enrolled, he stated. He says another class should be started.

Meantime, a 17-year-old French girl has been sent to Victoria High School to pick up what she can despite the fact she has no English.

Four youngsters from Holland have been placed in various elementary schools.

It was explained this is not a hardship because the teacher at the special North Ward class speaks only English and even there the youngsters must learn mostly on their own initiative.

One boy who in recent years attended the special language class was last year a scholarship winner at Victoria High School.

Centennial Committee Receives Suggestions to Mark Birthday

Greater Victoria Centennial Committee Monday withheld opinion on suggestions the 1958 provincial grants for capital works be spent either on a new Royal Jubilee Hospital wing or conversion of the Memorial Arena to a civic auditorium.

It was pointed out the committee at present has authority to expend money for celebrations.

The group will ask district councils to pass money by-laws transferring to the committee the 40-cent-per-capita Centennial grants when they are made early next year.

It will ask councils for authority to make recommendations on how the 60-cent-per-capita Centennial grant should be employed.

TWO GRANTS

The B.C. government has promised the two grants, the first for municipal pocket money for 1958 celebration; the second for a memorial project of lasting value and significance. Councils must match the second grant dollar for dollar in order to obtain it.

The 40-cent grant, according to City Manager C. C. Wyatt, is to be made to all municipalities, "whether or not a celebration is planned."

The Centennial Committee for this area, chaired by city alderman Geoffrey Edgewood, is awaiting the 40-cent grant before hiring an executive secretary.

It was estimated the administration costs would amount to $16,000 for the two-year period—about one-third of the estimated size of the celebrations grant.

Ald. Edgewood and Saanich councillor Ronald Grant were authorized to meet with the provincial Centennial Committee to determine what co-operation there could be on celebrations here by the government. It is hoped extra aid will be given the local committee.

Ald. Edgewood suggested the conversion of Memorial Arena to a combined arena-auditorium and the addition of a children's rink would be a worthy Centennial project for this area.

He was opposed by Coun. G. K. Sammon of Esquimalt, who

'ALFALFA BILL' MURRAY DIES —STORMY POLITICAL FIGURE

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, former governor of Oklahoma, died quietly Monday, ending 86 years of a stormy and colorful life.

Murray, ninth governor of the state, died in a coma.

Gruff and frank, mustachioed Alfalfa Bill was a prominent figure in both state and national politics during his four-year term as governor.

felt the 60-cent grant should be diverted by all municipalities to construction of the long-awaited 118-bed wing.

It would cost $1,400,000, but federal and provincial grants and hospital board contributions would account for all but $325,000 of the cost.

If the Centennial grant were used for this purpose it would reduce the cost to municipalities by only $70,000.

"Which is the greater need?" asked Coun. Sammon. "... an auditorium or a hospital. There is no question in my mind; it is the hospital."

PAKISTAN LOOMS AS TEST WINNER

KARACHI (AP)—Pakistan, the babes of international cricket, need only six runs with nine wickets standing to beat the Australians in the first test match ever held between the two countries.

Australia were all out for 187 in their second innings despite some bold hitting by Richie Beaud (56) and Alan Davidson (37).

Australia: First Innings 80, second Innings 187.

Pakistan: First Innings 199, second Innings 63 for 1.

Hot-Foot 'Trotters Play Hawaiians Here

Basketball's gaudiest and most-entertaining show will return to Victoria Oct. 30 when the famed Harlem Globetrotters appear at the Central Junior High School in a tussle against the Honolulu Surf Riders.

Now in their 30th year of campaigning since Abe Saperstein sent his first touring squad of Trotters out from Chicago in a battered automobile, the colored court comedians have become one of the greatest gate attractions in the sports world.

In recent years, The Trotters, with two units in the field, have truly become globe trotters, playing in far corners of the world and seldom failing to delight audiences with their combination of court wizardry and comedy.

Accompanying the traveling hoop clubs in Victoria will again be a troupe of variety artists, who will perform previous to the game and at the half-time intermission.

Pre-game entertainment will be supplied by accordionist Tony Lavelli, former all-American basketball player at Yale University; the hand-balancing Farias trio and unicyclist-juggler Jacques Cordon.

Due to appear between halves are the Great Ellimar, a slack-wire juggler; the Brooks duo, a Hawaiian singing and dancing team; Julio Farias and Steve Munoz in a foot-balancing act; finger-balancer Rolando Johannson, and Lilly Yokoi, who is billed as the world's greatest trick bicyclist.

AIR-WAVE PIRACY

Browns' Signals Crossed by Giants

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Electronic football, the new gimmick of wiring the quarterback for sound, backfired Sunday on the pro champion Cleveland Browns—New York Giants swiped their signals.

Giants chortled Monday, saying they tuned in on Browns' instructions from the bench and pulled off an upset 21-9 victory.

"We were able to get the Browns' signals better than they could," Ray Walsh, Giants' general manager, told the weekly meeting of New York football writers. "Finally after three unsuccessful series of plays, they gave it up."

There's no law in the rule book of the National Football League to prevent it.

But Giants concocted their own measures, as described gleefully by Walsh.

"First of all, we were seriously warned by Brown before the game that it's a $10,000 fine to anyone found jamming the wave-lengths," Walsh said.

"You see, Cleveland has its own licensed radio station to carry out the experiment."

"We had bob Hopp on the sidelines. He is an end on whom we have asked waivers. And next to him we had Gene Filipowski. They had a big receiving set on the bench tuned to the Browns' wave-length."

Red China Boss Reported Split With Nikita

PARIS (AP)—A correspondent for France-Soir quotes a "good source" today as saying Chinese Communist boss Mao Tse-tung has split with Nikita Khrushchev on the desirability of Soviet leadership of world communism.

Coming out against Moscow control of satellite nations, Mao "gave formal encouragement to Polish Communists to obtain greater independence vis-a-vis the Kremlin," the newspaper says in a dispatch from Warsaw.

"This sensational move by Mao Tse-tung," it says, "took place in the course of a long conversation which he had at Peiping with Edward Ochab, first secretary of the Polish Workers' Communist Party, who had come to China to attend the last congress of the Chinese Communist Party."

This talk with Ochab provoked such surprise at Peiping, the story says, that A. I. Mikoyan, Soviet "fraternal delegate" to the congress, hurried home with the news.

The Mao-Ochab dialogue took place at the same time Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia was conferring in the Crimea with Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders on the course of international communism.

"It is said that Mao told Ochab he disapproved the recent effort of Moscow to impose again its sole and dominant influence on the other Communist parties," the story continues. "Mao is thought to have declared to Ochab that the Poles should follow absolutely the search for an autonomous internal policy and develop their own social system as Yugoslavia had done."

They were taken aboard the Ponchartraine from life rafts within 21 minutes after the Boeing-747 airliner hit the water.

The cutter is stationed permanently in the area. The plane ditched alongside. The cutter's crew had four boats over the side by the time the plane hit.

The aircraft remained afloat long enough for the plane crew of seven to launch two life rafts and to transfer the 24 passengers (15 men, six women and three children) to the lifeboats.

PILOT PRAISED

Col. Clarence M. Young, vice-president of Pan American World Airways, praised Ogg for staying over the Coast Guard weather ship when his engines failed.

"The captain had the decision to make as to whether to continue toward San Francisco on two engines, with the possibility of having to land in the water before arrival," Young said in a statement.

"His decision to remain in the vicinity of the Coast Guard ship was obviously a wise one."

LONDON (AP)—More than 100 planes, an aircraft carrier and dozens of other ships fanned out over the Atlantic today in a "last chance" search for a U.S. military transport that vanished six days ago. But hope was practically abandoned of finding any survivors among the 59 servicemen aboard.

The U.S. Air Force said the search force will be reduced to a token group by tonight. A communique said:

"Third Air Force authorities and the 9th Air Rescue Group, which has been in immediate control of the search, believe that a large-scale general search is no longer practicable."

NEW YORK TIMES PLUMPS FOR IKE AS PRESIDENT

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times today announced its support of President Eisenhower for re-election. The Times, which supported him originally in 1952, lists itself politically as independent.

In a three-column editorial The Times finds much in common between Eisenhower and Democratic candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, and has criticism for both.

"In the area of many fundamental matters... the approach of both these men is to conciliate rather than coerce, to clarify rather than confuse, to unify rather than disrupt," The Times says.

On the subject of Vice-President Nixon, The Times says: "Mr. Nixon's career has certainly not revealed much evidence of deeply-rooted and consistently-held principles. Party strategy, rather than party policy, has been Mr. Nixon's chief concern."

Early Start Set On Coast Roads

Highways to Tofino, Port Renfrew Finished Next Year, Says Gagliardi

Work on the government sections of the Tofino-Alberni and Jordan River-Port Renfrew roads on Vancouver Island will start soon, Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said today.

"We are setting the machinery together for work on these roads," Mr. Gagliardi said, "and it is hoped that both roads will be completed some time next year."

"If the logging companies complete their sections, the road from Tofino may be through to Alberni by next March."

Mr. Gagliardi said the highways department plans to build from Tofino to Kennedy Lake, about eight miles, while MacMillan and Bloedel and B.C. Forest Products will construct the remaining 28 miles to the Alberni.

To the south, the department is to build three miles in the middle of the 12-mile road from Jordan River to Port Renfrew, with Alaska Pine and B.C. Forest Products building the rest.

TOO COSTLY

"The contractors wanted too high prices," said Mr. Gagliardi. "We can do it with departmental forces at about half the cost."

An 11-man survey party will begin work next month on the proposed northern extension of the Island Highway from Kelsey Bay to Port Hardy.

"I think the survey can be completed this winter," Mr. Gagliardi said. "We will proceed with the road work as soon as negotiations with the various logging companies are completed."

Officer Shot By His Own Nightstick

WASHINGTON (AP)—A policeman shot himself in the leg Monday with his night stick.

"A very peculiar accident," said Deputy Chief George R. Wallrod.

Constable James J. Cassidy said he had five .38-calibre pistol bullets in his pocket.

He had a "claw"—a steel device for holding prisoners—in the pocket.

He twirled his night stick. The stick hit the claw. The claw hit a bullet.

PRINCESS SMILES FOR TOWNSEND—NO, NOT PETER!

ARUSHA, Tanganyika (Reuters)—Princess Margaret today flashed a brilliant smile at her first meeting with a British district commissioner named Francis Townsend.

Francis Townsend, brother of her rejected suitor, Group Capt. Peter Townsend, met Margaret at a Baraza tribal meeting of 40,000 fierce Masai warriors.

As Townsend stepped to the dais to shake her hand, Margaret looked him full in the eyes and smiled warmly. And when the Baraza was over, the princess looked back from her car in Townsend's direction.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Burned-Out Malahat Chalet Site May Become Park

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston said today he will give consideration to a suggestion that the site of the burned-out Buller chalet on the Malahat Highway be established as a picnic site.

The suggestion was contained in a letter addressed to the minister by publicity commissioner George I. Warren.

"There is no finer view anywhere in the province than this, with the sweep of the Saanich Arm and Finlayson, and the approaches to Brentwood," Mr. Warren said.

Mr. Warren congratulated the provincial government on its policy of creating picnic parks at scenic spots throughout the province.

"It is just what is needed," he said.

AUTOMATICALLY the world's easiest TV tuning!

"Microtuner" is another great first from Rogers Majestic, who made electronic history with the development of the world's first batteryless radio.

"Vu-matic", automatic picture control, is standard equipment on all Rogers Majestic TV receivers. "Vu-matic" equalizes weak and strong channels and automatically adjusts the brightness and contrast as you switch channels. As well, this exclusive feature holds the picture steady and eliminates streaks, flutters and flip-over due to electrical interference.

Rogers Majestic... your sure sign of value in TV, Radio, High Fidelity Equipment, Record, Players and Changers. See your Rogers Majestic dealer.

"Microtuner" magic eye indicates when the Fine Tuning Control is perfectly adjusted. As shown by the dotted lines in the illustration, when your set is tuned to the exact point of best reception, "Microtuner" narrows to a slim vertical line of light. There's no guesswork—you get perfect tuning for top performance on all channels.
